BOYS TELL AMBUSH SLAYING

100 PLANES IN BATTLE AS JAPS RAID FOE'S BASE

Tokio Says Chinese Lost 30 Ships.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 26.—[Saturday.]—(AP)—Japan claimed today to have struck China's air force a paralyzing blow in a great air battle over the Nanchang airdrome, "nerve center" of China's aviation, in Kiangsi province. Chinese spokesmen, however, disputed the Japanese version of the battle in which about 100 planes were said to have been engaged simultaneously.

Nanchang [indicated by arrow], where Japs bombed air base.

Japanese officers said fifty of their naval planes overwhelmed a fleet of forty "Russian and American" manufactured Chinese combat planes that rose to battle them. The Chinese version placed the number of Japanese raiders at fifty-nine. "More than thirty" Chinese fighting planes were shot down and extensive damage inflicted on the air base by the bombers, the Japanese naval command asserted.

Admits Two Planes Lost.

It acknowledged loss of only two planes in the combat, which took place late yesterday and which was called one of the "most successful air raids since the outbreak of hostilities." The Chinese announced they destroyed eight of the Japanese planes.

Combat planes convoying the bombers in the Nanchang raid, the Japanese said, held off the Chinese defenders "with devastating results" while the attack was carried out. They said a "huge bomb" destroyed the headquarters of the Chinese national aviation commission. Numerous hangars, barracks, and repair shops also were demolished, they said.

Believe Attack Is Reprisal.

Chinese soldiers expressed belief the mass air attack was in reprisal for a Chinese air raid Wednesday on the Japanese island colony of Formosa, the first time China has carried the war to Japanese soil. Eight persons were killed and twenty-nine injured in the Chinese attack. Nanchang, 450 miles from Taihoku, capital of Formosa and one of three cities raided there, has been mentioned as a possible base for the Chinese raiders.

[The Japanese, apparently aiming at other possible bases for Chinese overseas raids, bombed Foochow, Amoy, and Canton, on China's southeastern coast. They also bombed Wuchow, river town in Kwangsi province, about 100 miles from Canton, and the Namyung airdrome, Kwangtung province, where eight Chinese planes were reported destroyed.]

The first mid-air desertion of the Chinese-Japanese war was reported by the Chinese, who said a Japanese flyer leaped from his plane near Fatshan, Kwangtung province, parachuted down and was made prisoner.

GUARD AMERICANS!

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—In an emphatic note to Japan the United States today said American nationals have a right to reside in China and this government intends to hold Japan strictly accountable for injury to its citizens or their property as a result of Japanese military operations.

The United States thus answered Japan's request that Americans leave North China. Japan suggested that American property left behind be marked in such a manner that it might given proper consideration by Japanese forces.

Holds Japan Responsible.

Secretary Hull today disclosed that he had instructed Joseph C. Grew, American ambassador to Tokio, to tell the Japanese foreign office that the warning in no way excused or

Dieterich Quits Senatorial Race

DROPS CONTEST AFTER HE LOSES PARTY SUPPORT

BY PERCY WOOD.

United States Senator William H. Dieterich of Beardstown quit his fight for renomination last night, just 24 hours after the Nash-Kelly Democratic organization threw its support to Michael L. Igoe. Igoe and Congressman Scott W. Lucas of Havana, who is backed by Gov. Horner, now become the principal candidates for the senatorial nomination on April 12.

Senator Dieterich withdrew, he said, in the interests of party harmony, but his failure to win the indorsement of the powerful Chicago machine was thought to have been the prime factor in his decision. His statement, issued at Springfield, was made on the eve of the last day for withdrawing primary petitions.

Whom Will He Support?

Politicians immediately speculated on whether Dieterich would throw his support to Lucas or to Igoe—or to either. The senator gave no satisfaction on this point, refusing to answer the question or to say when—if at any time—he would have further comment on the primary battle.

Dieterich has been politically estranged from Gov. Horner since the 1936 primary, when he opposed Horner, and he has known for almost a year that the governor would fight his renomination. And he was represented last night as being deeply resentful of the Igoe indorsement by the Cook county central committee.

But it was recalled that the senator is to some extent beholden to the Chicago organization, inasmuch as his law firm is paid $9,000 annually by the sanitary district for handling the Illinois river overflow claims at Beardstown.

Makes No Mention of Feud.

The Dieterich statement made no mention of his feud with the governor, whom he has accused of attempting to establish a political holding company in Illinois, nor of his failure to win Nash-Kelly backing.

"Some time ago," the statement read, "I published the statement that I considered it my duty to submit myself as a candidate for the office of United States senator, and in pursuance to that statement my friends circulated and filed nominating petitions.

"Since that time factional strife has developed to such an extent that I deem it my duty, in the interest of party harmony, to withdraw my name as a candidate.

Feels Duty to Aid Party.

"If I had determined to remain in the field it would have created another faction which to say the least would not be helpful to the Democratic party of this state. I therefore feel that it is my duty to eliminate myself and lessen the complications with which my party is confronted.

"I have not finished with politics. I expect to continue active in the political affairs of my state and nation. I am intensely interested in this campaign and sincerely hope that the candidates selected for congressional offices will be those who will prove loyal in their support of the policies of the present Democratic administration. The success of these policies in this critical period in the history of the republic is far more important than the personal aspirations of any individual or the question of the domination of any faction."

Talk of Federal Judgeship.

Gov. Horner, at the Congress hotel for political conferences over the week-end, had no comment to make on the Dieterich withdrawal, nor was any forthcoming from United States Attorney Igoe.

Washington dispatches commenting upon the senator's action recalled that there has been talk of a federal judicial appointment for Mr. Dieterich and that a bill is pending to add another appellate judgeship in the Illinois circuit. The senator would be constitutionally eligible for this vacancy after the expiration of his term. He has been known as a faithful follower of the Roosevelt administration and supported the Supreme court packing bill.

Militant Mama in Stork Derby Fights Bailifs

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 25.—(AP)—Mrs. Lillian Kenny, firebrand of the Toronto "stork Derby," was ejected from the Ontario Supreme court today, but not before she had landed a right and a couple of lefts on the court attendants doing the ejecting.

Mrs. Kenny, who is fighting for a chance to share the $500,000 baby marathon prize with four, possibly five, other Toronto mothers, made a personal court appearance in midafternoon. The court was hearing evidence as to whether stillborn children should be counted in the "Derby." Mrs. Kenny's claim is being contested on the ground that three of her nine children born during the ten year period of the contest were still births.

She created such a disturbance by addressing remarks to spectators around her that court officials asked her to leave quietly. She did leave the room. Then the excitement started.

"They're Dogs," She Says.

"To hell with the judge," she shouted as she reached the corridor.

Attempts to quiet Mrs. Kenny, who is 35 years old and has been in the news more than once for punching her husband and throwing things at other persons, were without avail. Shrieking and with fists flying, she was ejected from the front door of staid old Osgoode hall, Ontario's principal law courts building.

"They're dogs, that's what they are," she yelled.

She had stalked indignantly from the courtroom earlier in the session during a discussion of her stillborn children. She arose from her seat in the back room that time and went out muttering: "They're my babies. They're treating them like dogs."

Physician Tells of Births.

Dr. F. J. O'Learn, who officiated at the birth of five Kenny children born within the 10 year period of the "Derby," told Justice W. E. Middleton three of the children had been "stillborn," as the ordinary physician used the term, although in two cases there had been heart pulsations. He agreed finally with W. N. Tilley, counsel for the estate of the late Charles Vance Millar, whose bequest started the baby contest, that one had been dead before birth, despite a flutter of the heart.

Both Mrs. Kenny and Mrs. Pauline Mae Clarke seek to be included in the group of mothers sharing the fortune Millar bequeathed to the Toronto mothers registering the largest number of births within ten years after his death. He died Oct. 31, 1926.

With nine eligible children each, Mrs. Kathleen Nagle, Mrs. Annie Smith, Mrs. Isabel MacLean, and Mrs. Luck Timleck have been approved by Justice Middleton as winners. Their claims were unchallenged.

Mrs. Clarke has been asked to prove the legitimacy of five of her children, as illegitimate children have been ruled out by the courts.

I. E. Weldon, counsel for Mrs. Kenny, contended that stillborn children were children within the meaning of the vital statistics act.

IT'S SUCH A RELIEF! COUPLE GET RELIEF SO THEY CAN BE WED

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Katherine Ewald, 19 years old, and Francis Nettesheim wanted to get married, but they hesitated because Nettesheim, an unemployed truck driver, wasn't eligible for relief since he hadn't lived in Milwaukee long enough. Katherine was safely on the relief rolls, but the couple felt her dole was scarcely enough for both.

Their outlook was dark until today when relief authorities came to their rescue. Milwaukee county agreed to support them both for the present and Waukesha county, in which Nettesheim formerly lived, will reimburse this county until the bridegroom establishes his residence here.

There was just one thing more. The law requires that they wait five days after getting their marriage license before the ceremony may be performed. They didn't want to wait, so Civil Judge Edmund Gausewitz granted a special dispensation, permitting them to be married tomorrow.

Broker Found Shot to Death in Loop Office

Horace C. Towner, until recently vice president in charge of advertising and publicity of Lawrence Stern & Co., investment house, was found shot to death last night in a rear storeroom of the company's eighth floor offices at 231 South La Salle street. A bullet had entered his right temple. A revolver and a farewell note were found near by.

Towner was 47 years old and lived at 240 Lee street, Evanston, with his wife, the former Mollie Kelly of New York City, and their son, Horace Kelly Towner, 12 years old. He was the son of Horace M. Towner of Corning, Ia., former judge, former congressman, and former governor of Porto Rico, who died last Nov. 23.

His Farewell Note.

In his farewell note, Towner assured his wife, son and mother, who also survives, that he was leaving them sufficient insurance. Friends said last night that he formerly carried $100,000 insurance, but had reduced this by half.

"The insurance," the note said, "will keep you [his wife] and Kelly in comfort and decency, and it is now obvious that I cannot give that to you in any other way. There is $10,000 for mother, and that entirely releases you from any further obligation to her."

Towner's body was found by Frank Hinger, 24 years old, 2313 South Hoyne avenue, a former messenger for the Stern company, when he and several employés entered the room for some chairs. Hinger notified the police.

Towner left Stern & Co. about Feb. 1, resigning to accept a public relations post at the Board of Trade. Friends said he expected to start his new job on March 1, although police said they understood he started two weeks ago. He had been with Stern & Co. since 1925 and was well known along La Salle street.

Towner was born in Corning, and educated at the State University of Iowa and George Washington university. In 1916 he entered the advertising department of S. W. Straus & Co., but left it during the war to go overseas. He served with the adjutant general's department. He rejoined the Straus company after the war, later going to Stern & Co.

Gen. Pershing Sinks; Put in Oxygen Tent

BULLETIN.

Tucson, Ariz., Feb. 26 (Saturday).—(AP)—Gen. John J. Pershing lost additional ground early today, his physicians announced. He rallied briefly about midnight, but soon suffered a relapse. His "pulse is somewhat irregular, but not increased in rate," the bulletin stated. Dr. Roland Davison said the general's failure to respond to oxygen and other treatement "is not encouraging."

Tucson, Ariz., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Gen. John J. Pershing was reported near death tonight after a new relapse. Attendants were unable to arouse him from a deep coma into which he had fallen.

At 11:30 p. m. Chicago time Dr. Roland Davison announced that the general was going rapidly and that there seemed to be little the physicians could do to check the relapse. He called a Tucson laboratory for equipment to take a chemical test of the patient's blood.

Sinks After Rally.

Encouragement had been expressed earlier in the day when the wartime commander showed some improvement after rallying from a sinking spell last night.

A bulletin at 6 p. m. disclosed that the veteran warrior again was on the downgrade, but was fighting valiantly against age and an ailing heart. He is 77 years old and has been ill since suffering a heart attack Feb. 5.

A few hours later it was reported he was sinking more rapidly and had been placed in an oxygen tent.

A second oxygen tent of improved type was taken to the sickroom at 9:15 p. m. and relatives took up their vigil as they did last night. The general's only son, Warren, and a nephew, Frank Pershing, were at the bedside. Miss May Pershing, an only sister, who has been the general's hostess in the years since his wife perished in a fire in 1915, paced the corridor nervously.

Given Heart Stimulants.

The commander, who saw forty-two years of active army service, was conscious for periods during the day. Heart stimulants were administered at regular intervals and the only food he took has given intravenously.

During the afternoon Dr. Davison announced that the general's mind was somewhat perturbed. Dr. Dake Biddle, a Tucson eye specialist, was called into consultation because the patient had complained of double vision.

Doctor Expresses Hope.

Earlier in the day, as Pershing rallied after his life had been despaired of last night, an air of optimism pervaded the sick man's quarters. Dr. Verne Mason, who had been called from Los Angeles, expressed encouragement over the patient's condition and returned home.

"He may win out," Dr. Mason said. "He has a rugged body and is fighting to live. As to his complete recovery—well, that's problematical."

Sergt. C. C. Shaeffer, the general's orderly for 17 years, had given up all hope last night, but today he was smiling and confident of his chief's recovery. Before that Schaeffer had requested that the general's uniform be sent from Washington by plane.

SON OF VICTIM'S PARTNER NAMED IN DEATH STORY

Recount Fatal Tussle at Doorstep.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

Two youths in their teens who were present at the ambush that resulted in the death Thursday night of Edward C. Richard, 59 years old, were surrendered last night to Francis Donohue and Ollie C. Karwoski, investigators for the coroner's office.

They named as their companion Charles J. Schmidt Jr., who, with his father, a business partner of the slain man, has been missing since early yesterday. In addition they told, as they had heard it from young Schmidt, the reason for the night visit that ended in the elderly Richard's death.

The two youths are Robert Trams, 16 years old, of 1752 Melrose street, a junior at Amundsen High school, and Jack [Buzz] Kroske, 17 years old. They were surrendered by Robert's father, Harry Trams.

Tell of Visit to Lawyers.

With the Schmidts they spent several hours yesterday afternoon in the offices of two attorneys while police and detectives were searching the city for the slayers, they declared. They named Bruneau Heirich as one of the lawyers.

Richard, vice president of Schmidt Bros., Inc., at 638 Federal street, a printing concern of which the elder Schmidt is president, was struck down shortly after 9 p. m. in front of his Edgewater home at 1358 Thorndale avenue. Witnesses told of seeing three youths loitering in the neighborhood between 8 and 9 p. m. and of seeing them flee after the slaying.

Witnesses Tell of Ill Feeling.

As the investigation broadened other witnesses told police that for several years there had been ill feeling between Richard and the elder Schmidt over the affairs of their business. During the last four weeks they had avoided speaking to each other. When detectives sought to question Schmidt he had disappeared from his home, as had Charles Jr., who is 19 years old.

Several members of the Schmidt family were questioned during the day and one son, Edward, 16 years old, was held over night. But no light was shed upon the mystery until Trams appeared with his son and Jack Kroske.

Tells Straightforward Story.

Though unnerved by the events of Thursday night and many hours of suspense, young Trams nevertheless told his story in a straightforward manner.

"Buzz and I," he said, "went to see Sonny [Charles Schmidt Jr.] Thursday night at his home at 1654 Melrose street and met him coming out. He said that he was just starting up north to see his father's business partner, and said we would all go. We walked over and caught the elevated, getting off at the Thorndale station.

"Sonny didn't know just where his father's partner lived, so we walked over to the Broadway Armory garage. Sonny asked an attendant if Mr. Richard's car was in yet, and the man said no. He then asked how to get to Mr. Richard's house. The man called to some one in the garage office and then told us his address.

Kill Time with Snowballs.

"We went up and found the house, but as Sonny said Richard wasn't there yet, we loafed along the street. Buzz and I threw snowballs at each other for a while. We had some peanuts and ate those, then we began to get cold.

"Sonny said we would stand in the entry way of Richard's building and keep warm while we waited. It was getting close to 9 o'clock by this time. After a time Sonny said, 'I think this is him.' Then he stepped outside.

"It was dark outside and we couldn't see Mr. Richard. We could see Sonny's back and we heard him say, 'Mr. Richard?' There was something else said. I don't know whether Mr. Richard made a move at Sonny or not, but I saw Sonny throw his hand up quickly, then start to run. Buzz and I ran, too.

Sees Man on Sidewalk.

"As I jumped out of the vestibule I saw a man lying at the foot of the steps, partly on the sidewalk and partly off. I didn't stop. At the end of the walk leading to the apartment building we almost ran into a woman. She was screaming.

"We all ran east in Thorndale avenue. About a third of a block along we almost ran into another woman. She didn't say anything, just drew back and kind of gasped. We went on and caught the elevated and went back to Melrose street.

"I went home and got into bed. This morning I got up and attended school. I didn't see any newspapers and hadn't heard anything. When I left school at 2 o'clock I met Buzz standing out in front. He said, 'That man is dead.' He then told me that there was a lawyer waiting and that I had better come along."

Insists Purpose Unknown.

Young Trams declared that until the flight from the apartment building began they had had no intimation that the expedition had any sinister purpose. They insisted that they doubted Schmidt had any idea that there might be trouble.

They asked him nothing about the business, assuming he had been sent by his father on a routine errand. They declared that they had made no effort to conceal themselves when they reached the vicinity of Richard's home. Jack Kroske then took up the narrative.

Tell Story to Attorneys.

"When we all separated on Melrose street I went home and to bed about 11 o'clock. When I woke up this morning there was a man at the house who said he was Attorney Heirich and was a friend of Sonny. He said for me to come with him. He said the man we had gone to see the night before was dead—that things were bad.

"I went with him to his office and found Sonny and Mr. Schmidt. Mr. Heirich and another lawyer questioned us about everything that had happened. In the afternoon we went to the school and got Bob, then went back to the lawyer's office.

"They made us all tell our stories just as it happened. When Sonny told his he said that his mother called him about supper time and said that she had heard from his father. That there had been a meeting of stockholders and that Richard was about to cause trouble. [At the meeting were Richard, the elder Schmidt, Mrs. Edna Johnson of 7004 North California avenue, secretary of the concern, and a number of creditors.]

Plans Appeal to Richard.

"Mr. Schmidt called Mrs. Schmidt to tell her about it because she is a stockholder, too. Sonny said he decided to go and talk to Mr. Richard and ask him not to interfere in the business; to give Mr. Schmidt a chance to straighten things out. Sonny met us and took us along as company.

"He said that when we were all in the entry way and he saw Mr. Richard coming he stepped out and called his name. He said he had started to say what he planned to say when Mr. Richard drew back his hand as though he was going to hit him.

"Sonny said he threw his hand up to protect himself and that he believed that his hand struck Mr. Richard on the nose. Mr. Richard fell down and Sonny said he was surprised and frightened and started to run. He said he hadn't intended to do anything but talk and hadn't any idea that there would be any trouble."

Promises to Surrender Schmidts.

It was at this point of the session in the lawyer's office that Mr. Trams was notified of what had happened. He determined to surrender his son at once. Young Kroske said he wanted to go along. The Schmidts stayed with Attorney Heirich, who notified Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan last night that his clients would be surrendered this afternoon.

Almost immediately after Richard's body was found with the nose broken and skull crushed police learned of the business conference and began interviewing those of the company officials who could be reached.

It was Mrs. Johnson who told police about the ill feeling between Richard and Schmidt. She also declared that Schmidt was a man of violent temper and had struck her several weeks ago over a matter of business that had gone awry.

Wife Tells Story.

Mrs. Chrysanthia Schmidt, his wife, said she was awakened at about 2:30 a. m. by her husband, who told her he had just received a telephone call informing him that Richard had been slain. He remained up more than two hours and then said he was going for a walk. The phone call is understood to have come from the detective bureau.

During the day Supervising Capt. Joseph Goldberg ordered that Edward Schmidt, younger brother of Charles, be questioned. Edward was taken from his classes at St. Alphonsus' school, 1429 Wellington avenue, and was held in technical custody at the Summerdale police station. Later, when he became surly and taciturn, he was sent to the Juvenile home for the night.

Victim Dies in Hospital.

Richard was taken by police to the Edgewater hospital, where he died before his wife, Mrs. Anna Richard, 58 years old, could reach his side. At the inquest yesterday at 5501 North Clark street witnesses reconstructed the slaying.

The most important of these is Mrs. Frieda Bray, 1428 Thorndale avenue, who saw the scuffle at a distance of only a few feet. Her story differs radically from that told by the three youths.

"I had gotten off the elevated train at the Thorndale station," she testified, "and was walking toward my home. Mr. Richard was walking ahead of me. As he neared his home three young men approached. They were wearing zipper jackets and were bareheaded.

Tells of Blows with Club.

"As he neared his building one of the youths turned in ahead of him and appeared to enter the hallway. The other two men held back, then turned in close behind him. Suddenly one of those behind Mr. Richard began striking him with a dark object. It might have been a length of pipe. [Trams and Kroske denied that any of them carried a weapon.] As he fell all three beat him. I screamed and ran across the street and told a man I met to call the police. The boys ran east in Thorndale avenue."

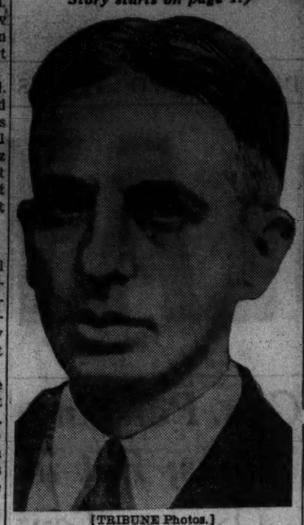

Walking some distance behind Mrs. Bray was Miss Kay Walsh, 22 years old, of 1349 Rosemont avenue. She saw the three youths run from the scene. They almost collided with her, she said.

Sam Levin, owner of the Broadway Armory garage, said that when Richard put his car away about 9 p. m. he told him that three young men had inquired the way to his home. "I'll go see what it is all about," he replied.

The inquest was continued until March 15. After Donohue and Karwoski had completed questioning of Trams and Kroske early today they were locked up at the Juvenile home.

POLICE SET LIMIT OF SIX PICKETS AT DEL PRADO

Rules under which the Trades and Crafts council may continue picketing at the Del Prado hotel, 5307 Hyde Park boulevard, were outlined yesterday by Supervising Police Captain Joseph Goldberg. Only two pickets can be placed at each of the hotel's three entrances, and other pickets are prohibited from riding about in automobiles.

"The picketing must be peaceful," Goldberg said. "There will be no intimidation of workers in the hotel nor of guests. Policemen will be on guard at all times to see that pickets obey the laws."

A strike was called several weeks ago against the laundry of the Del Prado. On Feb. 10 Lloyd Rourke, a cartage contractor, was slugged to death while he was delivering laundry done by the Del Prado for the Fairfax hotel at 1369 Hyde Park boulevard. Although police believe labor terrorists killed Rourke, they have been unable to find the slayers. During the investigation picketing was halted. It was resumed Thursday.

HUNT WITNESSES TO SLAYING OF EXILED DENTIST

Detectives searched the neighborhood in the vicinity of Jackson boulevard and Paulina street yesterday for additional witnesses to the slaying of Dr. Max Bernhard Sammet, exiled German dentist who was found shot to death last Sunday in front of an abandoned building at 229 South Paulina street.

The police believed their most important clew was a woman's fur scarf found near the scene. Investigators held to the theory that Dr. Sammet was killed by robbers while resisting a holdup. Several persons have reported being robbed by two men and a woman in recent weeks, and one witness to a shooting near the murder scene has come forward.

The body of Dr. Sammet was cremated yesterday in Graceland cemetery. The dentist's widow, Mrs. Inga Sammet, said his ashes will be sent to Germany.

EX-CONVICT AND 4 PALS CONFESS 18 BURGLARIES

Eighteen recent burglaries on the south side were reported solved by Chicago Lawn police last night with the confessions of five young men, one an ex-convict, who were seized during the day.

The prisoners are Joseph Grabowski, 24 years old, 4806 South May street, who served a term in Pontiac reformatory for burglary; his brother, Chester, 19; Bruno Kroll, 23, of 3822 South Kedzie avenue; Harvey Zehnber, 24, of 5439 South Racine avenue, and Herbert Stanley, 33, of 5422 South May street, an amateur pugilist.

Joseph Grabowski and Kroll were captured at 2 a.m. in the basement of Sloan's department store, 7042 South Western avenue, by a squad of police led by Sergt. Peter Polcaster. They had piled up merchandise to take away. On their stories, police seized the three others

SLUGGED AND ROBBED.

Everett Burcham, 22 years old, 801 East 65th street, was slugged and robbed of $10 last night by a bandit at the gasoline filling station at 7214 Cottage Grove avenue, where Burcham works as an attendant.

442 TO APPEAR AT HEARINGS FOR PAROLE MONDAY

Gentile, Other Notorious Criminals on List.

James Gentile, 45 years old, notorious bandit whose criminal record dates back to 1913 and who is now in the Southern Illinois penitentiary at Menard serving a sentence of ten years to life for robbery, is one of 442 convicts whose applications for parole will be heard by subcommittees of the parole board Monday.

The subcommittees will visit the Stateville penitentiary and the Pontiac reformatory besides the Benard institution. A total of 185 applications, nearly all from convicts sentenced from Cook county, will be heard at Stateville, 173 at Pontiac, and 84 at Menard.

Raided Harvester Plant.

Gentile was one of eight bandits who invaded the tractor plant of the International Harvester company at 2600 West 31st street March 5, 1926, and took a pay roll of $30,421. Indicted with him for the raid were William [Three Fingered Jack] White, James [Fur] Sammons, and Thomas Shupe.

White and Sammons were found not guilty by a jury. White was slain in an apartment in Oak Park three years ago and Sammons is now serving a life sentence as an habitual criminal in the Indiana state penitentiary at Michigan City.

Gentile was found guilty along with Shupe and began serving his sentence March 15, 1927. When he was committed to prison the Chicago Crime commission sent a letter to the parole board saying no leniency should be shown the convict.

Other Terms Served.

Gentile served a year in the Mansfield, O., reformatory for robbery in 1922 and eight months in the house of correction here in 1923 for larceny. A total of twenty other arrests were listed by the crime commission.

The parole board will also hear the case of Joseph Rosen, who was arrested with his wife, Jean, by the Woodlawn police in July, 1935. Stolen property worth $15,000 was found in his room and police identified him with ninety burglaries of homes in the Hyde Park, Woodlawn, and South Shore districts. Currency totaling $3,300 was found on him when arrested.

He and his wife were convicted and both are serving sentences of one year to life. His case will be heard at the Menard prison. His wife, who is in the women's reformatory at Dwight, will not be heard by the parole authorities.

PAROLEE'S NEW STORY CLEARS TWO IN MURDER

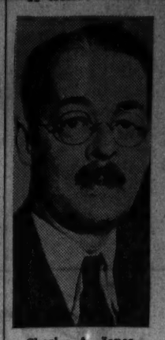

Albert La Vance, colored, paroled convict who confessed Thursday that he and three other men killed John Blievernicht on a farm near Kankakee two years ago, changed his story yesterday.

He had named Eugene Shilcut, a colored ex-convict who later was shot and killed at Nashville, Tenn.; Claude Hill, 1667 Waseca place, and Beauford Slaughter, 1951 West 18th street, as his accomplices. His new version is that only he and Shilcut were involved in the murder, which occurred when Blievernicht interrupted a theft of his chickens.

The police said they are convinced of the innocence of Hill, who is an ex-convict, and Slaughter, and would release them. La Vance is to be sent to Kankakee for trial.

GOV. EARLE TRIUMPHS OVER SENATOR GUFFEY ON PRIMARIES SLATE

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—A ticket headed by Gov. George H. Earle for United States senator and Charles Alvin Jones of Pittsburgh for governor was approved by the Democratic state committee today for submission to the May primaries.

Charles A. Jones.

The party leaders dominated by the governor and state Chairman David L. Lawrence, swept aside demands of John L. Lewis for recognition of Lieut. Gov. Thomas Kennedy to lead the gubernatorial contest. Kennedy is national secretary-treasurer of Lewis' United Mine Workers' union.

As the nominating convention ignored the objections of Senator Joseph Guffey and J. David Stern to the slating of Jones and quickly ratified the slate perfected at a night conference, it became evident to the assembled Democrats that Senator Guffey's leadership had been successfully challenged by Gov. Earle.

LUCAS CARRIES CAMPAIGN INTO 4 MORE TOWNS

Continues His Attacks on Chicago Leaders.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lawrenceville, Ill., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Scott W. Lucas, candidate for United States senator on the Horner-Courtney Democratic primary slate, in the second day of his campaign told audiences that the issues in the 1938 factional controversy of the Democrats are the same as in the split of 1936.

In four courthouse addresses at Effingham, Newton, Robinson, and here tonight he declared that "penthouse bosses" of Chicago are striving to disfranchise downstate voters and give both United States senatorships to Chicago.

Hits Cook County Organization.

In referring to the action of the Cook county Democratic organization in indorsing Michael L. Igoe, United States district attorney, for the senate, Mr. Lucas said at his meetings:

"The Chicago bosses, trying to rule from a penthouse on top of a Chicago hotel, are raising false issues. They don't dare discuss the real ones. The bossism of the Nash-Kelly machine is trying to place two senators in Chicago.

"This is not fair to downstate, which by tradition has always had one senator. All downstate asks is political justice for downstate. Why should Chicago bosses seek to disfranchise downstate by overriding by unwritten law of politics? Why should the Nash-Kelly machine seek to place a yoke on downstate?"

Usually Supports President.

Friends of Lucas have been pointing out en route that in 1932 he was one of the original Roosevelt delegates to the national convention, and was one of the seven or eight Illinois delegates who supported him before the bandwagon rush started.

The Horner group, also is pointing to Lucas' record as a supporter of the Roosevelt policies. He opposed the court packing bill and voted to recommit the wages and hours bill, after telegrams had been sent by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor to members asking them to recommit the bill. Apart from these two instances, Lucas' friends declare, he supported Roosevelt policies and measures.

"I am not rendering lip service to President Roosevelt," said Lucas in his Newton address. "My record shows wholehearted support of his policies. If elected I shall continue to labor in the senate as I have in the house to sustain the ideals of President Roosevelt."

Called Friend of Farmers.

At Newton, Congressman Laurence F. Arnold, introducing the candidate praised him for his fight in behalf of agriculture.

"Farmers of Illinois, particularly growers of corn," said Arnold, "owe Lucas a great debt for his tireless efforts in leading a battle for the embodiment of compulsory corn loans in the agricultural bill, now a law."

Frank A. Jensen of La Salle, candidate for superintendent of public instruction left the caravan at Decatur to make addresses before pedagogical groups in the east. Thomas L. O'Hern of Peoria, candidate for congressman at large, echoed Lucas' attack on the Nash-Kelly group.

Knows Answer Downstate.

"For more than 80 years," he said at Robinson, "No political machine ever dared break the unwritten law that downstate Illinois must have representation in the senate. Now you have the spectacle of a grasping political machine trying to do what no other group had the temerity to try. I know the answer downstate people will give to this kind of skullduggery. They are going to nominate and elect this slate."

At Teutopolis Mr. Lucas and Mr. O'Hearn visited by invitation the Franciscan monastery where the student body was addressed by Lucas on the bill of rights.

MEI-MEI BOUGHT BY ZOO; CONTRACT FOR MALE PANDA

Sale Funds to Finance New Search in China.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Mei-Mei, the second giant panda brought back alive from the Chinese-Tibetan border, is to remain at Brookfield as the property of the Chicago Zoological society, despite the fact that the zoo wanted a male. This was disclosed yesterday by Mrs. Ruth Harkness, captor of both Mei-Mei and Su-lin, the original giant panda at the zoo, before she departed for New York.

In return for Mei-Mei the Zoological society will finance Mrs. Harkness' next expedition to the extent of $7,500 and has obtained from her an option on any panda she brings back. She will sail for China in midsummer on another panda hunt.

Zoo Wants a Male.

"Of course we want a male, but we want a chance at any pandas she gets," said Herbert Bradley, chairman of the society's animal committee.

He said the zoo had paid Mrs. Harkness some of the funds she will use to finance the next trip, and that the rest would be forthcoming in six months. Su-lin, now a husky 126 pound animal, was insured for her first six months in the zoo. Mr. Bradley said it was for "less than $10,000." Her insurance was not renewed.

"This time I will stay in the interior until I get a male giant panda —or until my money runs out," said Mrs. Harkness in her suite in the Stevens hotel.

"Because my expeditions are so simple and because I take with me only native Chinese, who eat native cornmeal, rice, and game, I can live for a long time on this $7,500," she said.

Never Warm on Trip.

The chief hardship is never being warm on such an expedition, which must begin in the fall after harvest and fit in with the season of panda births. Each of her prizes was in the nest when caught, after dogs chased away the mother.

Mrs. Harkness yesterday had six or eight fresh scratches on her cheeks. Mei-Mei inflicted them in the morning when she went to say good-by, she said.

Mei-Mei has gained six ounces in the week she has been at the zoo, Edward Bean, zoo director, said. She now weighs 22 pounds 4 ounces. She is kept for the time being in the first aid station.

These giant pandas, animals which are a relic of the ice age, are intensely human, Mr. Bradley said. "We realize fully that Mei-Mei is far brighter and more lively than Su-lin was at her age," he said. "We're very proud of her."

Predicts Warm Week-End Weather in Chicago Area

A warm week-end is in prospect for the Chicago area, according to the weather bureau. Forecaster C. A. Donnel said the temperature probably would rise to 40 today and might top 50 tomorrow. Chicago's low reading yesterday was 24. The high was 30. The warmth is creeping down from the Mackenzie basin in Canada. Yesterday Fort Simpson, near the arctic circle, which usually has temperatures below zero at this season, registered 48 degrees above.

OMAHA COUNCIL REPEALS CITY'S TAX ON BOOKIES

Omaha, Neb., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—The city council today repealed its tax on bookies, as requested by the state's attorney general, with the proviso that the tax would be reenacted should the state's drive to close the bookies by injunction proceedings fail.

Several bookies were open for business today, despite shutting down of the central wire loudspeaker system by injunction notice yesterday afternoon. They were operating on information in racing forms, received each morning from Chicago. None of the bookies open had received legal service of the injunction.

The bookies contend that legalization by the state of track betting also legalized bookies, on the theory they wire bets to a track.

SPANISH YOUTHS BEG PERMISSION TO STAY IN U. S.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 25.—(AP)—Two bewildered Spanish youths, both 16 years old, who stowed away on an American blockade runner, clutched tiny gold crosses in their hands at the city jail today and cried: "Don't send us back. We'll be put in prison or shot."

The two, Joachim Laball Pitark, a Barcelona tailor's son, and Raimundo Belijera, son of a Valencia carpenter, arrived aboard the Wisconsin and immediately were jailed by the immigration authorities with the warning: "Back to Spain you'll have to go unless some other country will take you in and unless some ship is found that will take you there."

Jailed 5 Days for Duping Retired Cavalry Officer

Clarence C. Smitley, who posed as an old friend to get $10 from Col. George T. Langhorne, retired, former chief of staf of the 65th cavalry division, was sentenced yesterday to five days in the county jail on a confidence game charge. Police told Muncipal Judge Eugene J. Holland that Smitley telephoned Col. Langhorne at his home at 1120 Lake Shore drive and got the money after saying he had been robbed.

CHINESE SHOT IN ROBBERY.

COURT BARS NAZI BUND ACTIVITIES IN LAKE CO., IND.

Meetings, Membership Work Banned by Writ.

A temporary injunction restraining the American Deutscher Volksbund [familiarly known as the Nazi Storm Troopers] from soliciting members or holding any meetings in Lake county, Ind., was issued yesterday by Judge Bertram C. Jenkines of the Lake County Superior court.

Named as defendants in the application for the injunction, filed by Attorney Richard S. Kapian of Gary, were Fritz Kuhn and Wilhelm Kunze and two Lake county bund members given as John Doe and Richard Doe. Kuhn was referred to as national president of the bund and Kunze as an organizer.

Says Good Will Perilled.

Kaplan said he filed his bill as a citizen and a member of the Jewish faith. The bund, he stated, "endangers the happiness, good will and reputation" of many Americans, and added that if a proposed meeting in Hammond were held Monday night there would be danger of rioting and bloodshed.

Judge Jenkines set March 8 as the date for argument on a motion to make the injunction permanent.

Considerable opposition to the German-American bund already had developed in Gary and Hammond. Several German-American organizations had passed resolutions condemning its activities and the Hammond park board, after learning the aims and nature of the bund, had withdrawn its permission for Kuhn and Kunze to use the Hammond municipal auditorium.

Meeting Ends in Disorder.

The Chicago Storm Troopers' meeting Wednesday in the Germania club, attended by about 1,000 persons, broke up in disorder after Kunze had made a speech assailing Jews and praising Nazism.

Two youths who refused to salute the Nazi flag engaged in a scuffle with William Wernicke, a Nazi sympathizer. Wernicke and one of the boys, John Fisher, 2936 North Major avenue, were arrested, as was Emil Horitz, a Glenview member of the bund, who smashed a newspaper man's camera. All the cases are to be heard in the Boys' court on March 11.

MR. STARR ACTS OUT A SHOCKING STORY TO CONVINCE JUDGE

Harry Starr put on a demonstration in the Shakespeare court yesterday to convince Judge Samuel Heller of the electrical properties of an old-fashioned swivel chair. The chair was brought to court from the office of Leo Rosen, manager of an electrical sign company at 3122 Lawrence avenue.

Harry Starr.

Judge Heller wanted to find out if there was any justice to Starr's claim that he was shocked and burned by the chair. Starr, who lives at 3049 Gunnison street, said a chair wired for electricity was no joke. With lawyers, bailifs, and clerks looking on, the court examined the chair, then announced, "I don't see any wiring."

Thereupon Starr sat down. After observing his gyrations, contortions, and grimaces, Judge Heller changed his mind. The court found Rosen guilty of assault and battery and fined him $25.

AUSTRIAN ARMY IS MOBILIZED TO FIGHT NAZI COUP

Guards Are Strengthened on German Border.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Austria, Feb. 25.—Army forces throughout Austria were confined to barracks tonight, apparently in the expectation of Nazi disturbances.

This measure is interpreted to mean that Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg is prepared, if necessary, to use the army to maintain order should the police fail him.

It also was learned that gendarmerie patrols along the German border have been reënforced by small army detachments to prevent bands of the Austrian legion [exiles in Germany] from slipping back across the frontier.

Report Mayor Dismissed.

These are some of the numerous signs that Schuschnigg was not merely whistling to keep up his courage when he made his speech yesterday, but that he really means to fight for Austria's independence.

Another sign was the reported dismissal of the mayor of Graz, in Styria, who allowed a Nazi mob to hoist the swastika over the city hall during Schuschnigg's speech. Efforts to reassert governmental authority over the Nazis in Graz do not seem to have been wholly successful so far.

The Nazis are furious at discovering that, instead of having control of Austria handed over to them, nothing has changed so far as they are concerned since the recent conversation between Reichsfuehrer Hitler and Schuschnigg at Berchtesgaden, Bavaria.

Expect New Ultimatum.

There is every indication that they will provoke a showdown with Schuschnigg before long, apparently expecting that Hitler will back them up with another ultimatum to Austria. Schuschnigg, whether because he trusts in his fellow Austrians or because he has received secret instructions from Premier Mussolini of Italy, seems ready to risk it.

An indication that mistrust of the Italian policy in central Europe was one of the motives behind Hitler's Berchtesgaden ultimatum is contained in an illegal propaganda sheet ostensibly edited by Austrian Nazis.

This document, a mimeographed sheet calling itself the Oesterreichischer Beobachter, an organ of the outlawed Austrian Nazi party, is allegedly being circulated among Nazi partisans here. The Tribune correspondent has no means of verifying the authenticity of the specimen he obtained today, but there seems no reason to doubt it.

Discusses Rome-Berlin Ties.

This document throws important light on the relations between Rome and Berlin. It referred to the "not altogether clear attitude" of Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister, toward Austria.

The paper compared the Berchtesgaden meeting to the battle of Koeniggratz in 1866 [in what is now Czechoslovakia], when the Austrian armies were crushed by Prussia, and said Schuschnigg brought the present disaster upon himself by "his insane plan" of economic agreement with Czechoslovakia and Hungary.

Defiance of Germany and Ciano's equivocal attitude have encouraged Austrian "influence" to a point where Schuschnigg and Prime Minister Dr. Milan Hodza of Czechoslovakia openly discussed their plan for economic restoration of the old Austrian empire, which would have insured Austria's political independence in the future, the paper said. Then, the leaflet continued, events occurred "with the swiftness of a fateful destiny," and Hitler at Berchtesgaden spiked the plan forever.

"Delusions of grandeur of the political pygmies at Ballhausplatz have ended, and the cleaning up of the next few weeks and months will prove it," the document concluded.

HITLER IS ANGRY; PREDICT HE WILL 'SPANK' AUSTRIA

Schuschnigg Talk Called 'Temporary Setback.'

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 25. — Reichsfuehrer Hitler is indignant over the speech made last night by Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg of Austria, in which the latter proclaimed that his country must remain independent and would not tolerate illegal Nazi activities.

Hitler's friends believe he will retaliate with orders to his followers in Austria to hasten the Nazification of the country and to organize a party structure which the fuehrer deems necessary for "the welfare of both German countries."

While Nazi leaders expressed their indignation against Schuschnigg, conservative and religious circles praised his "great courage, beautifully cultured language, and fire."

Called "Temporary Setback."

Official Nazi circles considered Schuschnigg's speech as only a "temporary setback." The Essener National Zeitung, which is the newspaper of Field Marshal Hermann Goering, left no doubt that Germany feels itself victorious in the conflict with Austria.

The National Zeitung also disclosed that Germany plans to use the same methods with Czechoslovakia as it did with Austria. The Austro-German agreement of Feb. 12, when Hitler and Schuschnigg met in Berchtesgaden, Bavaria, must be used as a model for dealings with Czechoslavakia the paper said.

"Vienna and Berlin gave an example of how real pacification can be brought about," the paper said. "Czechoslovakia must repair the injustice it has done the German minority in its country and then only will it be possible to converse about the future."

Nazis Count On Italy.

In their campaign against Czechoslovakia the Germans are counting on their Italian friends. This was shown by the prominence given in the German press to a message from Rome quoting the newspaper Giornale d'Italia, which alleged that President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia has been intriguing against Il Duce, and that Benes stated in the presence of unnamed foreign diplomats that Mussolini should be put to one side.

The Berliner Tageblatt said full importance should be given to this charge, since it was voiced by an official Italian newspaper.

FRENCH CHAMBER DEBATES ON DEAL WITH DICTATORS

Cry 'Spy' and 'Traitor' in Noisy Discussion.

PARIS, Feb. 25.—(AP)—Premier Camille Chautemps sought a clear mandate from the chamber of deputies today to follow Britain's new diplomacy of conciliation to Fascist Italy and Nazi Germany.

Despite fiery epithets and a near fist fight on the chamber floor at the start of a two day debate on his foreign policy, the premier's supporters predicted he would win a vote of confidence. The vote was expected tomorrow night.

Chautemps and Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos kept a close watch on the proceedings in the chamber, where Sir Eric Phipps, British ambassador to France, brought them news of the development of Anglo-Italian negotiations.

Hold Secret Parleys.

Coöperation between Britain and France was shown when the premier and his foreign minister left the government benches and broke precedent by receiving Sir Eric in a private meeting room in Bourbon palace.

The British envoy kept them posted on the latest events in London. Deputies said Prime Minister Chamberlain of Great Britain was anxious for Chautemps to win approval of his foreign policy in order to keep France and Britain together.

As the deputies launched their discussion of France's foreign policy, cries of "Spy!" and "Traitor!" were heard.

"The time has come to admit that the People's front government has led France into financial, economic, and political bankruptcy both at home and abroad," shouted Marcel Baucker, a rightist Independent, over boos and hisses from the left.

Prevent Fist Fight.

Friends held Renaud Jean, communist, and Andre Daurer, rightist, in their seats after Jean had called Dauer a "spy and traitor" and Daurer had shouted back, "Servant of Moscow!"

Ernest Pezet, Popular Democrat, the first deputy who had asked permission to speak, praised the stand of Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg of Austria against union with Germany.

"We must not appear to tremble before the German menace," he declared. "We are ready to assure peace with all sacrifices, but there is one which we cannot make: this is our national honor and territorial security."

Francois De Champeaux, radical independent, warned France not to "overestimate" the value, in case of war, of Russia, France's mutual defense ally.

RECOVER BODY FROM LAKE.

The body of an unidentified man about 50 years old was recovered from the lake in Lincoln park about 1900 north by park police last night.

Airplanes Sink a Battleship? No, Sir! Declares President

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today entered the debate on the question of whether an airplane can sink a battleship, a subject which has been raging throughout military, naval, and congressional circles for two weeks.

[A-P Wirephoto.]
Admiral Cook.

At his press conference the President said the battleship is the backbone of national defense and is supreme in its field. He asserted that battleships have been challenged over a long period of years by various inventions but still remain superior in their field.

Up on Capitol Hill the question occupied the attention of the house naval affairs committee considering the 800 million dollar naval expansion bill. Rear Admiral Arthur B. Cook, the navy's chief air officer, told the committee that while aircraft is a valuable arm of the fleet, battleships and cruisers are its backbone.

Quizzed on Maverick Charge.

The question was raised at the President's press conference when he was asked whether he had studied secret reports of the army and navy which were reported by Representative Maury Maverick [D., Tex.] to show that an airplane easily could sink a battleship. Maverick charged that the reports were being suppressed because the administration is sympathetic to a large navy, lodging the blame by inference on the President, who was assistant secretary of the navy during the world war.

Mr. Roosevelt acknowledged that he had studied the findings of joint army and navy air operations over a period of years. Such tests have been conducted with great secrecy three or four times a year and are guarded as military secrets, just as the navy's target and the army's artillery practices are considered military secrets.

The President said his answer to the tests could be found in his recommendation for expansion of the navy. He would not have urged naval building if planes were able to blow them out of water as rapidly as men of war could be launched.

Roosevelt Gets Secret Report.

In the afternoon a secret report of another nature was put on the President's desk by Assistant Secretary of Navy Charles Edison, son of the great inventor. The report was that of the special advisory board of experts on battleship construction appointed a year ago.

The secretary said that the report was a naval secret and would not be made public, but declared that the experts had made several suggestions which are to be embodied in new capital ships.

At his press conference Mr. Roosevelt parried a direct question as to whether the efficiency of the battleship has decreased since the war. He said it had improved in some respects and dropped in others.

He recalled that the submarine had a distinct edge over surface ships for the first three years of the war. He went back into his boyhood for another illustration of his position. He said at that time many persons believed that the torpedo boat signaled the end of the battleship. Mines were another threat, he said.

New Defenses Cited.

As each new weapon is developed, he said, a means of fighting it is found. While air bombers have developed tremendously, anti-aircraft guns and defensive planes have increased proportionately, he said.

Before the house naval affairs committee the same question was thrust more pointedly at Admiral Cook by Representative Melvin J. Maas [R., Minn.].

"Admiral," said Maas, "can a battleship be sunk by aerial bombs?"

"I agree with Admiral Leahy [Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations] on that question," Cook replied. "If it were hit a sufficient number of times in the right place, it could be sunk."

He went on to declare that he thought the possibility rather remote particularly in time of war.

Targets Towed for Tests.

Army and bombing tests on planes have been conducted by dropping bombs on towed targets resembling box kites. Navy flyers release bombs in dives, while army flyers drop bombs while flying on an even keel at great heights. Both have had some successes in the tests.

However, it has been impossible to simulate war conditions in the tests or to employ actual ships to determine whether a 1,000 pound bomb could cripple a ship.

The navy now arms its battleships with 5 inch anti-aircraft guns as well as .50 caliber anti-aircraft machine guns. The 5 inch guns have an effective range of 50,000 feet. A shell exploding within a fifty yard area of a plane will bring it down. The present bombing planes cannot fly above 25,000 feet and has conducted all bombing operations well below that ceiling.

Replacement Costs Higher.

Admiral Cook said it would take 6,750 airplanes to give the same volume of fire given by fifteen battleships in one hour. He said it would cost approximately 1 billion dollars for 15 battleships and about 2 billion 400 million dollars for 6,750 planes. Replacement costs, he added, would make the total cost of the planes seven times that of the battleships.

He declared that aircraft have by no means assumed the place of battleships, but have added tremendously to the effectiveness of the fleet as a whole.

The admiral defined the mission of naval aviation, insofar as battleships are concerned, as not to attempt to sink enemy vessels but to endeavour to cripple them and reduce their effectiveness in an impending engagement between fleets.

lessened the responsibility of the Japanese military for injury to Americans or their property. He said that no obligation rested on American officials or other nationals to take the precautionary measures suggested by the Japanese.

The secretary pointed out that this government had warned its nationals to leave Northern China and many had done so. All American evacuation in the future will be voluntary, he added.

For those who have elected to remain, he said, Japan is obligated to exert every precaution for their safety and the safety of their property. If they or their property are injured, the United States, in accordance with its repeatedly expressed policy, will hold the offending national liable for such injury, he added.

The American policy, as expressed by Hull, is that this government favors departure of its citizens from the conflict area but stands behind their right to remain if they so desire.

Refers to Previous Note.

The secretary referred to his note of last Aug. 27, in which this government served notice on both Japan and China that the United States would hold them accountable for injuries inflicted on Americans or American property as a result of military operations by either belligerent.

This stand has been reiterated in frequent brushes with Japan over failure of that country to give proper protection and regard for Americans and their property. The secretary said that conditions had improved in this respect in the last few weeks.

GOERING GIVEN POLISH PLEDGE OF FRIENDSHIP

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

WARSAW, Poland, Feb. 25.—Having shot a wolf, a fox, and more than a dozen wild boars in Bialowiecz forest as President Ignaz Moscicki's guest, Field Marshal Herman Goering of Germany returned today to Warsaw, where he stayed only a few hours before continuing to Berlin.

As Reichsfuehrer Hitler's traveling diplomat, Goering will be able to report that the Poles value their friendship with Germany higher than ever. They consider the Rome-Berlin axis greatly strengthened by the resignation of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Great Britain. In such circumstances Poland's best course is to strengthen its friendship with Germany and Italy.

As Germany's economic dictator, Goering is reported to have discussed with the Polish leaders a barter arrangement. Germany wants foodstuffs in exchange for German machinery and tools for military industrialization. The latter cannot be imported from Great Britain or the United States because of Germany's lack of gold and foreign exchange.

CHARGE JAPAN'S WAR DICTATOR BILL IS MENACE

Foes See Strangle on Nation's Resources, Press.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Feb. 25.—Foes of the national mobilization bill in a new attack on the measure in the lower house of the diet today charged the government is trying to strangle national resources and is attempting to curb the freedom of the press.

Home Minister Admiral Nobumasa Suetsugu caused an uproar in the house when, in reply to the question of whether the government intends further to tighten control of the press, he answered that the government is not tightening the control of the press and will continue to pursue the same policy.

Reply Is Unsatisfactory.

Many of the members, highly dissatisfied with this answer, started shouting invectives, because it is a generally known fact that the press is being controled. Hideo Ikeda of the Minseito [majority] party opened the attack against the bill, charging the government is blind-folding the people, and then telling them to follow it. He then asked how can they do so.

Expressing disappointment at the bill's proposals, Ikeda said the people had had high expectations of seeing something wonderful, but have found that it is like dog meat imposed upon them as mutton.

Section Referring to Press.

In addition to the dictatorial provisions of the bill in reference to natural resources, business and industry, the attitude toward the press is summed up thusly:

"In time of war when it is found necessary the government may suspend publication in cases where newspaper sale or distribution has been prohibited twice or more by the government within 30 days."

Imprisonment for two years or a fine of 2,000 yen [$590] is the penalty provided for publishers, editors, or authors convicted of writing or publishing any matter in disobedience to the press law.

The purpose of the bill, according to War Minister General Gen Sugiyama, is to prepare the people for emergencies.

Gen. Iwane Matsui, relieved a few days ago of his duties in the China war, made a triumphant return to Tokio late today. He was cheered by a tremendous crowd at the Tokio station.

'AIR FORTRESSES' IN CANAL ZONE; RETURNING TO U.S.

CRISTOBAL, Canal Zone, Feb. 25.—(AP)—Six "flying fortresses" of the United States army bearing 49 men homeward from a South American good-will flight reached Albrook field today after a nonstop flight of a little more than nine hours from Lima, Peru.

Lieut. Col. Robert Olds, flight commander, said tomorrow probably would be spent in resting and in checking the bombers for a takeoff Sunday for Miami, Fla.

"We are very eager to get home," he said.

The flyers reported they had excellent weather throughout their hop from Lima. They flew over the equator at mid-day at a speed of 170 miles an hour.

Army men gave the flyers a rousing welcome upon their landing here.

SALESMAN KILLS SELF.

Logansport, Ind., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Harry Hildebrand, 63 years old, a retail salesman, shot himself to death here today. Despondency over illness was blamed. The flash of the small gun which he used set fire to his clothing and Mrs. William Rea, his landlady, suffered burns to her hands in extinguishing the blaze.

Miss Prentice had been called the prettiest typist in the service of the government. The decoration was conferred for her services while working with Eden. She resigned her job for personal reasons.

RUSSIAN THREAT OVER SEIZURE OF SHIP STIRS JAPS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Feb. 26.—[Saturday.]—The Russian government threatened retaliation in a protest lodged with Tokio yesterday over detention of the Kuznetstroy, a Russian vessel, in Hakodate harbor. The ship was detained Tuesday on a charge that the Japanese military protection law had been violated.

Japanese officials called a hurried conference today. They were alarmed lest the soviet government take drastic action such as the seizure of Japanese vessels plying between Japanese ports and Vladivostok. Moscow has adopted a strong anti-Japanese attitude recently.

Executives of the North Japan Steamship company were summoned, and told to prepare against possible Russian action. Retaliation probably would create a delicate international situation, it was said. The home office asserted it was prepared to take strong counteraction should Japanese ships be seized.

REBEL BOMBERS ATTACK 2 COAST TOWNS IN SPAIN

BARCELONA, Spain, Feb. 25.—(AP)—Rebel planes renewed attacks on the Mediterranean coast today. Three seaplanes dropped forty bombs on San Feliu de Guixols, north of Barcelona, wrecking several buildings.

Sagunto, coastal center of the government's communications with the Teruel front, was bombed again. Many houses were wrecked. Several persons were wounded, including three British seamen of a British merchant ship.

The anarchist dominated CNT [National Labor confederation] made a strong bid for representation in the Spanish government cabinet. Its national committee issued a manifesto noting the "delicate situation after the losses of Teruel" and calling for the "direct intervention of all organizations and political parties in the civil war and political and economic life."

CAPT. EDEN WARNS BRITAIN TO KEEP U. S. FRIENDSHIP

Insists Chamberlain Did Bow to Italian Threat.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Capt. Anthony Eden, former British foreign secretary, was cheered by 1,000 of his constituents at Leamington tonight when he told his version of his recent resignation from the cabinet as a protest against Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's new policy of coming to terms with the European dictator nations.

Capt. Eden repeated his charge that Great Britain had plunged into talks with Rome under a "now or never" threat from Premier Mussolini.

This has been denied by Chamberlain. Eden said, however, it would not be "in the national interest" to press for publication of the documents in the case.

"The government has embarked on its course," Eden said. "It has decided to employ a certain approach to Anglo-Italian friendship. The decision has been made and parliament has endorsed it. The government must then go ahead on the course which it has chosen, and neither by word nor act do I desire to say anything to make its task more difficult."

Accepts Verdict of History.

Eden declared that he would be content to accept the verdict of history as to whether he was right or wrong in his idea of the foreign policy best suited for England to follow, and at the same time he made an appeal for national and Conservative party unity.

"We must stand by our conception of international order, without which there can never be a lasting peace," he said. "Nor must we for a minute weaken in our faith in parliamentary government and individual liberty. These are the things that count."

At the same time he urged that Great Britain should not discard old friendships merely to placate dictators.

"It is with the great democracies of Europe and America that our natural affinities must lie," he said.

Still Convinced He's Right.

Eden denied that he resigned under stress of fatigue and ill health. Declaring he was "unshakenly convinced" that the stand he took was right, he spoke of the gulf between himself and Chamberlain as "deep and wide."

"No man can conduct foreign affairs to the best advantage by the methods of another," he said.

He summed up his position by declaring he would have been a "hypocrite" had he gone to parliament asking support for Chamberlain's policy toward Italy in which he had no faith. He held that the British government could have obtained more from Mussolini by standing firm.

He denied that he wanted Italy "to stand in a white sheet" before talks with Great Britain were begun, but he maintained that the British government should have demanded that Mussolini fulfill the engagements into which he already has entered before seeking to negotiate a new agreement.

Halifax Gets Eden's Post.

It was announced officially in London, meanwhile, that Viscount Halifax, lord president of the council, would replace Eden as secretary for foreign affairs. Richard Austen Butler will replace Viscount Cranborne as undersecretary in the foreign ministry. Halifax has been acting foreign secretary since Eden's resignation.

The opposition was expected to protest against a foreign secretary who is a member of the house of lords instead of the house of commons. It was stated that the prime minister personally will answer questions on foreign affairs in the house of commons.

The earl of Perth, British ambassador to Rome, lunched with Prime Minister Chamberlain today and also saw Viscount Halifax to receive instructions for the forthcoming Anglo-Italian talks, which, at Mussolini's request, will be held in Rome.

FIVE WPA EMPLOYES ARE INDICTED BY U. S. FOR PAY ROLL FRAUD

Federal indictments charging five WPA employés with fraud were returned in federal court here yesterday before Judge John P. Barnes.

Those named in the indictments are Ronald W. Koeppe, 4554 Springfield avenue, a timekeeper on a project in District No. 3; Joseph McCue, Worth, a timekeeper in District No 2; Anthony Marcy, 5030 North Central Park avenue, a timekeeper for the National Youth Administration, a WPA project; Donald J. Mackay, 2345 Altgeld street, clerk, and Joseph Curto, 2325 Altgeld street.

According to evidence submitted by Assistant District Attorney John J. Moreschi, McCue defrauded the government of $54.50 by placing on the pay rolls employés who were not working. Koeppe, Moreschi said, obtained a total of $47 by a similar scheme.

Marcy and Mackay, the assistant district attorney said, conspired to place Curto, who was unemployed, on a WPA pay roll and collected $180.70 in wages for which Curto did no work.

2 SENT TO LINCOLN SCHOOL.

Jacksonville, Ill., Feb. 25. — [Special.] — Robert Berry, 15 years old, and Vermont Rhodes, 16, both colored, were sentenced to the state school at Lincoln by County Judge William E. Thomson of Morgan county today for thefts of merchandise from box cars on the Wabash railroad.

AGITATORS STIR STRIKE BY WPA AIRPORT CREWS

Stirred by professional agitators, 6,700 WPA workers at the Chicago airport struck yesterday because they didn't like their hours. Although WPA officials conceded the main demand for a change in hours, the afternoon shift remained on strike and was sent home early in the expectation that there would be more trouble today.

The morning shift of 3,400 men appeared on the half mile square project at 6 a. m., but refused to work. They established a guard at the timekeepers' office on Cicero avenue at the north side of the airport to make sure none checked in for duty. Then they milled around the field.

Officials Capitulate.

At 11:30 a. m. WPA officials capitulated. Supt. Arthur J. Haines mounted a woodpile, called the workers' committee before him, and announced:

"All right, boys. Starting tomorrow, you can work from 7 a. m. to 4 p. m., four days one week and three days the next. This will save 28 cents in carfare the first week and 42 cents the second."

They cheered. But the afternoon shift had been at work only a short time before the men halted. They wanted all workers to start at 9 a. m. instead of half of them at 7 a. m.

Mill Around Field.

For nearly two hours they shouldered tools and ambled around the field. At 2:45 p. m. they were told to go home and report at 9 a. m. this morning.

It was reported that new strike petitions, carrying a demand for an increase in hourly rates from 50 to 65 cents were being prepared. Charles E. Miner, state WPA administrator, said any increase in the laborers' monthly wages of $55 must originate at the President's desk and that it would affect the WPA wage setup elsewhere.

"Outside agitators are to blame for the strikes here and the one just concluded at Aurora," Miner said. "The strike at the airport was predicted correctly more than a week ago in a publication of a radical group."

It was learned that Gil Lang of New York City, a national organizer for the Workers' Alliance of America, has been active at both the Aurora and airport projects. At Aurora the 25 workers on a sewer digging project who were out for a month lost their $55 a month pay.

The alliance is said to be such a radical organization that the C. I. O. has hesitated to have dealings with it, despite overtures from the alliance.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

PEOPLE WHO PAUSED

No. 6. Travelers

By CALEB

THERE is no week in the year that some loyal Chicagoan does not tell some of us here at Field's, with great satisfaction, that on a trip to some foreign land, natives were encountered who had been to Marshall Field's and wanted to talk about "that beautiful store." Glancing through our Guest Book gives us some idea of how universally people who have toured our store are scattered over the world.

There is an Eskimo girl from Baffin Land who invariably wishes to talk about Marshall Field's to any Chicagoan who reaches that remote land, and in Cape Colony, South Africa, or Morocco, North Africa, there are people who think of us every time the city of Chicago is mentioned.

People who have come here and returned to their native lands as friends of this store are paying us generous compliments commensurate in their minds with the uniqueness of what they found here on their visits to Chicago.

When you think of foreign lands in which natives will talk Marshall Field & Company with you, you will of course think of France—Paris, Dijon, Rouen; or Germany—Cologne, Berlin, Stuttgart, Leipzig; or England—London, Liverpool, Birmingham, York. Our Guest Book shows signatures of the great and near great from these and many more such places.

But Field friends who have registered here are also in cities and lands you would be less apt to mention: Auckland, New Zealand; Chefoo, China; Vienna, Austria; Belfast, Ireland; Bangkok, Siam; Stockholm, Sweden; Amritsar, India; Kinkiang, China; Brussels, Belgium; Sydney, Australia; Havana, Buenos Aires, Rome, Manila, Tokyo, Amsterdam, Bombay, Singapore, Danzig, Panama, Rangoon, Budapest, Copenhagen, Mexico City, Madrid, Honolulu, Madras, Malta, Saxony, Silesia; Malay States, Scotland, Salvador, Bolivia, Fiji Islands, Chile, Peru, Switzerland, French Indo-China, Puerto Rico, Czechoslovakia, and Colombia.

We have been visited by large delegations of business men and merchants from many countries—England, Germany, Holland, Switzerland, and South Africa, for instance.

Our store is a Chicago institution, but it is a world showplace, and as they see the world, visitors to Chicago pause here.

REACH INTO NEW RANKS THIS YEAR FOR INCOME TAX

Collectors Find Many Pay for First Time.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Income tax returns, which are now being received at the rate of more than 1,000 a day in Chicago, reflect a social change since last year. One group is making returns for the first time, and another, made up of persons who sent in no returns for several years, is now returning to the ranks of the taxpayers who provide 46 per cent of the federal revenues.

The number of returns has already increased 15 per cent, more than two weeks before the deadline on March 15, as compared with figures at the same time last year. This estimate was made by Dan Conerty, assistant chief field deputy for the northern Illinois district, who has 165 deputy collectors to look after returns from twenty-six counties.

Assist at Tribune Offices.

Some of these deputies have already been stationed in banks to assist taxpayers in making returns, and one is now at public service offices in The Tribune Tower to assist the public. Two more will be there beginning Monday. Two are also on duty at The Tribune public service bureau at 1 South Dearborn street.

Right now the internal revenue offices are recording financial affairs of the little fellow. Heavy taxpayers wait until the last minute to make returns. That fellow at room 290 in the federal building right now, is Mr. Average Citizen. But mingling with him are some newcomers in the rough clothes of the working man. Many for the first time have exceeded the $1,000 exemption for single men and the $2,500 mark for married men.

There have been no changes in the law this year affecting the average tax payer. The chief trouble, according to Carter H. Harrison, internal revenue collector, is caused by the green duplicate sheets which must be filed with the government. Some who make out their own returns forget to fill out the green sheets and become outraged when presented with a bill for $5 by the government for making the copy. Others seek to dodge it because of the use which has been made of the returns by the personal tax assessor.

Complain About Sales Tax.

The chief complaint from taxpayers is caused by their inability to deduct sales taxes from gross income. Under the Illinois law this is a retail occupational tax, not a consumer tax, and therefore the retail man deducts it, not the consumer. It would take an act of the legislature to change the law, so that the consumer would get the benefit.

Another common question is whether social security deductions from the pay envelope may be deducted in computing the tax. No more than any other insurance payments, says the government.

Ernest Sauber, a young man who has specialized in tax regulations, is the trouble shooter of the department. He is flanked by a library of tax books, but answers most of the questions out of his head.

U. S. Makes a Sale.

"The other day," he said, a man asked me about his mother-in-law. She was 70 years old and he was her chief support.

"How much can I get for her?" he wanted to know.

"I told him $400 was the deduction for dependents."

"'Sold,' he said. 'I'll bring her over first thing in the morning.'"

Then there was the story of the woman who wanted to know whether she should put down her alimony receipts in the "personal services rendered" column. A man cannot deduct alimony, it was learned, and a woman need not report it.

There is occasional trouble over those who claim to be heads of families with aged mothers or other dependents. Sometimes further affidavits are required and investigation is made. If the claim is not true an additional tax is assessed.

Gasoline Tax Deductible.

The 3 cents a gallon gasoline tax paid by consumers is one allowable deduction in the income tax bill. The average Sunday driver who does not use his car for business usually is estimated at 26 driving days a year, with 10 gallons a day used. This item of $48 results in $2 off his tax bill. Salesmen usually claim that they drive 20,000 miles a year, and they are allowed ten gallons a day on this. There are other deductions for cars in business use.

The question of earned income bothers some taxpayers. This is merely a description of salary or wages. Other income, such as from investments, is considered as earned up to $3,000. After that it becomes taxable. There is a 10 per cent credit on earned income up to $14,000.

"The education of the public in income tax matters has steadily improved," said Conerty. "They are preparing their figures in advance and coöperating with the deputies."

PROF. LUCKHARDT NAMED TO FRENCH SCIENCE COUNCIL

Because a Wisconsin rose grower fifteen years ago could not find out what caused the roses in his greenhouse to turn yellow Dr. Arno B. Luckhardt, professor of physiology at the University of Chicago, was given one of the highest honors known to research science yesterday. He was notified that he had been made an honorary corresponding member of the Historical and Heraldic Council of France, which was founded in 1875 to give international recognition to men of science.

It was through his study of the physiology of roses and the gases used in heating the Wisconsin greenhouse that Dr. Luckhardt was led to the discovery of ethylene gas and its effects. This gas puts roses to sleep. It also puts to sleep human beings who are to undergo surgical operations without danger to the heart.

Dr. Luckhardt was offered $100,000 for his patent, but refused to profit by it and gave the secret to the hospitals of the world.

Lawrence was severely burned and his ankle fractured when the plane crashed and burst into flames forty miles north of San Luis Obispo. Pilot T. J. Phillips overshot a fog shrouded airport while trying to land at the ranch of W. R. Hearst.

BUCKMAN FIRM PRESIDENT FREE ON $25,000 BOND

Judge Refuses Request for $50,000 Bail.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—B. E. Buckman was arraigned in district court today on a charge of violating the state blue sky laws and was released on $25,000 bond. Judge Harvey L. Neelen rejected District Attorney Herbert Steffes' plea that bond be set at $50,000, but ordered Buckman not to leave the state before his trial without permission of the court.

Buckman, who is president of the bankrupt investment concern of Madison bearing his name, surrendered this morning and was taken to court immediately. Louis C. George, vice president of the company, and Edgar C. Holt, secretary treasurer, who were named in similar warants, were freed recently on $25,000 bond on similar charges. The three hearings have been set for April 4.

Opposes $50,000 Bond.

Carl Hill of Madison, representing Buckman, resisted the efforts to make bond for his client twice as much as was set for the other two officials.

He indicated the defense might be that Buckman, although president, was not the leader in the management of the company.

"Buckman was not the active man the attorney general and the district attorney believe," Hill said. "He was not responsible for its management or the management of its financial operations to the extent to which he has been accused."

"Well, who was then?" Judge Neelan asked.

"Mr. George," said Hill.

Quizzed by Steffes.

"Why didn't you offer this information when George and Holt were arraigned?" District Attorney Steffes asked. Hill said it wasn't his job to volunteer information unless it was asked by opposing counsel.

William M. Dinneen, former secretary of the state public service commission, is at liberty on bail in Madison charged with supplying the Buckman company with copies of investors' complaints to the commission. Dinneen also faces a state tax commission assessment of $75,000 on back taxes for income of $398,000 alleged not to have been reported from 1924 to 1936.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 25.—(AP)—Clyde Miller, 37 years old, who pleaded guilty to charges of beating his wife in a quarrel over a card game, today was sentenced to 20 lashes at the whipping post and to serve six months in the house of correction.

"I must have lost my head," Miller said as he faced Judge J. Abner Sayler in the Criminal court.

Mrs. Miller, her eyes blackened and bloody bruises discoloring her mouth, nose, forehead, and cheek, was able to speak only with difficulty.

MRS. SIMS BUYS COLORADO RANCH OF 240,000 ACRES

Colorado Springs, Colo., Feb. 25.—(AP)—Title to the famous 240,000-acre Trinchera ranch in southern Colorado, a portion of the Sangre de Cristo grant given by the Mexican government for colonization purposes, was acquired today by Mrs. Ruth Hanna Simms, publisher, and her husband, Albert Sims.

Haney & Jackson, Colorado Springs law firm, and Ralph Carr, Denver attorney, said Mr. and Mrs. Sims would take immediate possession of the historic property, but would continue their residence in Albuquerque, N. M.

A part of the consideration, the attorneys said, was the Ruth Hanna McCormick cattle breeding ranch of 1,600 acres 11 miles south of Rockford, Ill. Other consideration was not announced.

Colorado Springs ranching interests have declared the Trinchera ranch worth more than $500,000. It is a portion of the Sangre de Cristo grant given Charles Beaubien and Stephen Louis Lee many years ago.

HEIR FOR DUTCH AND A TREAT FOR INDIES TOURIST

Gets There Just in Time for Celebration.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MACASSAR, Celebes, Dutch East Indies.—[By Airmail.]—Macassar, the capital of Celebes Island, is a town well worth going ashore to see any time, but particularly if an heir has just been born to the royal house of The Netherlands.

Arrow shows latest stopping point of Capt. Corpening.

In honor of the baby girl born to Holland's crown princess, Juliana, on Jan. 31, the place was aflame on Feb. 1 with decorations and every one was in on the celebration. Trees, lamp posts, store fronts, and houses were decorated with orange, the royal color, Dutch flags, and bunting.

In the athletic field, near the center of town, the celebration involved several thousand participants and thousands more of spectators. Each tribe on Celebes Island was represented by different groups. About half were mounted on small ponies, riding bareback. With their gay colors and different costumes one immediately thought of American Indians on parade. Each group had different songs, chants, and performances.

Races Mingle in Macassar.

The spectators all were gayly decked out in gaudy fezzes and costumes. Many bright red trousers and sashes were seen. The place was certainly alive with the holiday spirit.

Macassar itself is an interesting spot. It is located near the southwestern point of Celebes Island and has a total population of 80,000 inhabitants, 20,000 of whom are Chinese and Europeans. A good harbor does a lively business. Much copra [coconut meat] and spices are exported; also some coffee and rice.

A drive around town proves entertaining. Twenty miles out are the Bautiurung falls which have a total drop of 1,600 feet. Extending in either direction from the falls is a vertical limestone bluff about 400 feet high with the face completely covered with dense vegetation.

Rice Fields, Bamboo Forests.

The drive from town to the falls is on a good road over flat country with rice fields and bamboo forests alternating. The men working on the road have not paid their poll tax.

Many rice birds are seen. They greatly resemble a miniature stork with the exception of brown necks and breasts. Unlike the American crow, they aid rice crops by eating the insects. Many white carabaos [water buffaloes], the first seen on Celebes, are used to till the rice fields. The bamboo forests have to be protected by fences from the many goats.

The houses are mostly of Dutch architecture with fewer grass roofs than elsewhere in the east. The streets in the business district are paved, but have no sidewalks. An old Chinese cemetery is passed. All the graves are surrounded by a perfect horseshoe wall four feet high at the toe and two feet at the heel. A Chinese tomb of recent date, costing 150,000 guilders [the Dutch guilder is worth 56 cents], is an object of interest.

Bicycle Plus a Rickisha.

Fort Rotterdam in the town square attracts many visitors. Built in the 17th century, it greatly resembles the walled city in Manila, but is not as large. Horse carts and cabs are plentiful, with a new type of rickisha everywhere. Instead of pulling the passenger, the operator rides a bicycle and pushes.

There are many beautiful trees around, but few flowers. A new species of fern called "sensitive fern" is pointed out. If touched the leaf folds up. Most of the adjoining timberlands are teakwood. The vinegar tree is plentiful.

The water front is active with fishing boats. Sailboats furnish competition for the steamers in handling freight to Java and the surrounding islands.

Nation's Auto Deaths Increase

Twenty states, shown in white, reduced their 1937 trafic fatalities from the 1936 toll, notwithstanding an increase in highway trafic. In the remaining states, shown in black, the 1937 toll was higher than in 1936. For all states, there was an increase of 4 per cent to an all-time high of 39,700 deaths.

With a steady increase in automobile usage in the United States, the nation's trafic fatalities per 100 million miles of travel continues to decrease, as does the number of deaths for each 10,000 automobiles owned in the country. However, the death rate in proportion to population continues to rise.

Safety Council Analysis

A mile of automobile travel today involves less risk than in 1925, despite the fact that the nation's street and highway death toll has reached an all time high. The growth in the volume of motor travel accounts for increased trafic fatalities.

The National Safety council, in an analysis of 1937 trafic casualties, reports these figures: Dead, 39,700; permanently disabled, 110,000; temporarily injured, 1,250,000; property damage, $870,000,000; wage losses, medical expenses, and insurance overhead, $870,000,000.

The deaths increased 4 per cent over 1936. Automobile miles driven, estimated from gasoline consumption, increased 9 per cent. The motor vehicle death rate on a mileage basis declined from 16.6 deaths per 100 million miles in 1936, to 15.9 deaths per 100 million miles in 1937. This was a reduction of 4 per cent. The total reduction since 1925 has been 20 per cent. Twenty states reduced their 1937 trafic fatalities over 1936.

Four hundred more pedestrians were killed in 1937 than in 1936. Non-pedestrians deaths increased 1,200. The pedestrian total for the year was 15,600. In Chicago, pedestrians accounted for 75.43 per cent of the city's toll.

HEAD OF MOTOR CONCERN KILLED AS CAR UPSETS

John L. Little Jr., 38 years old, president of the Bel-Park Motors, Inc., 5350 Belmont avenue, died yesterday in El Paso, Tex., of injuries suffered when his automobile overturned near Anthony, N. M., on Thursday. His wife, Paulina, who was driving, was not injured. They were on their way from California to Mexico City. The Little home is at 414 Main street, Evanston.

Virginia Gonlin, 3½ years old, 1641 North Maplewood avenue, died yesterday in St. Elizabeth's hospital of injuries incurred Thursday when she ran in front of the car of Paul Kukielka, 23, of 2038 Webster avenue, near her home.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 151 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 4. Of these 124 were killed in the city. In the same period 2,586 were injured in trafic accidents in Chicago.

MOVIE SLAYERS DENIED 2D TRIAL; SENT TO PRISON

Judge John C. Lewe in Criminal court yesterday denied a new trial to two young robbers who were convicted by a jury for the murder of Miss Jean Riley, cashier in the Windsor theater at 1225 North Clark street. Arthur La Frana, identified as the gunman, was sentenced to life imprisonment, and Alfred Davies, driver of the robbers' car, was sentenced to 30 years in the penitentiary. A third member of the gang, Richard Peabody, previously pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 14 years in prison.

SUBWAY PETITION DELAYS BUILDING OF LAKE DRIVE

Auto Clubs Seek Bridges for Pedestrians.

BY HAL FOUST.

Construction of a third pavement for Lake Shore drive between Belmont avenue and Grace street, scheduled for completion by July 1, is being delayed by a petition from owners of abutting property. The petition asks that the state highway department build three pedestrian subways under this section of the express drives. When they received this information yesterday the Chicago Motor club and the Illinois Automobile club renewed their objections to these subways and urged the Chicago park district to proceed promptly with a tentative plan for six pedestrian bridges for this mile of boulevard.

The grading for the new pavement, which will break a bottle neck on the lake front thoroughfare, is about finished. The underground work on sewers and utilities cannot be done until it is decided whether and where subways should be built.

Calls Delay Inexcusable.

"The delay in placing this $1,250,000 trafic improvement in service is inexcusable," said Carl Barrett, president of the Illinois Automobile club. "Experience at Michigan and Randolph and at Michigan avenue and Oak street has shown that the public avoids using subways. Experience at A Century of Progress showed that pedestrians will use foot bridges.

"Opposite Lincoln park, pedestrian subways would be avoided by women afraid of attackers and robbers. On bridges, there is no such danger."

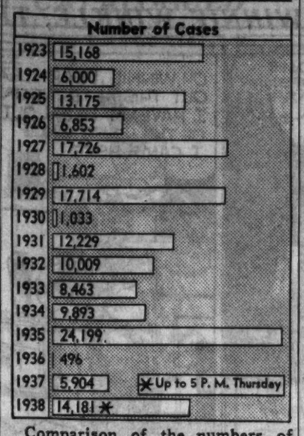

J. J. Cavanagh, general manager of the Chicago Motor club, pointed out that the six bridges, costing about $10,000 each, could be built for the cost of one subway.

Tells Esthetic Considerations.

Mr. Cavanagh also emphasized that overhead structures might be designed with esthetic considerations to meet the objections of abutting property owners.

The Chicago park district yesterday was drilling test holes preliminary to construction on a $2,000,000 revision of pavements in the south end of Lincoln park, including an extension of LaSalle street to the outer drive and an extension of Lake Shore drive north of North avenue in the old lagoon bed to meet the new LaSalle street pavement at a grade separation to be erected near the present bridge over the lagoon's south intake.

Measles Record Set

Comparison of the numbers of cases of measles reported in Chicago each year from 1923 to 1938, inclusive.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen said yesterday that 9,382 cases of measles had been reported this month up to 5 p. m. Thursday, boosting the year's total to 14,181. Chicago's peak year was 1935, when there were 24,199, the records show, or only 10,018 more than in the first 55 days of 1938. The previous record month was April, 1935, with 7,206 cases.

Dr. Bundesen warned that measles often is followed by more serious ailments. Health records show that 20 per cent of the deaths from the disease are among children less than 2 years old, he said.

In Springfield Dr. A. C. Baxter, acting state health director, said the measles reached the all-time high weekly incidence in Illinois with 6,278 new cases against the previous weekly high of 3,032 in March, 1935.

Indiana, according to the report of the Indiana State Medical association in Indianapolis, has more than thirty times as many measles cases as it had a year ago. In Wisconsin a state survey showed 4,613 cases last month, with all but 212 in Milwaukee county.

FIGHT MEASURE TO FAVOR COASTS ON CANAL TOLLS

Roosevelt Opposes Bill for Rate Revision.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt is unalterably opposed to passage of the McAdoo Panama canal toll revision bill, which would exempt coastwise and intercoastal shipping from payment of tolls for passage through the canal, it was learned today from an authoritative source.

The bill, which was introduced recently by Senator William Gibbs McAdoo [D., Cal.] has the united opposition of the middle west. The elimination of tolls would discriminate ruinously against all midwestern industries, according to senators and representatives of the great central plains.

If the bill is enacted the manufacturers of the eastern and western coasts will be able to ship their products by water through the canal to the opposite coast cheaper than a midwest manufacturer will be able to ship to either coast. Midwestern manufacturers say they would be forced to abandon their plants or move to either coast.

Forces Industries to Move.

Already favorable toll rates of the canal have forced some industries to move eastward, Mr. Roosevelt was told. Midwestern industries are particularly indignant because the central area bore more than its share of the cost of the $546,500,000 canal across the Panama isthmus only to find its benefits are being realized only on the coasts.

Opponents of the McAdoo bill also have argued to the President that the canal is now losing more than a million dollars a year and would lose far more if the bill is passed. A substantial share of this additional loss would fall on midwestern manufacturers and put them in the strange position of paying to put themselves out of business.

Expect Veto If Passed.

The President was reported to have expressed conviction that the measure is not one which promises to work for the best interests of the country. It was revealed at the White House today that Mr. Roosevelt feels so strongly against the measure that he would veto it should it reach his desk.

In introducing the bill Senator McAdoo, son-in-law of President Wilson and secretary of the treasury in the Wilson cabinet, turned against one of the wartime President's policies. Wilson's fight against downward revision of the canal rates was one of the most dramatic episodes of his career. McAdoo, who was with Wilson in that fight, has now changed his position.

U. S. GETS COMPLETE HELIUM MONOPOLY BY LAND PURCHASES

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—(AP)—The government obtained a complete monopoly on the nation's known supplies of helium today by buying for $537,975 certain helium producing land at Dexter, Kas., and Thatcher, Colo.

The land, the only known source of the gas outside the government owned plant at Amarillo, Tex., was bought from the Girdler corporation of Louisville, Ky. Some of the helium will be sold to float Germany's giant new dirigible, LZ-130, now being rushed to completion in the hope of renewing trans-atlantic dirigible service this summer.

RED C. I. O. DOCK CHIEF TO RESIST HIS DEPORTATION

Also Demands Hearing by Senators.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Harry Bridges, communist C. I. O. leader on the west coast, arrived in Washington today to resist being deported to Australia as an undesirable alien at about the same time the senate adopted a resolution calling for a special investigation of subversive activities in the merchant marine.

The resolution was introduced by Senator Royal S. Copeland (D., N. Y.), chairman of the commerce committee, after Bridges had figured prominently in testimony concerning mutinous labor conditions in the maritime industry.

Bridges, who is president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union, a C. I. O. affiliate, also came to Washington to demand a hearing before the senate committees on commerce and labor. These committees jointly are considering a bill to extend the scope of the railway labor act and the authority of the national mediation board to maritime labor relations.

Asks Funds for Inquiry.

Senator Copeland's resolution requested an appropriation of $50,000 for an investigation by a select committee, to be appointed by Vice President John N. Garner, of communist activities in the merchant marine. The appropriation was reduced to $20,000 by the senate's audit and control committee, but once the investigation is under way, the committee can always come in and request additional funds.

The C. I. O., through Lee Pressman, its general counsel, welcomed Bridges to Washington and went to his support both before the senate committees and the labor department, which has charge of deportations. Pressman, a former employé of the AAA, who went out in the purge of radical satellites of Prof. Rexford Guy Tugwell in 1935, wrote a letter to Senator Copeland demanding a hearing for Bridges.

Denounces Arbitration Bill.

He also denounced the bill proposed by Joseph P. Kennedy, former chairman of the maritime commission, saying it would require compulsory arbitration. Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins also opposes the bill on this ground, but by the terms of the bill arbitration would merely postpone strikes, not prohibit them, and the finding of an arbitration commission would not be binding.

Pressman told Senator Copeland that Bridges desired to answer "all of the wild and loose-lipped accusations" that had been made against him before the two senate committees. Senator Copeland said the committees would consider the Bridges request next Wednesday.

Demands Details of Charges.

Bridges went to the labor department and demanded to know the nature of the charges against him. Solicitor Gerard D. Reilly said he told him the charges would be set forth in a formal complaint if one should be filed. Reilly said it was "pretty definite" that a warant of arrest would be issued for Bridges and a formal hearing conducted.

It would be unusual if Bridges should receive a hearing in Washington, across the country from the Seattle immigration and naturalization office, which requested the warant. There are reports, however, that Miss Perkins has expressed the fear that he would not receive a "fair" hearing on the west coast.

It required three weeks for the senate committee to force Miss Perkins to surrender the evidence against Bridges. The evidence indicates that he is deportable as a member of an organization advocating violence to overthrow the government.

WITNESS TELLS LABOR LEADERS' INSURANCE PLOT

Cleveland, O., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—The state closed its extortion case today against John E. McGee and Don A. Campbell, Cleveland labor leaders, after a witness testified that the defendants had attempted to involve insurance companies here in a racket. The two are on trial on charges of extorting $1,200 from a restaurant owner on threats of causing labor trouble.

The witness, Edward D. Sweet, former Cleveland insurance man, told the jury that in December, 1932, when he was Cleveland manager of the Maryland Casualty company, he was asked by McGee to help establish a bureau of insurance companies. McGee proposed, Sweet said, that the companies contribute to a fund and in return receive information on where labor trouble was to start in time to cancel policies and avoid claims.

OFFICIALS HELP C. I. O. ORGANIZE HINES HOSPITAL

Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, national administrator of veterans' affairs, has given the Committee for Industrial Organization a helping hand in its drive to organize employés at Hines hospital.

At the request of Irwin F. Elber, regional director for the United Federal Workers' union, a C. I. O. affiliate, employés were notified by Col. Hugh Scott, manager, that the union had the approval of Gen. Hines to visit the hosiptal and organize the workers. Arrangements were made for Elber to talk with employés in various divisions.

Although there is an independent union at the hospital, no notice was sent to employés regarding the organization work of that group. Col. Scott said he was willing to write such a letter if the independent union requested it.

UM-PAHS IN ANTON'S NOCTURNES STRIKE A DISCORDANT NOTE

Anton Gudelis and his breach of promise suit against Mrs. Martha Zielinsky were thrown out of Judge Thomas A. Green's Municipal court yesterday after Mrs. Zielinsky, a widow, 59 years old, testified that her erstwhile roomer had snored himself right out of his chances for romance and marriage.

Gudelis, who is 54, sought the return of $500 which he said he spent for improvements to three buildings owned by Mrs. Zielinsky and an extra $300 he said he ought to have as heart balm. Mrs. Zielinsky, who lives at 6003 South Morgan street, dropped her counterbill asking $130 for back rent and meals. Then she told the court:

"The Gudelis snore sounds like a German band."

DANIEL BOONE'S LOG CABIN, BUILT IN 1795, IS FOUND

Whitesburg, Ky., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—The recent discovery and authentication of an old log cabin home built in 1795 in Nicholas county by Daniel Boone supplies a gap in the famous pioneer's life that historians evidently knew nothing about.

Boone, his wife, and son Nathan occupied the log cabin home in Nicholas county for about two years after he had made his pilgrimage from the mountains of North Carolina through eastern Kentucky—coming through Pound Gap—and on into the central part of the state. The log cabin is still in a fair state of preservation.

Kentuckians will now have an opportunity to restore the historical old home. It is located on the tract of land originally owned by Daniel M. Boone, a son of the pioneer, records show. A letter Boone addressed to Isaac Shelby, then governor of Kentucky, on Feb. 11, 1796, describing the cabin and its location is further evidence that it was the home of the pioneer Boone.

DANCING TEACHER ROUTS A ROBBER WITH HER SLIPPER

Miss Maxine Mordy, 31 years old, a dancing teacher in the Dearborn grill, 738 South Dearborn street, showed better aim with a dancing slipper than a bandit did with a gun last night.

She was one of fourteen persons menaced by five gunmen, four of them masked, who dashed into the grill. Among the victims were Peter and Louis Maniaci, the owners. Louis was slugged when one of the robbers was unable to pull a diamond ring from his finger.

As the robbers filed out through the door Miss Mordy removed a slipper, aimed carefully, and threw. Her aim was good. The shoe struck the last bandit on the head and knocked off his hat. He turned and fired one shot at Miss Mordy, which missed, picked up his hat, and fled. "I only wish I had a gun with my aim," Miss Mordy told police later.

A. F. L. ADHERENT WIDENS LEAD IN PRINTERS' RACE

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Claude M. Baker of San Francisco today increased his lead over Charles P. Howard for indorsement as candidate for president of the International Typographical union.

Baker has received the indorsement of 342 locals and Howard, seeking reëlection to an office he has held since 1926, has the support thus far of 153. Thomas J. Gethings of Boston has the indorsement of two. Baker favors continued affiliation with the American Federation of Labor while Howard, an official of the C. I. O., opposed methods of present A. F. of L. leadership.

Voting on indorsement of candidates will continue until the end of the month and the official count will be made in March. The actual election will be May. Candidates must have the indorsement of fifty locals to qualify for the final election.

KEENAN NAMED RECEIVER FOR MARBLE UNION

Joseph D. Keenan, secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor, was appointed receiver for the Marble, Mosaic and Terrazzo Workers Helpers' union, local 98, by Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg yesterday.

The union, which is more than 50 years old, has been suspended by the American Federation of Labor. It was placed in receivership Thursday after a petition brought by 90 of its 110 members charged John Testo, business agent, and John Fascia, president, with mismanagement, terrorism and illegal occupation of their offices. The complaint said Testo was deposed at an election last December, but refused to surrender his duties and was still collecting dues.

Judge Feinberg told Keenan that anyone interfering with his duties would be held in contempt of court.

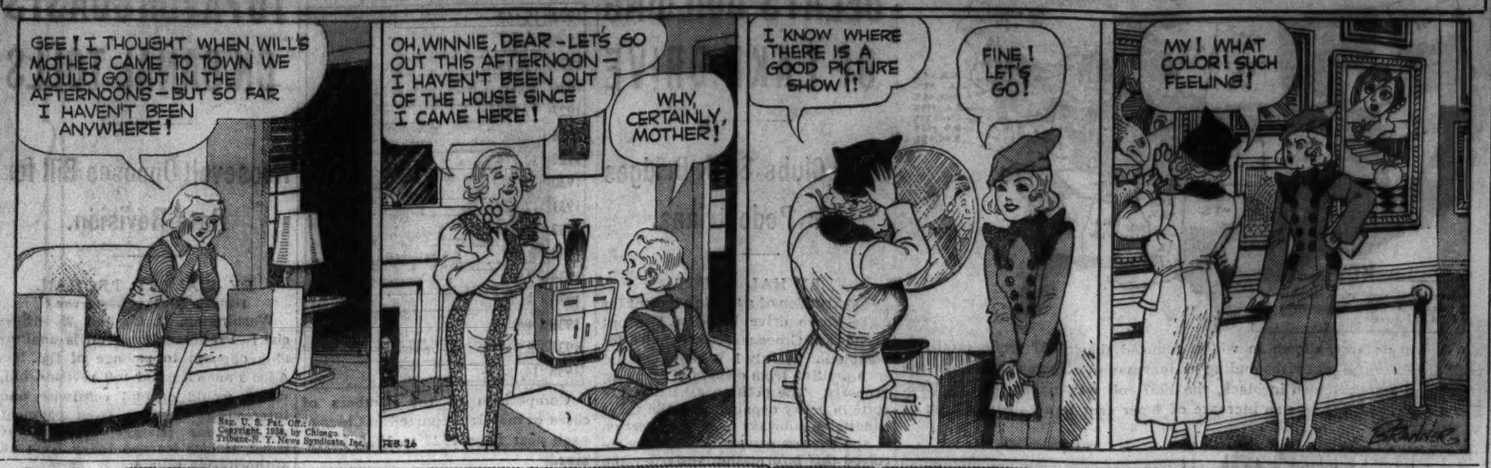

Police Asked to Watch for St. Paul Bank Bandits

Chicago and Illinois state police were asked by the St. Paul federal bureau of investigation by radio last night to be on the lookout for two armed men, wanted for bank robbery, believed to be driving from St. Paul to Chicago. The radio message identified them as Reinhold Wandt, 23 years old, and Alfred Wandt, 17. According to the warning, both South Dakota and Minnesota state licenses are on their car and there is another set of South Dakota plates inside the car.

Ryan Heir Pays $7,500 for Epstein's 'Madonna' Statue

LONDON, Feb. 25. — (AP) — Sally Ryan, granddaughter of the late Thomas Fortune Ryan of New York, disclosed today she had paid £1,500 [$7,500] for one of Jacob Epstein's main controversial sculptures, "Madonna and Child." Epstein, American born London resident, and British gallery goers are at odds almost every time he finishes a statue.

Franz Werfel's Skill Produces a Powerful Epic

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Hearken Unto the Voice," by Franz Werfel. [Viking, $3.] Published Monday.

The author of the epic, "The Forty Days of Musa Dagh," has written in "Hearken Unto the Voice" an epic greater in scope and in content, no less heroic in physical and spiritual courage. Franz Werfel here recreates the tragic life of Jeremiah, a wanderer driven by the voice of God, hearkening unto that voice and crying out its message to his fellow men, most of whom misunderstood him and reviled and tortured him.

Jeremiah tortured himself, too, when he pleaded with God to speak and God was silent. He made strange journeys into metaphysics, into the land of the dead in search of his beloved, into the astrologer's sky. By others he was locked in the stocks and whipped with scorpions. He was thrust breast high into a cesspool. But the power of dedication which took his mind from his suffering spirit into metaphysics took the horror from his physical suffering.

This epic tale has to do with man's individual triumph over the powers of oppression, and has its subtle application in today's chaos. But what most readers will find compelling about it is the reality of Jeremiah's living and being and of the life about him. He is no remote Biblical figurehead of a prophet of woe. He is a human being, as alive as some one you met on your last trip to a strange land . . . not with the familiarity of the man next door. A contemporary on the other side of the world. His days and nights are filled with an infinitude of everyday actions, of commonplace details as alive as though they were being observed today. Franz Werfel has made ancient Jerusalem, Memphis, and Babylon as vivid as though they had actually been caught, like a fly, in amber and preserved intact until today. Herr Werfel uses as a technical device a sort of psychic reversion in an instant of time of a modern man into the being of Jeremiah. But, like Jeremiah, on page 349 of the 780 page tale, the reader does not "believe that he was witnessing only an unusually vivid dream." It is all "immeasurably removed from a genuine vision," for it is reality.

Analysis of Economics as Based on Promises.

"The Promises Men Live By," by Harry Scherman. [Random House, $3.] Published Wednesday.

Paraphrasing the title of that immensely popular book about another abstruse subject, "Mathematics for the Million," this book might be called "Economics for the Million." Its author has taken that "badly tangled ball of twine," the economic social structure, and has reduced the tangle into comprehensible fundamentals which any intelligent reader can understand.

All economic life, Harry Scherman declares, is a matter of promises, most of them unfulfilled. He describes succinctly and simply the principal phases of such promises from individual buying through the more complex promises of work and wages, rents, banking, credits, money, government promises, and international exchanges.

Individual man is honest and his fulfilment of his promises is shown by statistics to be surprisingly high. For instance, 99.4 per cent of persons who buy on credit fulfill their promises; 98.5 per cent of instalment buyers. In banking, working for wages, renting, mortgaging, practically all individual compacts are kept, because honesty is not only the best policy but has been found to be the only one by which any business relation can be lasting.

Governments are the worst offenders in not fulfilling their promises, Mr. Scherman points out, for they can, by the mere changing of the definition of a word [the value of a dollar or a mark or a franc], break their pledges to their own people and other nations.

We cannot even attempt to look at all of the intricacies of the "promise" system through this small end of the critical telescope, but Mr. Scherman goes into them and shows how "the interdependence of promises extends in every direction one examines without break."

There are no politics in "The Promises Men Live By," no pleas for democratic, communistic, or Fascist systems of life. Mr. Scherman tells the ordinary man that it is "not error as such, but principally complacence in error which has forever bedeviled the common life of man," and urges him to enlighten his complacence with knowledge of economic principles.

Faulkner Uses Softer Touch in His Writing.

"The Unvanquished," by William Faulkner. [Random, $2.50.] Published last Tuesday.

The south, but not the south of his previous spine-shivering tales, is the background of William Faulkner's latest book. A south that was too busy fighting the Yankees to have much time for lust in the swamps and murder in the woodpile is Mr. Faulkner's theme here. The rare cruelties, horrors, and depravities in its pages are only an integral part of the war.

The stories, which make one continuous tale of the last years of the civil war and the early carpetbagger days, are ostensibly told by Bayard Sartoris, a boy as the book opens, a young law student as it closes. They recall dramatic incidents, some of them [believe it or not of William Faulkner] amusing. The delicate skill with which Granny managed to steal mules from the Union army, sell them back, and resteal them [by forging requisitions in the commanding general's name] works up to a real climax of humor. But eventually Granny meets her fate and the old Faulkner touch comes into its own when, after months of tracking down her murderer, his severed hand is laid upon her grave as a tribute.

There is much real beauty of writing in these pages, a subtle understanding of the character of both white and black men and women. The pages which describe the Negroes' ecstatic march toward "the river Jordan" are epic and memorable. "The Unvanquished" may well be a shock to Faulkner readers—but because it isn't shocking to their sensibilities!

First Six Volumes of Ellen Glasgow Works.

"The Virginia Edition of the Works of Ellen Glasgow." [Scribners, to be completed in 12 vols., $144.]

The first six volumes of a beautiful limited edition of the works of Ellen Glasgow have just come from the press. "Barren Ground," "The Miller of Old Church," "Vein of Iron," "The Sheltered Life," "Romantic Comedians," and "They Stooped to Folly" remind us anew of the deeply rooted, true quality of the work of this one of America's great women novelists. In them Ellen Glasgow has interpreted both lightly and in compelling seriousness the essential reality of her native state, its people and their psychology. For this handsome edition she has written special introductions to each book. Only 810 copies will be printed directly from type which then will be destroyed. The copies are all numbered and vol. 1 of each set is signed by Miss Glasgow.

Looking Over Latest Books

This Author's First Book Published 50 Years Ago.

"Eight Decades," by Agnes Repplier. [Houghton, Mifflin, $3.]

Agnes Repplier published her first book fifty years ago, and in the intervening years eighteen others have earned for her a distinguished reputation as essayist. At 80 she has summarized the achievements of a long and honored life into eight little sketches which introduce this selection of those of her essays which she likes best.

Although she is one of the last of our eminent Victorians, these are not the lavender and old lace which are so often justly associated with the women writers of the last century. Miss Repplier, indeed, has satirized that school in one of her most pungent excursions, "The Perils of Immortality," while elsewhere she pays the respects, which are their due, to the solid virtues of the Victorians.

She wades into ideas and aspects of life with clear sight, unshrinking courage, and masterful style, whether she is writing about the world war, Horace, or the grocer's cat, and with that gift for apt quotation which has become almost a lost art. R. P. MacF.

More Research on John Wilkes Booth.

"This One Mad Act," by Izola Forrester. [Hale, Cushman & Flint, $3.]

More evidence on the intriguing possibility that John Wilkes Booth, Lincoln's assassin, was not shot to death on the Garrett plantation in Virginia, but escaped and lived in exile for many years, is offered in this interesting report of research and family history by Booth's granddaughter, Izola Forrester.

Since 1908 Miss Forrester has pursued the legend and here are her major conclusions: that Booth's crime—"This One Mad Act"—was instigated by the secret order of Knights of the Golden Circle, and that the murderer was not killed by the Union sergeant, Boston Corbett, in the eerie light of the burning tobacco warehouse. Booth fled, she is convinced, and lived until 1879.

Many documents and letters are submitted by the author, but her best witness is an oldster in a remote California valley who knew intimately the man called Thomas Jerome, who may have been Booth. It's an engrossing tale as Miss Forrester tells it. P. W.

Here's an Invitation to Explore Florida.

"So This Is Florida," by Frank Parker Stockbridge and John Holliday Perry. [McBride, $2.50.]

It's not a guide book, not a history, not an economic survey of Florida, but enough of all to make the reader want to explore Florida for himself, according to the publishers. "So This Is Florida" does cover the peninsula state thoroughly, telling the reader what you can find there and how and where to look for it. The book has picturesque end paper maps and sixty-three full page illustrations.

The authors in 1925 published a book, "Florida in the Making," which had a large sale. The present volume, it is pointed out, answers a demand for a book which will present an accurate picture of the Florida of today as it has emerged from the collapse of its own speculative real estate boom and the subsequent nation-wide depression. J. M. Barrie Pictured in Tender Portraits.

"J. M. Barrie: An Appreciation," by Prof. James A. Roy. [Scribners, $2.75.]

This book about a gentle, sensitive, shy, and sympathetic English writer is like a series of kindly portraits. There are glimpses of his childhood, his youth, his years as a student at Edinburgh; there are sketches of him at work as a journalist and contributor to magazines in London, and many views of him with his mother, who had a most extraordinary influence on his entire life, and with Stevenson, although the two knew each other only through correspondence.

Prof. Roy does not attempt a critical estimate of Barrie's work. His biography is simply a tender and lovingly penned account of the life of the creator of "Sentimental Tommy," "The Little Minister," and "Peter Pan." E. W.

This Offers a Respite for the Weary Reader.

"The Jester's Reign," by Boyne Grainger. [Carrick & Evans, $2.50.]

The cosmic phenomena began with the Laughing Sound. It traveled across the earth from east to west, a tickling, joyous outburst that seemed to come from the clouds. Every one below laughed and did ridiculous things. A zookeeper ran and stared at his hyena. And the next day there were two more phenomena. This volume dips liberally into the journal of Mr. Roger Ergo and takes the reader behind the scenes to watch the doings of the jovial young undergods. There is blessed respite here for the weary reader. C. L.

An Inside Story on Robbery by Mail.

"Robbery by Mail," by Karl Baarslag. [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.50.]

Most of us are suckers. Have you ever felt an urge to answer one of those offers of riches overnight? It is possible that a reading of Karl Baarslag's "Robbery by Mail," in which he writes of the mail frauds exposed by the United States postal inspectors, will help you decide that your money is better spent where you can see what you are buying. Queen Victoria and Her Times Live in 4 Books

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

"Victoria's Guardian Angel," by Pierre Crabites. [Dutton, $3.]

"Ladies and Gentlemen of Victorian Fiction," by E. M. Delafield. [Harpers, $2.50.]

"Lucie Duff Gordon," by Gordon Waterfield. [Dutton, $3.75.]

"Mr. Witt Among the Rebels," by Ramon J. Sender. [Houghton-Mifflin, $2.50.]

Long a favorite subject for biographers Queen Victoria, England's great 19th century ruler, and the pattern of life she molded for her subjects, comprise the background of four recent books.

Pierre Crabites believes Victoria's great success as a queen came largely from the influence of the German doctor, Baron Christian Friedrich Stockmar, who was her friend and counsellor from the days of her childhood. He makes out a good case for the baron in "Victoria's Guardian Angel."

Not as a prude, but for political expediency, the baron impressed on Victoria and her consort that the private life of an English sovereign must be impeccable if the people are to retain their loyalty to the throne. His insistence on a harsh, stern set of morals and ethics for the court, Crabites feels, was responsible for this culture becoming the historical hallmark of the Victorian era.

Any one familiar with the works of E. M. Delafield, the "Provincial Lady," is not surprised to find her interest in the Victorian domestic scene. Miss Delafield looks back on that austere time with kindly tolerance and amusement.

She has collected in "Ladies and Gentlemen in Victorian Fiction," scenes from the lesser known novelists of the period, to illustrate the minor aspects of the Victorian life. For the lover of the Victorian tradition her book will be refreshing.

Against an age of mediocrity, Lucie Duff Gordon stands out as a 20th century modern. A brilliant and beautiful woman, she had no patience with the conventions of Victoria. Her spirit of independence and passionate sense of justice for oppressed peoples are enough to place her high among the great women of history.

The story of Lucie Duff Gordon is now told completely for the first time by her great-grandson, Gordon Waterfield. It is an intensely interesting, sympathetic, perceptive book.

Mr. Witt was a cautious, conservative Englishman, who yet believed that the rebels at Cartagena in 1873 were right. But Mr. Witt, who saw history being made from his Spanish balcony, didn't do anything about it. He preferred to watch. He is the do-nothing liberal of Victorian times.

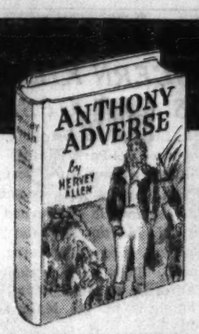

His character becomes a subtle mockery of England's historic attitude in the pen of Ramon J. Sender, one of the finest modern Spanish writers. He has written a well formed novel about Mr. Witt, and his beautiful and fiery Spanish wife.

ICKES ASKS FUND TO OVERSHADOW BATH PUBLICITY

Seeks $50,000 to Set Up New Bureau.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes today asked congress for $50,000 for a new publicity division in his department because he has been unable to make the front page of newspapers with anything except his office bath tub.

He made the request to the house appropriations committee at a hearing on the interior department appropriations bill.

"The people are entitled to know what we are doing," Ickes told the committee, "and a great many of our activities do not make the newspapers. They put in only one bath tub when they built the building, and it will last for a long time. Therefore we cannot hope to make the front page on a new bath tub for a long time to come."

Refers to Senate Incident.

Secretary Ickes apparently was referring to an incident in the senate Jan. 14 when Senator Josiah W. Bailey [D., N. C.] quoted from a book called "America's Sixty Families," which Ickes had cited approvingly in a previous speech.

Bailey evoked merriment when he quoted a passage in the book which said that bathing is a frequent ceremony in upper class life and, à la Freud, marks a feeling of guilt.

"I would not care to impeach the secretary of the interior with the suggestion that he bathes," Senator Bailey said, "but I have read that when his office was built he required a private bath, constructed in blue marble and finished in gold."

Seeks to Comb Bureaus.

In his request today for publicity funds Ickes said many activities of the interior department are of interest to the people, especially in the western part of the country.

"Are we going to have the same sort of propaganda machine in your department that is running in the department of agriculture?" asked Representative Robert F. Rich [R., Pa.].

"No," Ickes replied. "I don't think we could ever become so expert."

He said that the $50,000 would be used for an information division in which the personnel of several existing agencies would be consolidated. The bill calls for no reduction in the other press divisions of the department.

HAROLD TEEN—SHADOW HAS 'EM CATALOGUED

GEN. CRAIG ARRAYED IN A SELF-DESIGNED UNIFORM FOR PARTY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Gen. Malin Craig, chief of staf, wore the only self-designed uniform permitted in the army at President Roosevelt's reception for the army and navy last night. Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, laughingly said he was jealous as a crowd gathered around Gen. Craig. Admiral Leahy wore the regulation full dress uniform for the rank of admiral.

Gen. Craig's new uniform has a double breasted coat of midnight blue with gold embroidery and touches of velvet at the cuff and collar, but it lacked a lemon yellow sash which did not arrive in time for the party. Arrangement of the buttons in groups of four denotes the rank of general.

HITS ROOSEVELT FOR SELLING HIS PRESS RECORDS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's sale of his press conference records led Representative Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.] to ask today whether the nation soon would be seeing the President's name in cigaret advertisments.

Criticizing Mr. Roosevelt during consideration of the $124,988,730 interior department appropriation bill, Hoffman told the house the President had sold his manuscripts to a syndicate for $100,000.

"Using his presidential office as his advertising agency—and this without cost to him personally—the President retains a monopoly and prevents those who are engaged in the business of reporting and writing from using their information," Hoffman said.

SENATE AWARDS A KENTUCKY TVA DAM TO BARKLEY

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—The services of President Roosevelt's "Dear Alben" Barkley [D., Ky.], majority leader of the senate, were rewarded handsomely today when the senate approved an appropriation of $2,763,000 to begin construction on a new $112,000,000 TVA dam in Kentucky.

The senate later passed without a record vote the bill making appropriations of $1,422,069,465 for the independent agencies and establishments of the federal government.

The amendment providing for the beginning of construction on the Gilbertsville dam, 20 miles from the mouth of the Tennessee river, was approved after Senator Barkley pledged himself to do all in his power to put the $310,000,000 porkless flood control act of 1936 back on a straight pork basis. This promise inspired so much support for the $112,000,000 Gilbertsville dam that the opposition could not even force a roll call vote.

Approved by Acclamation.

Gilbertsville went in by acclamation, and the senate almost repealed by acclamation and without having a bill before it the provision of the 1936 flood control act requiring local contributions on all federally constructed projects.

Both the appropriations committee of the house and the house itself had rejected the Gilbertsville dam as being unjustifiable, whether from the standpoint of power, navigation, or flood control.

At the request of the administration, however, the senate appropriations committee put in an item of $2,763,000 for the beginning of construction, and this was what the senate approved today. Now it remains to be seen what happens to Gilbertsville in conference.

The senate's action, however, was at least a tentative victory of great moment for Senator Barkley, whom the President fondly addresses as "Dear Alben" and whose job in the senate is seriously threatened by the candidacy of A. B. [Happy] Chandler, Kentucky's crooning governor.

Flood Control Need Denied.

The Gilbertsville dam had been assailed by Senators Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich] and John E. Miller [D., Ark.], who said it was not needed for flood control because the seven other TVA dams on the Tennessee river will keep its waters out of the Ohio and the Mississippi.

They argued that the dam, if used for flood control, would be worthless as a navigation project, because when dams are emptied to prepare for flood waters they do not serve the purposes of navigation.

As a power project, the senators argued, the dam is wholly unjustified because the TVA already has a superabundance of power and is having to dispose of it to private utilities and huge industrial corporations.

Senator Bennett C. Clark [D., Mo.] raised a new argument today when he said there was no justification for building dams in the Tennessee valley without local contributions while requiring local communities in all other parts of the country to provide the easements, rights-of-way, and land for federal flood control projects. A total of 400,000 acres of land will be flooded by the Gilbertsville reservoir at a cost of $38.50, or more than $15,000,000, for the land.

Senator Norris Agrees.

Senator George W. Norris [Radical, Neb.], father of the TVA, agreed with Senator Clark and offered to vote to repeal the provision of the 1936 flood control act requiring local contributions.

Senator Clark thereupon served notice of his intention to offer a bill repealing the requirement for local contributions, and Senator Barkley promised his support.

Senator Kenneth D. McKellar [D., Tenn.], Senator Lister Hill [D., Ala.], and others joined in the clamor against local contributions for flood control, and Senator Royal S. Copeland [D., N. Y.], author of the porkless flood control bill, saw it drifting to destruction on the Tennessee river.

Flushed with the victory on the Gilbertsville project, Senator McKellar offered an amendment to put all attorneys and experts receiving $5,000 or more a year from the independent agencies on a patronage basis, requiring senate confirmation. The patronage coup was put over without further difficulty after McKellar accepted an amendment by Senator Norris to exempt the TVA. Norris then obtained approval of an amendment increasing the appropriation for the rural electrification administration from $31,639,000 to $41,639,000.

The senate also approved a committee amendment eliminating the so-called item veto provision contained in the house bill. This provision gave President Roosevelt authority to eliminate or reduce, by executive order, any appropriation or appropriations made by the act or any act or joint resolution, whenever, after investigation, the President finds such action will aid in balancing the budget or in reducing the public debt.

Other Items in Bill.

Some of the larger items in the independent offices appropriation bill are $329,300,000 for the social security board, for salaries and expenses, grants to states for old age assistance, dependent children, aid for the blind, unemployment compensation administration, etc.; $40,000,000 for the TVA; $547,917,500 for the veterans' administration; $120,465,000 for the railroad retirement board, and $303,160 for the executive office, including salaries of $75,000 for the President and $15,000 for the Vice President.

The senate later passed the first deficiency appropriation bill of 1938, carrying $28,089,027 for various departments and agencies of the federal government.

MRS. MAE SANDER.

Since last March 30 Ernest Sander, 41 years old, a commission merchant, and his wife, Mae, 38, have been occupying separate sections of their home at 229 Franklin avenue, River Forest. Yesterday Judge Michael Feinberg made the arrangement permanent.

He granted Mrs. Sander a divorce and $25 a week on the ground of cruelty. Sander denied all the charges save one. He admitted he struck his wife once in a restrained manner to oblige with grounds for divorce when she said she wanted a separation.

Mrs. Sander's attorney, Norman Becker, explained that the home is owned in joint tenancy. Their daughter, Margery, 19, also lives there. Beside using only one side of the house, Sander must eat no meals at home.

SEEKS TO LEGALIZE HOUSING COMPANIES RUN LIKE UTILITIES

A bill to authorize public utility housing companies patterned after the gas, electric, and street railway utilities is being prepared and will be submitted to the Illinois legislature at its next session.

The measure, designed to attract private capital to the low cost housing field, will be sponsored by the National Association of Real Estate Boards, Herbert U. Nelson, executive vice president of the association, said yesterday at the city council's housing congress in the city hall.

Such companies would have the right to issue stocks and bonds for financing, he explained. They would be authorized to purchase, own, operate, and sell real estate.

Coleman Woodbury, director of the National Association of Housing Officials, and Allan C. William, secretary of the Illinois state housing board, urged special state and municipal legislation to enable a long range housing program to get started.

Tracking the Mink

February 26, 1938.

ONE of the animals most sought by the Chicagoland trapper is the mink, that semi-aquatic furbearer whose pelt [when prime] usually brings a good price. Men who set trap lines each winter never overlook a spot near a stream or pond which provides a good runway for mink.

The snow track of the mink is rather easy to identify, although the presence of a common ferret in mink country is apt to cause some confusion inasmuch as the footprints of the two are somewhat similar. But the trails made by these animals are different in this respect: the mink never travels for any distance without showing at least three tracks in the jump picture, the ferret invariably makes four foot impressions in the snow. Until a ferret was trapped on the Yorkville experimental farm a few winters ago we hadn't realized that its tracks might be mistaken for those of a mink.

A Water Animal

The hind foot of a mink is about 2½ to 2¾ inches long. The front foot is shorter and rounder in form. When the animal travels in good tracking snow the five nails on the hind feet usually are well defined. Another help in identifying the mink track is that usually the animal will follow a watercourse.

A mink is an excellent swimmer, almost as skilful as an otter in catching fish. It is nothing for one of these animals to take to the water to get a meal. We have caught these furbearers by making sets on small grassy bars in the middle of a stream . . . a natural place for a mink to come out of the water. Sometimes we found it advisable to set a trap under the water near the bank. By taking a piece of meat and impaling it on a stick so that the bait would hang over the trap it was easy to attract the mink.

A mink was caught on the Wheaton farm early in the winter on a set near a small stream. Later another similar set caught one of these furbearers, but it managed to get away.

Raids Barnyards

Although the mink is fond of water and a large part of its food consists of frogs, fish, crayfish and even muskrats, it preys upon land animals, too. It will tackle anything from a common house rat or a rabbit to a chicken. It is too bad for the farmer once a mink learns how easy it is to pick off turkeys, chickens, guinea hens or other fowls in a barnyard. The animal will settle down near the barnyard to enjoy its favorite foods . . . blood and brains from a freshly killed fowl. Although a mink often is very destructive in this way it usually is more moderate than the weasel.

AMENDING THE CONSTITUTION.

In the present era of organized discontent, it was inevitable that another effort would be made to change the method of amending the constitution. There are several propositions to this end now before congress, the most prominent of which is Senator Norris' joint resolution 134, which is now under consideration by a subcommittee of the senate judiciary committee.

The amendment to be submitted to the people provides that Article V. of the constitution be repealed; that congress, when two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments which shall become a part of the constitution when ratified by popular vote in each of two-thirds of the several states.

It is further provided that each proposed amendment shall be submitted to the electors of each state at the next general election after the date the amendment is proposed by vote of congress; except that if the next general election in any state is within sixty days, the amendment shall not be submitted until the next succeeding general election. Each state shall conduct the election and determine the result as the law of the state provides or if there is no such law, as congress shall provide. Congress shall have power to prescribe the form in which the question of ratification shall be submitted.

If a majority of the electors voting in the state on any amendment vote for the amendment, such state shall be deemed to have ratified.

But no state without its consent shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the senate.

The new article is to apply only to amendments proposed after the ratification of the article.

The purpose of this new method of amending the fundamental law of the land is to make it easier and quicker to change that law. The amendment was formulated, we may assume, and introduced by a senator who has for many years exhibited his discontent with the American system of government and favored the progressive development of a collectivist society. It has the support of the régime now in power, which has undertaken to transform the system of government under which the American people live, has attempted to deprive the Supreme court of its independence, to absorb all power in the hands of the executive, to centralize authority in the federal government, to disparage the independence of the states and sweepingly extend government supervision over the citizen and his enterprise.

This is the way to the totalitarian state. It is blocked by the constitution.

We have given the background of Senator Norris' proposal and the ultimate destination he and his allies intend. The American people and their representatives in congress should give this background and this destination consideration before action is taken. It is assumed by some well meaning people that the constitution should be more readily changed, that the process of amendment has been too difficult and tardy. We shall discuss that theory and also the expediency of the provisions of the Norris amendment. But no wise judgment upon this effort can be reached without recognizing the purpose that effort is intended to further.

WHY NOT JON?

THE TRIBUNE'S dislike of the chaos known as spelling has no doubt caused a good deal of amusement among our readers and its mild experiment in spelling reform perhaps as much irritation as approval. We don't mind the irritation, for it often produces thinking and leads to some desirable changes in our ways. With this in view, we ask why in h the h in John?

John is a great name. Mr. Mencken, in his invaluable work, "The American Language," says that "John remains the favorite given name among native Americans today, as it has been among people of British stock since the Norman conquest." This in spite of the fact that it got a very bad advertisment in the person of King John. One might have thought that Richard would have displaced John permanently as the favorite name, as its great bearer, Richard the Lion Heart, has certainly been the most romantic of heroes among English kings. But John has always led Richard as a name in England as well as America. Mr. Mencken says that John was so much of a favorite that it was sometimes necessary to qualify, quoting a will in 1545 of one John de Gyrton, as follows: "Alice, my wife, and Old John, my son, to occupy my farm together till Old John marries; Young John, my son, shall have Brenlay's land." And Mr. Mencken cites from his own knowledge "an American family of German descent, in which it was an immemorial custom to name every son John."

But why John? Why not Jon? The Century Dictionary of Names gives Jon as a variant in early modern English and it is familiar in some European languages. Think, we beg you, how much time and ink would have been saved through all these centuries if Jon had taken our fancy instead of John.

Of course, it might have been worse. John has other forms, the Latin Johannes or Joannes, Old French Johan or Jehan, which has sensibly become Jean, Italian Giovanni, German Johannes, Hebrew Yohanan or Yehokhanan. The Spanish have something on us with Juan, but Jon would have passed them.

So when admiring parents are casting about for the perfect name for the perfect child, the marvelous, the unprecedented, unsurpassable infant, let them consider Jon.

THE COAL VICTORY.

The effort of the national bituminous coal commission to raise the price of fuel throughout the country has been defeated for the present, at least. The commission has been forced to junk all the 30,000 items in the price schedule which went into effect on Dec. 16.

This is welcome news in Illinois, which had no representation on the commission and was treated accordingly. Miners in this state were thrown out of work, mine operators had their markets taken from them, and consumers were deprived of their natural advantage of proximity to efficient mines.

THE TRIBUNE takes pride in having led in the exposure of the injustice and the fight against it. In news articles and editorials it was shown that the commission was not what it purported to be, an independent, nonpartisan, technically competent board. Instead it was and is an agency set up in the fashion best calculated to serve certain private interests.

Investigation disclosed that the commissioners were hand picked to do what John Lewis in alliance with the Pennsylvania Democratic machine wanted done. That went far to explain the discrimination against Illinois, for in this state Lewis' hold on the organized miners is far from complete. The commission was playing his game when it set an arbitrarily high price on Illinois coal and thus threw out of employment thousands of miners who had refused to follow him into the C. I. O. Robbing Illinois mines of their natural markets meant punishment for the men Lewis regarded as rebels and punishment, as well, for the mine operators who employed these miners. It meant, also, a reward for miners and mine operators in other areas who humbly took their orders.

The disclosure of such corrupt purposes destroyed whatever moral authority the board might have had. Appeals to the courts for injunctions against the commission's prices followed and were successful. Hearings disclosed the arbitrary manner in which the commission had performed its tasks.

Now it is announced that the commission is going to start anew to fix the price of fuel. Evidently an attempt will be made to conceal the grosser evidences of rough work. This time, perhaps, the commission will go through the motions of being judicially impartial. In consequence, the discriminations may prove to be less glaring; but only the naïve will expect a commission controled as this one is by Lewis, Guffey, and Pendergast to produce anything resembling a fair price structure and a fair distribution of markets.

In fact, even if the commissioners were all George Washingtons, they could not carry out their mandate and avoid grave injustices. Unfairness is implicit in the Guffey law scheme. Some mines in Illinois and other states are extremely economical producers. It is unfair to the men employed at these mines, unfair to the owners, and unfair above all to the customers to force the public to pay higher prices for coal than need be charged. To do so is to subsidize the inefficient and to penalize every one else.

Heat and power made from heat are employed in substantially every manufacturing process. Coal is a principal raw material of the transportation industry and of the steel industry. It is the principal domestic fuel and lights most of our houses and factories. It thus enters importantly at every point into the cost of living. It is fantastic to talk as they do in Washington of destroying monopolies and reducing the prices of manufactured articles and at the same time to set up a monopoly control of the coal industry and use the control to raise the price of this most essential of all raw materials.

The fight against the specific injustices of the Dec. 16 price schedules has been won, but the battle against the inherent injustice of government price fixing in the industry is still to be fought to its finish. The final victory will come when the Guffey act has been repealed. A bill to accomplish this purpose has been introduced in congress. It should be enacted before the commission does any further damage to the national economy.

Editorials of the Day

FUTILE, BUT BRAVE.

[Rockford Register-Republic.]

In the face of tragedy, human nature invariably reveals an unselfish bravery not suspected in the routine of everyday life.

This was graphically illustrated last week when fellow workers, forgetting any possible threat to their own safety, battled grimly in a vain effort to rescue two men trapped at the bottom of a WPA storm sewer excavation.

"We're going to get to those boys if we have to work a week without stopping," was the vow of one of the workers whose sole thought obviously was to proceed with the rescue without consideration of personal risk involved.

The cave-in which claimed the lives of two workers resulted when tons of earth crushed together the plank shoring in the 17 foot excavation. Rescue workers, confined in narrow quarters, were required to dig out the soil which was exerting its pressure against the broken shoring.

That there might have been a further collapse of tons of dirt or a new shifting in the temporary planking which protected them apparently never occurred to the inspired rescue squad.

General belief that the men would be dead when found in no way lessened the speed of workers, who kept on until the bodies of both victims were released.

VAST ARMY OF READERS.

[Illinois State Journal.]

Dr. Guy Thomas Buswell of the University of Chicago has completed a three-year investigation of the reading habits of 1,000 average adults. His report, "How Adults Read," showed that nearly all adults read newspapers, 91 per cent of them regularly, while 41 per cent regularly read magazines, and 34 per cent read many books. Four per cent never read magazines, and 23 per cent never read books.

Dr. Buswell's findings cannot be regarded as startling, particularly concerning newspapers. It has been taken for granted that almost every one reads newspapers, but it is nevertheless interesting to see this belief substantiated so strongly by this survey.

This general acceptance of the daily press as a medium of news, entertainment and shopping information emphasizes the importance of the newspaper in American life and the need to keep it free from government control and possible censorship.

At the same time it is a striking testimonial to the energy of American journalism. In a world full of so many distractions, the newspaper continues to hold its own, and this at a time when prophets of doom predict the printed paper will give way to radio dissemination of news.

Poet's Return.

An interesting—and unacclaimed—return to Chicago is that of George Dillon, whose early verse, "The Flowering Stone" and "Boy in the Wind," are treasured volumes on poetry lovers' shelves. Dillon spent a year or two in Europe on a Guggenheim poetry scholarship, and lived in Richmond for a time after his return to this country. He is occupying the hallowed chair of the late Harriet Monroe, editing Poetry Magazine. Now in his 30s, we remember seeing him first at a party Meyer Levin gave for Louis Golding, looking, with his wide-set eyes and waving dark hair, exactly as one would expect a young poet to look.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

If I were given unlimited choice
Of the animal world for household pets,
I'd certainly pick me an elephant,
Because an elephant never forgets.

I'd teach him to trumpet two longs and a short
To remind me of Uncle Zeke's natal day,
While two shorts and a long would serve to recall
Each notable date in the life of Aunt Mae.

I'd teach him to point with an uplifted foot
On the morning the hall clock is almost run down,
And to tie up his trunk in a double knot
Whenever I'm told to bring toothpaste from town.

I'd teach him to fan me by wiggling his ears
As a warning the gas bill is ten days past due,
But he needn't remind me of things I do wrong,
Because there I can safely depend upon you.

Medals, Stars, and Ribbons.

Chicago's most decorated citizen is Ira Nelson Morris, who, upon state occasions, can muster a dazzling array of orders awarded by the governments of France, Sweden, Norway, Finland, Rumania, Italy, Persia, and India. Charles Gates Dawes and Chauncey McCormick each have been decorated five times, with the Distinguished Service medal for Mr. Dawes and the Croix de Guerre for Mr. McCormick included. Rufus C. Dawes and Charles S. Dewey have four decorations apiece. Mr. Dewey was given the Grand Cross Polonia Restituta for his work as financial adviser to Poland, during which time he instituted a tax reform system, and neighboring countries decorated him for similar services in connection with work on their national budgets. Col. Noble Brandon Judah has the D. S. M. and the Croix de Guerre with Palm, also the red ribbon of the Legion of Honor. The late Col. Tryggve Siqueland had been decorated by eleven countries.

THE SUM OF $42,000 IN CASH has lain in a Chicago bank vault since Mae West was here playing in "Diamond Lil" six years ago. She and her manager placed it there at that time on account of they couldn't come to a decision as to how it should be handled. Now that they both are in town simultaneously (she is appearing at the Palace) wonder if they will get it out of the vault.

Wanted—New Word.

The English language doesn't always keep pace with science—even its slanguage. Example: We still say "I hung up the receiver" or "He hung up on me"—although the idiom was pertinent only to the old days of the telephone receiver hook.

Cousin-in-Law to a Queen.

A cousin-in-law of Egypt's new young queen is spending a few days in Chicago, Mme. Giovanna Cattaui Paschia, a dark-eyed, raven-haired young Roman beauty. Queen Farida herself is a tiny blonde, the visitor said, and so is King Farouk. The true Egyptian type is white of skin and blue of eye, Mme. Cattaui (the Paschia is part of her title that goes along with the name) explained, and Queen Cleopatra, being dark, was not of pure Egyptian blood. Fauvette is the Egyptian queen's pet name—in case you care. Mme. Cattaui is related to Baron Tallarigo, the Italian vice consul in Chicago, and is here for a few days on her way west.

MISTAKE.

Once I thought if I could sing
It would pay for suffering.
Now I know that I was wrong:
Joy is better than a song.

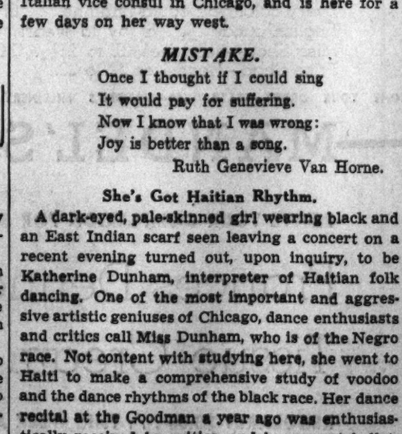

Ruth Genevieve Van Horne.

She's Got Haitian Rhythm.

A dark-eyed, pale-skinned girl wearing black and an East Indian scarf seen leaving a concert on a recent evening turned out, upon inquiry, to be Katherine Dunham, interpreter of Haitian folk dancing. One of the most important and aggressive artistic geniuses of Chicago, dance enthusiasts and critics call Miss Dunham, who is of the Negro race. Not content with studying here, she went to Haiti to make a comprehensive study of voodoo and the dance rhythms of the black race. Her dance recital at the Goodman a year ago was enthusiastically received by critics, and her recent ballet, "Fedré," at the Great Northern drew the dance fans of the city. Miss Dunham lives on the south side, and is an authority on the Haitian period when Henri Christophe was its black emperor.

EDWARD G. ROBINSON, the gangster of filmdom, never fails to visit the Chicago Art institute when he passes through town. He is crazy about the French Impressionists, and owns canvases by Van Gogh, Utrillo, Degas, and others. A Chicagoan paid $10,000 for a Picasso recently, and had he not taken it when he did Robinson would have snatched it. He also owns Grant Wood's "Daughters of the Revolution." Has it above the fireplace in a small library in his home in Beverly Hills, the only painting in the room.

SKIN DISORDERS OF CHILDREN.

COMFORT means everything to a baby. If a sense of smarting or burning exists he cannot tell where it hurts. Hence every child inclined to fuss should be examined thoroughly for signs of inflammation which may account for fretfulness.

Infants and young children are quite likely to develop skin eruptions subsequent to a digestive upset, the absorption of a toxin, or because of irritation of the outer surface of the body. In addition, some youngsters are exceedingly sensitive and will react to very small amounts of a noxious material.

There is a type of diaper rash which can be avoided if a little care is exercised. Wet or soiled wrappings may give rise to extreme roughening, even ulceration—particularly if the child is undernourished. The remedy is obvious. With each change the skin should be cleansed with soap and water. Any one of several antiseptic baby powders should then be dusted on. If the lesions are severe a mild ointment containing boric acid or ammoniated mercury [2 to 3 per cent] may be required.

Chafing is a frequent source of trouble. Here areas of cuticle which touch each other may become inflamed if perspiration, which may be excessive even in cold weather, is not removed. Again cleansing with soap and water, careful drying, and the application of a dusting powder will prove soothing. If there is considerable itching—and this may be determined by the baby's attitude—a bit of camphor added to the powder will serve to relieve the discomfort. Sometimes it is necessary to bandage a tender section with absorbent gauze.

Eczema is not only annoying, but it often presents one of the most intractable conditions afflicting childhood. It can manifest itself in a wide variety of aspects—from mild redness to thick, scaly, disfiguring crusts. The watery, gummy secretions which exude from these patches may offer a good culture bed for bacteria, and many sorts of infection may follow.

Inasmuch as some of these blemishes will be allergic in origin, we should look first to diet and clothing. Wheat, wool, or a score of other substances may be the exciting agents. Regardless of what is prescribed the ugly eruption will continue with little abatement unless the offending item is eliminated. Lotions and ointments may help, but they seldom cure.

We must bear in mind, also, that any general physical or digestive disturbance may be responsible. Attention, therefore, should be directed to the intestinal tract, and large quantities of water and fruit juices are advised. Occasionally a mild laxative, with supporting remedies such as cod liver oil and iron, will be beneficial.

Impetigo is so contagious that we may wonder when a child escapes. A red patch may appear near the mouth, on the chin, or the cheek, which soon turns into a watery blister. This becomes pus-like, later drying with a thick crust. Here is an actual infection which, if not recognized promptly, will spread to other parts of the body.

Cleanliness supplies both prevention and cure. Every spot must be well scrubbed with soap and water, then covered with a 2 to 5 per cent ammoniated mercury ointment. Those with the disease should be separated completely from children who are not affected. No dishes, eating utensils, or towels should be used in common. Boiling of all underclothing and dry cleaning of outer garments must be insisted upon, as ordinary methods are not adequate. The causative organism—whatever it is—is most resistant to routine methods of disinfection.

We should, of course, keep in mind certain parasites such as the itch mite [scabies], and the annoyance caused by head lice. But these rarely bother young children unless brought into the home by older brothers and sisters.

A leaflet telling how to get rid of both scabies and head lice will be sent on request if a stamped and addressed return envelope is inclosed.

BETTER BE EXAMINED.

F. A. writes: Why do I get a pain in the hollow of my chest which compels me to stop when I walk about 2 blocks against a very mild wind? I am 54 years old; don't drink or smoke.

REPLY.

Pain in the chest after effort may be due to some circulatory disturbance, simulating angina. Have your doctor check up on your heart and arteries.

MORE REST ADVISED.

E. A. writes: What causes brain fatigue? Would hot baths help?

REPLY.

Fatigue, as a rule, is a reaction from the entire body. More rest, sleep, and improved nutrition are advised. Warm baths are relaxing and helpful as sleep promoters.

LARGE SPIRITED "L" RIDER.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—A few inconsiderate north side "L" riders complain about the North Shore and Milwaukee railroad using the elevated tracks through the city. They assume that the "L" structure was built solely for urban trains and say the present arrangement stands them on each other's feet, if not their ears.

As civic hosts to North Shore commuters, we ought to show a kindlier attitude. Why not smile and wave hospitably at them as they roll luxuriously homeward with some empty seats? These North Shorers are nice, smart people, escaping many vexatious conditions common to city dwellers. For one, I'd salute them as they speed past, if I could raise a hand without losing some skin on the buttons and gadgets of our compressed fellowship.

And what a fellowship we have! United we stand and only the falling apart of our famed Columbian arks could separate us. How well we get to know each other's contours and what we ate or drank during the past hour or two! On curves we embrace, to gaze into strange eyes and dental cavities with all the ardor of bosom friends. Involuntarily, of course. We, too, are nice people!

Don't let's be envious of our suburban guests as they flash by in isolated splendor; if we could look past the ears of an impacted neighbor, we might see them seated in lonely stellar spaces, as compared to our jolly sardineship. And we are jolly. Where else but on the Howard L's do such diverse and thrilling intimacies leaven the daily grind?

H. L. ENGLES.

INSIDE VIEW OF INDIANA DEMOCRACY.

Culver, Ind., Feb. 23.—I heartily indorse and approve your brief editorial entitled "The Issue in Indiana." It was good. It is right.

But the editorial strikes me as positively naïve. Being next door neighbors you should know your Hoosiers better. You just don't know [or you do not properly reckon with] Democracy as it exists in Indiana. It is Democracy with a very large and special D, thanks to the 2 per cent [or 4 per cent] club. The Democratic organization as it exists in this state is air tight, iron clad, and puncture-proof. And with Mr. Van Nuys' case before the Democratic state convention, he is automatically convicted without trial. I've attended many Indiana Democratic state conventions. I do not speak from hearsay.

I admire the energetic manner in which the worthy senator is shooting at them. I am for him. But you can mark my word, and set me down for a fool and a crêpe hanger in a worthy cause, if Mr. Van Nuys is not politically as dead as a dodo. I have never seen any demonstration of divine intervention at an Indiana political powwow, and only an act of God can save the senior senator. God makes our trees, but he does not make our senators in Indiana.

A. R. MCKESSON.

FOR EQUALITY OF OPPORTUNITY.

Chicago, Feb. 21.—For the past several years I have ridden the Cottage Grove avenue surface line cars. Most of the time I stand while all around me I see street car men in uniform occupying seats. Of course, these deadheads never see any one standing up, for if not looking out of the windows they are deeply engrossed in papers left by fare paying passengers.

The person paying a fare is handicapped to this extent: He must get in line to pay his fare, get change, transfers, etc. The street car man can go in the front door and doesn't have to get in line.

Now I wouldn't want this deadhead to get up and give me a seat. But I am appealing to the sporting proclivities of the surface lines. Why not give the fare paying passenger an even break with the man who rides free? Make your deadheads observe the same rules as any one who pays his fare. L. K. S.

SELF-SPANKING PARAGON.

Chicago, Feb. 23.—Our baby spanks himself when he does anything wrong. He can pick out all the different animals in his books. He says a few words, such as ball, bye-bye, mama, and doggie. He walks just like a little man, which I think is the cutest thing he does. He's not bad looking, and has a very healthy color all the time. He loves the outdoors. To play with other children is his favorite hobby. He is just 15 months old.

The baby panda was a gift from China. Wouldn't you rather hear about our baby who is a gift from heaven?

BIG SISTER.

MEDITATION ON A NEW LAW.

Warren, Ill., Feb. 21.—I see that the Democrats are going to tell the farmers just when, what and how much crops are to be raised.

The corn-hog plan was tried and it seems as though the weather man butted in, and did he show us how crops could be cut short!

And now we seem to be headed for Russian conditions. Of course, it must be all right as the Democrats shout loud and long for freedom and personal liberty just before election.

Of course, if the farmer has a fine growing season and raises too much of anything, he can be shot. If the supply of farmers begins to get small, these sitdown strikers, under proletariat rule, can be forced to take their places, and the affairs of a perfect state proceed.

And if the crops are insufficient, other nations can ship things in and get our money with which to make bombs to blow us to pieces for our own good.

We happened to think of something! How is it that in a perfect place like Russia everybody cannot have the say-so as to who is to be shot instead of one person doing it all?

GEORGE U. WATSON.

THE MISUSE OF VENDING MACHINES.

Chicago, Feb. 21.—Various articles have appeared in the past few weeks regarding the misuse of merchandise vending machines near schools in the city of Chicago. It is the desire of the members of this association that you be informed of their position.

This association is opposed to the operation of any vending machines offering prizes or any other premium methods and, at a recent meeting, a resolution was passed condemning the operation of any machines in this manner.

This association was organized in 1930 and has been in continuous operation since that time. It adheres to a policy of maintaining a high standard in the sanitary dispensing of quality merchandise through vending machines without premiums or prizes of any kind. We are always glad to coöperate with the proper authorities in opposing and suppressing any misuse of vending machines.

President, Vending Machine Operators Association of Chicago.

CHILDREN ENDANGERED.

Chicago, Feb. 23.—With the hundreds of school children, including many as young as 5 years, crossing the busy intersection at Melrose and Broadway, I was shocked to discover today that there is [1] no policeman, [2] no WPA guard, [3] no schoolboy guard at this crossing which is adjacent to the Nettelhorst school. In fact, it was necessary for me to stop trafic in order that several children might get across the street.

From Across the Sea

BY EMILIO ROBERT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica.—A serious racial problem involving the color question is arising in Costa Rica. White inhabitants are making demands for a full investigation of the question with the object of finding a satisfactory solution.

Costa Ricans, unlike the inhabitants of neighboring republics in Central America, from the time of the Spanish colonization have rarely intermarried with the Indians who originally inhabited these lands. They have, therefore, to this day retained practically intact the purity of their original Spanish blood.

With the advent of the fruit growing industry, which was initiated by English and American pioneers some sixty years ago, hundreds of Negroes and their families were brought into the country, principally from Jamaica and other West Indian islands. Owing to the severe and unhealthy conditions under which the labor operates in swampy and intensely hot tropical zones, Costa Rican laborers had proved to be more susceptible to tropical diseases than the colored races.

To protect the social welfare of the white inhabitants in the interior a law was enacted by congress which prohibited colored persons from leaving the lower coastal zones for migration to the central plateaus.

With the passing of years, however, thousands of negroes born in the country and others who became naturalized as Costa Rican citizens now legally claim their constitutional rights of freedom, which consequently permits their unrestricted freedom to reside in any part of the country.

The number of Negroes in the country has increased vastly, and with the difficulty of obtaining work in the tropical zones it has become necessary for many of them to migrate to the interior provinces. The authorities, handicapped by ineffective legislation, are unable to restrict this movement. As a result Negroes are now becoming a common sight in the interior cities, where previously they were never seen.

Protests and demands for the adoption of protective measures by the government are consequently being made by the white population, which asserts that apart from creating competition in the labor field prevailing conditions also are considered a menace to future generations.

The authorities are studying the problem with the object of securing a more effective manner by which control may be satisfactorily maintained.

Gay Week-End for Chicagoans Still at Home

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE week-end promises to be unusually gay for a mid-winter one, made gayer by the return of many travelers and the arrival of several out of town guests. Several parties have been planned, too, among them a Gay '90s costume ball tonight at the Cliff Dwellers, and a champaign punch party at the Tavern from 1 until 3 o'clock tomorrow.

Among the travelers returning are Mr. and Mrs. William A. P. Watkins who are arriving in Lake Forest tomorrow after three weeks in Mexico. Mr. Watkins' cousin, William A. P. Pullman, and Mrs. Pullman, are having two of the week-end visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Reed of Greenwich, Conn., who are arriving today from their winter home in Hobe Sound, Fla.

The Pullmans are giving a tea this afternoon for their guests. In past years Mr. and Mrs. Pullman and their children have gone to Hobe Sound for a winter holiday, but they haven't made plans for going south this year.

Away for the week-end are Mr. and Mrs. Nelson L. Barnes Jr. [Clarice Hamill], the junior Orville Elias Babcocks, and his brother, Bruce Babcock. They are skiing at the Dells in Wisconsin.

A group arriving for the week-end in New Orleans today in time for the colorful Mardi gras festivities includes the Thomas J. Flemings, Dr. and Mrs. Robert S. Berghoff, and Dr. and Mrs. Bradley Downing. They have been on a three weeks' Caribbean cruise on board the Veendam and are on their way home.

Howard Peabodys Return from Mexico.

The Howard Peabodys are arriving today from a Mexican holiday. The B. Botsford Youngs have just said good-by to a visitor from Indianapolis, Frederick Matson Jr., Mrs. Young's cousin, who is Mexico bound.

The Russell P. Kelleys are coming today from Sarasota, Fla., where they have been visiting her parents, the Stanley Fields. The J. Beach Clows are returning tomorrow from Florida where they visited her parents, the Horace E. Newcomets. Mr. and Mrs. Newcomet and the Clow children came home earlier this week.

The Ambrose C. Cramers will arrive tomorrow from South Carolina, bringing with them news of Mr. Cramer's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James G. K. McClure Jr., whom they visited in North Carolina en route north. The Kent S. Clows will arrive on Monday or Tuesday from Pasadena. The Angus Hibberds are leaving tomorrow for Rancho Linda Vista, near Tucson, Ariz., for their usual spring visit.

Tavern to Dedicate New Foyer Tomorrow.

The Tavern's punch party is being held in addition to the club's usual Sunday Tally-ho breakfast, to dedicate the club's new foyer.

Philip B. Maher designed and executed the brilliant new entrance hall that will be a center of attention tomorrow. Bright Chinese red is on the walls; dull stainless steel fashions the door; the counter is of walnut, and the Tavern's seal in black and white is in the center of the floor. Alfred MacArthur was reëlected president of the Tavern at the annual meeting Thursday, and Mr. Maher was elected assistant treasurer.

Cliff Dwellers to Hold Gay '90s Party.

Carter H. Harrison is to lead the grand march at the Cliff Dwellers' ball tonight, "wearing the identical hat in which he received Prince Henry and slew the gray wolves," according to the invitations, and the marching club, in full regalia of Prince Alberts and plug hats, will parade to "Freddie Stock's Silver Cornet band."

At the high class bar, installed for the evening, there will be suds on

New Company Has Troubled Opera Debut

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Although dogged by ill luck almost up to curtain time, the newly organized American Opera company succeeded last evening in getting onto the boards of the Auditorium its scheduled performances of "Pagliacci" and "Cavalleria Rusticana."

Because of disagreements, illnesses, and all of the other difficulties which follow the opera business as gulls a ship, the scheduled conductor [Jerzy Bojanowski], a tenor [Louis Jacobi], and a baritone [Milo Luca] were absent from the roster. Alexander Aster directed "Pagliacci" and Silvio Insana "Cavalleria."

Enrico Clausi took the part of Jacobi and Ben Landesman the two which had been assigned to Luca. The first named was notified only yesterday afternoon.

When all this has been explained it is hardly necessary to remark that the performance [especially of the first act of "Pagliacci"] fell considerably below professional standards. The lack of routining and of a sufficient number of full rehersals was quite apparent.

Among the interesting features of the evening was a debut by Frances Glickman, young Chicago school teacher, in the rôle of Nedda. She acquitted herself creditably. There was some fresh and stimulating chorus singing in "Cavalleria." The costuming of that piece, too, calls for a bravo for the person responsible.

The "Pagliacci" cast follows: Nedda, Frances Glickman; Canio, Henry Thompson; Tonio, Ben Landesman; Beppo, Giuseppe Cavadore; Silvio, Luigi La Monoco. And for "Cavalleria": Santuzza, Myrtle Stolt; Lola, Lillian Padorr; Lucia, Jeanette Barron; Turiddu, Enrico Clausi; Alfio, Ben Landesman. The evening was a benefit for Erie Neighborhood house and the performances boasted a good sized and friendly audience.

Undismayed by its birth pangs, the American Opera company is cheerily planning further activities—an outdoor season next summer.

Robert L. Sanders, Chicago composer, conductor, organist and teacher, has been announced as co-winner with Charles Haubiel of the $500 prize offered by the Philharmonic-Symphony society of New York for a short symphonic work by a native composer. He had submitted a little symphony in G minor. Chicago born and 31 years old, Mr. Sanders distinguished himself in 1925 when he was awarded the American Prix de Rome. His "Tragic Muse" has been performed by the Chicago Symphony orchestra with the composer conducting.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Cleansing pads—those little rounds of cotton saturated in cream or cleansing lotions—are simply tumbling into this department. Hardly a day passes that a new brand doesn't come to light. There must be a demand to justify such a supply.

Business girls like them for freshening up quickly and efficiently during the day and they are excellent if you're traveling.

Some contain more astringent liquid than others. For the dry skinned sisterhood we recommend the ones with a good bit of oil in the cleansing mixture.

They're all inexpensive and almost all have little purse size containers to which you can transfer a day's supply from the larger jar.

C. K. Hutchins Takes Bride in Boston Today

A wedding at noon today in Brookline, Mass., is of interest to the hundreds of Chicago friends of the bridegroom, Chauncey Keep Hutchins, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Hutchins. Although a number of family friends have gone east to attend the ceremony, most of them will have to telegraph congratulations.

The pretty bride is Miss Polly Garritt Wardwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Eaton Wardwell of Brookline. She and Mr. Hutchins will repeat their wedding vows after the Rev. Dr. Phillips Endecott Osgood at Emmanuel church, which will be decorated with immense bouquets of Easter lilies for the occasion. A reception will follow at the Wardwell home.

The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, will wear a gown of white satin and carry a white prayer book instead of a bouquet. Her veil of rare Brussels lace will be caught with orange blossoms.

The gowns of all of her attendants, even the little flower girl, Anne Wardwell, a sister of the bride, will be identical, made of pink taffeta with high waists, puffed sleeves and full skirts. Their hats will be bonnets of dubonnet straw and instead of bouquets they will carry garlands of dubonnet carnations.

The bride's mother will wear a gown of deep bottle green with a matching straw hat, and Mrs. Hutchins will wear navy blue. Mrs. John J. Borland II., the former Miss Barbara Hutchins, and Miss Barbara Stanley are the only Chicago bridesmaids.

The other feminine attendants are Bostonians. They include another sister of the bride, Miss Mary Porter Wardwell; a cousin of the Chicago Swifts, Miss Eleanor Swift, daughter of the George H. Swifts; Miss Nancy Swift, daughter of Mrs. John Baker Swift Jr.; Miss Helen Foster, daughter of the Frederick Fosters; Miss Ruth Talbot, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Fritz B. Talbot; Miss Dora Foss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Sturtevant Foss, and Miss Margaret Hardwick, daughter of the Huntington R. Hardwicks.

Among Mr. Hutchins' ushers are several Chicagoans: C. Radford Van Ness, Charles I. Pierce, Howard F. Gillette Jr., Gordon Palmer, Walter J. Watson, J. Morse Ely Jr., Robert Hall McCormick III., William Borland, and Robert G. Anderson. John Borland will be his brother-in-law's best man.

Also ushering will be J. Otis Wardwell II., brother of the bride; Lee Ault and Benson Sloan Jr. of New York, Myron A. Wick Jr. of Cleveland, Henry Keep of Philadelphia, and Hugh Whitaker of Cincinnati.

The bridegroom's uncle and aunt, the Robert A. Gardners, and their daughter, Miss Mary Gardner; Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams and Miss Mary Seymour Adams; Mrs. George R. Nichols, and young Mr. McCormick's wife and his mother, the senior Mrs. McCormick, are among the Chicagoans who will be at the wedding today.

Water Colors Depict Terror of Ohio Flood

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

A series of water color sketches of lsat year's Ohio river flood by A. Raymond Katz has been placed on exhibit at the Balaban and Katz Uptown theater. Mr. Katz painted these vivid scenes at Evansville, Ind., in January, 1937, when the turbulent river was washing high through the narrow streets of the town.

Wearing gloves to protect his hands from the bitter weather, the artist stood knee deep in water to do most of the work.

Among the sketches are a street corner scene in Evansville, a farm near Jeffersonville, the likeness of a National Guardsman with two dogs he had rescued, and a scene at the Evansville refugee camp as refugees fled in boats. It is the kind of exhibit that makes one hope such scenes will not be soon repeated, terror, misery, and loss.

A delightful exhibition of paintings by Marie Laurencin and thirty canvases by Ashton Knight are on view in the Findlay galleries, 424 South Michigan avenue, to March 15. The Marie Laurencin paintings are delightfully casual and as attractively colored as former exhibits of her work have led us to anticipate new paintings from her brush would be.

These present paintings are not entirely unfamiliar, but the exhibit is so extensive that new work stands beside old and the glamor that Marie Laurencin throws over her conceptions gilds them all.

At the Art institute the exhibition of Swedish art is, perhaps, the chief, at all events the most picturesque, feature of the current shows. The exhibit will be remembered not so much for the paintings [beautiful as these are] as for the collection of curious treasures dating back to Viking days, which are on display.

There are cases of gold ornaments and of bits of iron work from Viking graves; there are almost ageless stones that go back into the dark ages. There are woven stuffs, some old and others not so old, parts of horse trappings, furniture, and pottery.

The exhibit is a mine of interesting objects for all those who enjoy looking over the links that bind the past with the present, and for those who find romance in the adventurous peoples of Scandinavia. The exhibit will close March 7.

Fiancee of Marshall Field Is Descendant of Pioneer Chicagoan

Of further interest in connection with the engagement of Marshall Field Jr. and Miss Joanne Bass, which was revealed earlier this week, is the fact that Miss Bass, as well as her fiancé, is descended from a pioneer Chicagoan. Her father, former Gov. Robert P. Bass of New Hampshire, is a son of the late Perkins Bass, whose wife, the late Clara Foster Bass, was the daughter of Dr. John H. Foster.

Gov. Bass was born in Chicago. His mother was born here, not far from some property at 114-18 West Lake street, which was given to her by her father as a wedding present. Dr. Foster purchased the property in 1830 for $510. By 1924 it had passed into the hands of a great-grandson of Dr. Foster, Samuel B. Warner. When Mr. Warner put it up for sale his grandmother, Mrs. Perkins Bass, bought it, as a matter of sentiment, to keep the property in the family. By that time its value had increased to $140,000.

Louis B. Mayer, head of M-G-M, and Norma Shearer at the testimonial dinner given Mayer by the Association of Motion Picture Producers.

Men and Maids

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 25.—At the testimonial dinner to Louis B. Mayer, retiring after seven constructive years as head of the Producers' association, Norma Shearer takes the play away from the men on the dais with a very cute and charming expression of appreciation. She recalls Irving Thalberg, lauds Mayer, and then, in quoting Director Woody Van Dyke, employs a curse word.

Master of Ceremonies George Jessel, fast on the trigger, steps to the mircophone and says, solemnly, "For the benefit of those who heard Miss Shearer curse, that was Sophie Tucker speaking."

Miss Shearer, her face crimson, gasped, "Was I on the air?" She breathes a sigh of sincere relief when Jessel answers in the negative.

Mayer, summing up the advances of the industry since 1907, strikes a nostalgic note by introducing his first star of silent pictures, Anita Stewart, and then goes on to prove himself the ablest speaker at his own banquet.

Director Henry King, on the "Alexander Ragtime Band" set, wearing a tiny pair of lether boxing gloves on his coat lapel, a present from Alice Faye. . . . Tyrone Power, Don Ameche, Jack Haley, Seymour Felix, and Alice Faye all swollen in pocketbook as the result of the Santa Anita victory of Alice Faye, the filly, which paid $37 for a $2 wager.

The filly was named for the star by Director Dave Butler. . . . Dixie Dunbar, between shots, takes off her shoes and rests between dance sequences with Wally Vernon. . . . Carole Lombard scratching her name in an autograph book at the Vendome. . . . Earl Sande and his missus going into a theater to see the films of the Santa Anita Derby won by Sande's Stagehand.

Joan Crawford buying three grapefruit at one of the roadside fruit markets. . . . Claire Dodd, with a run in her stocking that she doesn't know anything about. . . . George Raft, walking along Sunset, flipping a coin, the trick that established him as a movie favorite. . . . Edmund Lowe buying an American Legion miniature flag from a veteran.

William Powell and Benny Thau in a huddle. . . . Pat O'Brien, the only guy out here who still wears a cap. . . . Basil Rathbone, Phillip Reed, and Rhea Gable figuring out the race track charts. . . . Martha Raye powdering her nose in front of a gum machine. . . . Joe E. Brown in a shoeshine parlor.

Louis B. Mayer chatting with Gov. Merriam of California before the producers' dinner to Mayer. . . . Mary McGuire, with Joe Schenck, asks Mrs. Charlie Feldman what's good for a morning-after headache. . . . Edgar [Slow Burn] Kennedy takes off his hat and mops at his brow in a familiar gesture, but this time it's the heat. . . . Regular spring weather at the moment, although the snow peaked mountains lend an incongrucus note to the balmy breezes.

Nate Blumberg, new Universal president, who will put his company in the black this year by tilting the income and slicing the overhead. . . . Virginia Bruce Ruben and her little daughter, one of the cutest youngsters out here. . . . Director Chuck Reisner, who turned from big time directing to author a grand book for children, called "Inch High People." . . . Katharine Hepburn, in slacks and with a scarf tied over her hair, bowling along Hollywood boulevard in a roadster.

Hal Roach beaming at the preview of "Merrily We Live," at the Chinese. . . . Director Norman Taurog accepting congrats at the preview of Deanna Durbin's "Mad About Music." . . . What, no bad pictures this week? . . . Mrs. Jock Whitney, entering the M.-G.-M. commissary, as the extras stare at her. . . .

Adolph Zukor, at the Ambassador, drums on the table with his fingers in time with Eddy Duchin's music. . . . Duchin, incidentally, is cracking records.

Good Morning!

You're apt to view the first few scenes of this picture with lack luster eyes, because, for a while, the piece is uninterestingly screwy. BUT—before long—

A change takes place! And—

You find yourselves contemplating a farce comedy that is, in spots, uproariously funny, has suspense and all in all proves excellent entertainment.

The principal characters are—

An author [Mr. Tracy], who intends to make a fortune in Hollywood writing detective stories for the screen.

An ex-convict [Mr. Guilfoyle], who knows the author has a wrong slant on criminals and poses as a criminologist in order to help the writer out and line his own pockets.

The ex-con's wife [Lee Patrick].

A producer [Richard Lane].

A desperate criminal and a sissy leading man who looks just like him [Bradley Page].

The pretty heroine [Joan Woodbury].

To tell you how the destinies of all these folks become merged would be to seriously detract from your enjoyment of the picture, so—mum's the word as to the plot.

Be assured, however, that the acting is all satisfactory; that direction runs fast and smoothly after getting off to a poor start and that story and dialog are worth your money for about two-thirds of the time.

See you tomorrow.

The Housewife

Aprons have come a long way since the day when they enveloped Bridget like a tent. The modern housewife wears clever, tricky little ones made of oiled silk that are as pretty to look at as they are practical and inexpensive.

First, they're waterproof. They do not contain rubber, and they are odorless. Grease, oil, any number of stains won't hurt them. They will not stick, harden, or become lumpy, and they may be washed and even ironed, if you wish, first placing a cloth over them. But it's not really necessary to iron them.

They are transparent.

GUNHAMMERED GOLD

By Luke Short

[Copyright: 1938: By Frederick Dilley Glidden.]

SYNOPSIS.

Abe McCandless, who framed Poco St. Vrain and made him an outlaw, owns a gold mine on a mountain peak. Two insurance agents, sent to bring down the gold, are murdered by two different bands of outlaws. Two-Way Hornbeck, leader of one band, persuades Poco to pose as one of the agents. At the mountain camp Poco finds Espey Cardowan, killer gunman, posing as the other agent. Shayne, the mine manager, has a lovely daughter, Kate. Cardowan crowds Poco off the cliff and takes the gold. He joins forces with Two-Way. Posing as prospectors they are given an army escort to Rincon. Meanwhile Kate helps rescue Poco. He confesses his identity and promises to recover the gold to save her father from blame. In Rincon Poco saves the life of a stranger, Van. He tricks Two-Way and Cardowan into admitting they put the gold on a stagecoach. Poco rides off after the coach. Two-Way, double-crossing Cardowan, promises McCandless to lead a posse to St. Vrain and the gold. But Cardowan learns the hotel clerk has the gold which was put off the coach and rides off with it, also kidnaping Kate Shayne. The posse catch up with Poco on the coach. When they find no gold McCandless turns on Two-Way. In an exchange of gunfire both are killed. The mob returns to the hotel with Poco, and when they find Cardowan and the gold gone, turn on Poco. The stranger, Van, appears and announces himself a United States marshal. When the mob turns on him he and Poco take refuge in the sheriff's office. Harry, the stagecoach driver, and a girl called Steamboat give the two a chance to escape through the roof. Poco rides off in the coach after Cardowan, forcing Van to go with him.

INSTALMENT XXXVI.

A TRAIN HOLDUP.

Cardowan rammed the single empty out of the chamber of his gun, put a fresh load in, then carried the sacks out on the right of way up the tracks a ways. He seemed not to notice the weight of the gold, but under his shirt the muscles corded and rippled and his steps were short.

Kate could see the train now, snaking into view around the bend up the tracks. Its black plume of smoke from the diamond shaped stack washed back over the two cars—baggage and passenger—in a pall of cinders and gassy smoke.

It pulled in with a gigantic clatter of raw steel on steel, of screaming, bucking brakes. Cardowan waved genially to the engineer and then the high cabbed locomotive rolled past them and jarred to a stop.

A scattering of smoke grimed and travel weary passengers alighted from the coach to stretch. They were mostly ranchers, some traveling men in city clothes, strangely out of place in this country. An old woman was assisted out by a tall gangly puncher, who appeared to be her son. Some of the men, invariably ranchers in cowboots, walked stifflegged down to the tank and soused their heads in the dripping water.

The brakie, in stiff blue gold braided cap, was in shirtsleeves on the rear platform.

Cardowan walked up to him and passed the time of day while he pulled out money for the two fares. Then he said, "Mind if I load some stuff on the platform here?"

The brakie said he didn't.

Again Cardowan picked up the dust and heaved one tarp covered load of it on the railed-in platform, and then the other.

"Whatever that is, its dang heavy," the brakie observed.

Cardowan grinned and said, "Samples. Taking them up to Silver City."

"You don't look like a prospector," the brakie offered.

"I'm a cowman," Cardowan said, "but I aim to pull out of it as soon as I know my way around with ore."

"What do you aim to do with your wife?" the brakie asked and laughed.

"I'm takin' her up to leave her with a doctor upstate."

The brakie nodded sagely, as if he were used to seeing sick women and understood the frailty of the sex.

The passengers filed back into the car. When they were all aboard, Cardowan chose a seat and Kate sat next the window. The train bucked to a start and they were under way.

Kate leaned back against the hard and dirty red plush seat and closed her eyes, tired in mind and body and weary of trying to think her way out of this.

She did not know how long she had slept, but when she awoke it was with a sense that much time had passed. Suddenly she was aware that Cardowan was not sitting beside her. Slowly, imperceptibly, she opened one eye and saw that across the aisle and down two seats Cardowan was sitting with three other men in a poker game. He was facing her, sitting next the aisle, and every now and then he looked up at her.

Behind her a man coughed and she heard him stir in his seat.

She closed her eyes and shifted a little lower in the seat as a person will in sleep. When her hand touched the seat it covered a neat pile of burned matches which Cardowan had placed beside him instead of throwing them on the floor. Something started clicking in her brain. She fought it, but it would not go.

Kate reckoned that only her head would be visible to Cardowan above the seat ahead of her. She remembered a note which was in her skirt pocket, a note she had scribbled to McCandlee there in the hotel and which the clerk refused to deliver. Slowly, her eyes still shut, she drew it out.

She picked up the handful of burnt matches and using one as a pencil she wrote on the back of the note: The man with me is Espey Cardowan, outlaw. Tell the brakeman and take him. There is a reward. She spread it out flat and lowered it through the crack in the seat, holding on to the tip of it, and pulled it back and forth and sideways, hoping its movement would attract the attention of the man behind her.

It was a long minute before she was rewarded. The note was taken from her hand.

And now, her eyes opened just the slightest, she watched Cardowan. He looked up at her, then away, then suddenly his gaze shuttled up again, past her this time.

She saw him move, as if to get up, heard a scuffling of feet behind her, then Cardowan lunged erect, his hand whipping to his hip, streaking up in a tight invisible arc that ended in a flash of orange and a roar.

It whipped by her face, and the thud of it on flesh, the strangled scream of the man behind her and his falling body all came at once as Cardowan leaped across the aisle to a standing position on the opposite seat and covered the car with his outspread guns.

"Stand against the windows, the lot of you!" Cardowan whipped out.

The dozen men in the car obeyed, including the three men Cardowan had been playing poker with. The wizened brakie in the end seat stood up and held his hands high.

Cardowan said to him without taking his moving gaze from the armed ranchers, "Come over here, brakie."

The brakie came over.

"Take every one of their guns out and drop them on the floor. One mismove and you'll get it in the back!"

Kate watched with held breath as the brakie moved down the short length of the car and disarmed every man there.

"Now step out into the aisle and walk to the rear of the coach!" Cardowan said loudly. "One at a time. Every one!"

The men filed out into the aisle, looking angry, and walked to the end of the car. Even the old lady got up and hobbled down the aisle. When they were all past, Cardowan said to Kate, "You, too, sister."

She got up and glanced at the man behind her, slumped in a pool of blood on the seat. He was a puncher, dressed in levis, the hand holding his Colt lying peacefully across his chest, a ragged hole in his face under his eye that was running a thin stream of blood down his cheek.

As she passed up the aisle, Cardowan drawled, "I told you it would only make trouble if you did it."

And Kate, numb with the misery and knowledge that she had caused a man's death, bowed her head.

When she reached the huddled passengers in the rear of the coach, Cardowan said.

GASOLINE ALLEY—RASPBERRY FLAVOR

Lucky Is Lass Who Possesses Beautiful Eyes

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Lucky is the lass who is the possessor of a beautiful pair of eyes, for she virtually has the world at her feet. If not the world, then men, for there seems to be no other one feature which has the power to attract and hold a man's interest as has an alluring pair of eyes. So, girls, don't make the mistake of neglecting yours, or feeling they haven't great possibilities. It may take a little time each day but, after all, it's worth it. And long lashes play an important part in this business of eye allure. You may not have been born with the long sweeping ones, but you can make the best of what you have and it's marvelous what can be done to make them more interesting.

Mascara is a helpful ally. With it you may darken lashes that haven't enough natural coloring to make them interesting. It must be applied daily, to be sure, in fact after every good face wash, for it's next to impossible to keep it intact when going in for a wholesale cleaning of the skin. There is an art in its application. Beading is out, and any stiffness defeats the purpose of the mascara. It must be applied so that one does not detect it. Fortunately, most mascaras contain oils which help to keep the lashes soft and silky. And now comes along the idea of two shades of mascara, one atop the other. Lovely for evening or late afternoon wear, especially if there is a tea or cocktail party in the offing.

Here are a few color combination suggestions. For the redhead with green eyes, a brown foundation, with green over it; if she has blue eyes, then a midnight blue over the brown. The blonde with blue eyes will stick to brown, and over it a violet or midnight blue, depending upon the shade of blue in her eyes. The Irish type of beauty, with black hair and blue eyes will choose brown, with violet blue as a second shade. The girl with very black hair and black eyes cannot do better than black mascara. She needs no second color.

This extra shade may be applied over the entire lash, or merely to the tips. Try it out to see which you think the more effective. Adding the second coloring to the tips makes the lashes look much longer.

Vine Pattern Is Favorite Among the Floral Quilts

Trumpet Vine Block.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Pleasing design and harmonious colors make this "Trumpet Vine Block" a great favorite with all quilt makers who prefer floral patterns. This dainty bloom has been a popular garden flower for generations, and it is no wonder quilt makers wish to include the coverlet in their collection. Forty-two applique blocks are set together with three inch bands of material between the blocks, and surrounded by a three inch border and a half inch bias binding. The overall dimensions of the coverlet are 90 by 104½ inches.

For a limited period Nancy Cabot offers 10 quilt patterns of her own choice at a price of 10 cents for the group (12 cents by mail). Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower.

Child Obeys When Parent Is Friendly

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

When mealtimes are a "riot," when the simple consumption of nourishment by a little girl or boy is the sign for dramatic goings on, when going to the bathroom becomes a problem instead of a simple function, when bedtime is the hour of struggle, or to make it more general, when the accomplishment of necessary every day acts is accompanied by resistance on the part of your young child, it may be due to the fact that his associations with that act are unpleasant ones.

A child's obedience, that is, his conformity with your wishes, is most easily gained if pleasantness has in the past been connected with the act.

Some of the many things a young child has to do are, in themselves, interesting to him. Some are not. But if your feeling, and so your voice and manner are those of one good friend to another, his obedience is almost a foregone conclusion.

Is learning to handle a spoon and absorb nourishment accompanied by scoldings for spillings, or efforts to hurry? Is the gaining of bladder control associated with annoyance, or spankings for accidents? Are bathtime and bedtime a time of hustle and irritation?

Is your attitude about one or all of these many routines connected with your child's physical care and simple learning habitually one that holds no appeal from his point of view? Then the chances are he's not going to fall in with your wishes.

I tell you, because I know as a mother that a warm, friendly atmosphere which spreads even to the many utilitarian acts of everyday will bring about, and quite painlessly, the obedience you need and desire.

"Is Tact in Your Bag of Tricks?" is a booklet helpful to parents. It will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Wet Weather Outfits Offer Style, Economy

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Rainy day regalia has a definite dress parade appearance. This slick loot is not only new but priced for limited budgets. Grand transparent umbrellas, edged with bright colored bands, are yours for around two dollars. For more money you can buy the newest chromium ribbed affairs of equally clear visibility, spattered with tiny stars, in black, red, Kelly green, or dull white.

Just unpacked are the newest rainy day skull caps of crinkled rain proof silk. These match the colored raincoats and umbrellas of that "mello sheen" material that takes the average wear and tear without a sign of the abuse.

This material can be washed, it doesn't crack, and its tailors like a bit of English tweed or wool. Beige, dubonnet, brown, black, and blue are the colors in skull caps as well as slickers, umbrellas, and the package envelope in which the coat can be folded and packed.

Rubbers for these outfits come in small envelopes too. There are two styles of rubbers. Black and white are the two colors of the "toe cover" style. They are priced under a dollar. They cover the toe section and pull up to cover the instep.

The other rubbers come in black, brown, and blue and are the regulation models with the strap around the back of the heel.

Boleros to Brighten Frocks

WOMAN'S AND MISS' BOLEROS.

Because the nation is raving about boleros you might as well take advantage of the fad and dress up some of your last season's frocks. The pattern today offers four toppers which will brighten even the drabbest orphan in your clothes collection. The jacket at the upper left is square and plain and takes to pockets for adornment. The bolero at the upper right is made of print and curves its hemline. A saucy bonnet hat to match is made with pattern No. 3471 and is available in one size only and for 10 cents extra.

At the lower left is a topper with high round neckline and butterfly sleeves. It may be made of any silk, plain, or printed. The model at the lower right puts a high collar at the neckline, cuffs on the sleeves, and uses a zipper to close the front.

All of these styles are suitable for both spring and summer, since they take to either silks or woolens.

Style No. 2751 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. For material requirements consult the pattern envelope.

Remember Yankee Doodle who "stuck a feather in his cap and called it macaroni"? In George Washington's day macaroni was so popular that the word was used to indicate anything that might be "tops" or "the nuts" to us. Yankee Doodle thought his feather was "the nuts"—see?

Columbus carried cows on his second voyage in order to provide milk for the crew. . . . When the pilgrims landed at Plymouth there were no cows in New England. Many children died before a shipload of cows arrived from Holland two years later.

Wool now is being made from milk, or rather from its byproduct, casein. Beads, buckles, combs, and glue are a few other products made from casein.

Cookery proverbs: Two weak evils, age and hunger. . . . Fools make feasts and wise men eat them. . . . One ill weed mars a whole pot of pottage.

To make caramel corn: Melt two tablespoons butter in a saucepan and add two cups brown sugar and half cup water. Boil ten minutes or to the soft ball stage, 238 degrees. Pour over two quarts of popped corn and stir until every kernel is coated.

A soft shell crab is a hard shell crab which has molted and lost its shell. During the molting season, from April to mid-October, blue Atlantic coast crabs are at their best, while Pacific coast crabs are unpalatable.

Egyptian laborers of the time of Herodotus, the ancient Greek historian, kneaded dough with their feet while kneading clay with their hands. It is said that old time Scotch bakers took a tip from this and had their employés knead dough with hands and feet at the same time, thus getting double the amount of work which might be expected from them!

Not only is there a cinnamon and sugar mixture on the market for making cinnamon toast—there also is a cinnamon, sugar, and butter combination available in some localities. All you do is spread it on the toast. . . . I've been experimenting recently with a steam pressure saucepan, an entirely new utensil with great possibilities. Unfortunately it's not on the market yet. I hope it will be soon.

Condensed soups make good sauces for meats. Condensed tomato soup, heated, is fine with broiled hamburgers, and a combination of condensed tomato and condensed cream of mushroom is an excellent sauce for left over cooked lamb or beef.

Dumplings are easy to make. Mix and sift one and one-half cups flour, one-fourth teaspoon salt, and three teaspoons baking powder and stir in three-fourths cup milk. Beat to smooth batter and drop by tablespoons into chicken or meat stew. Cover kettle and boil ten to fifteen minutes.

Quarrels May Be Heard Even in Happy Home

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

To scrap or not to scrap is the question raised by one young man who apparently has not been married long. He says they haven't had many quarrels, and that those they have had haven't been such scrappy ones, but he'd like to feel that life for them will be one long, swet song, with nothing to mar the even tenor of their days.

Such a picture would be lovely, but there are those who feel a life like that would become monotonous. It isn't possible for two persons so closely associated daily to think alike on all things, and out of their differences of opinion often come disagreements. One thing leads to another, and, without thinking, things are said which might better have been left unsaid. That's when it is necessary to use judgment. The man can put on his hat and walk out until the storm has blown over, until the guilty one has had time to calm down and think things out sensibly.

Others feel an occasional scrap is a good thing. It relieves the monotony, and puts a bit of pep and dash into a household that seems to be running too smoothly. Unless very bitter and unkind things have been said, arguments are soon forgotten, and making up is such sweet pleasure.

If the girls in homes carried on the same program of "yes-ing" their hubbies that they used on their employers before marriage there would be little or no cause for scraps. But, unfortunately, few women extend this program to their homes. Perhaps it is because they are so in love with their mates that they want them to be perfect, or almost perfect, and acquire the habit of nagging about the things that do not meet with their approval. They cast discretion to the wind and blurt out their criticism, not always at the right time, all of which is irritating to husbands.

The man, on the other hand, may compliment his wife's friends when they visit their home, saying very flattering things about their looks, their becoming clothes, their capabilities. This makes the little woman burn up, because he has forgotten to say any of those nice things to her. He takes her too much for granted.

So, while we are all human, it does seem that asking for a home life without an occasional disagreement is asking too much.

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: Until yesterday, my supreme bridge ambition was to be dealt thirteen spades. That, however, is now a thing of the past, because at long last I have known a thrill that I am sure is much more satisfying. I won't keep you in suspense. Last night I made my first squeeze! This was the hand which heaven sent me:

South, dealer.

SOUTH

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass
3 diamonds	Pass	4 hearts	Pass
4 no trump	Pass	5 spades	Pass
6 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

"I was South. West led a low diamond. East played the queen and I won. I saw that I would have to take to the spade finesse sooner or later, so tried it at the second trick. West did not cover my queen and, when the ten dropped from East, it became apparent that West had started with four spades. Naturally, I could not lead another round without letting East ruff, so instead I ruffed a diamond in the dummy, led a heart to my own ten, and ruffed another diamond with the heart king. I then reëntered my hand with the club ace and ran off the rest of my trumps, finally coming down to the spade deuce, the heart five, the diamond jack, and the club deuce. West, of course, hung on to his spades, therefore could have only one club which, from his jack and ten discarding, I hoped was the king. Dummy at this point had the A-J-9 of spades and the queen of clubs. I led my last trump and was delighted to see West squirming in his chair. I knew then that my diagnosis had been correct and that he could not let go any card without giving me the rest of the tricks. As it happened, he held on to the club king and threw a spade. I let go dummy's club queen and took another spade finesse, then cashed the spade ace, dropping the king and establishing the nine spot.

Of course, all this squeezing only resulted in an extra trick on my small slam contract, but that in no way affected the thrill that comes once in a lifetime.

"Enthusiastically yours,
E. M. S., St. Louis."

Comments hardly are necessary. I imagine that henceforth E. M. S. will rattle off squeeze plays with his eyes closed and one hand tied behind his back.

The British Blade Drape
Adds Comfort and Style Interest to Our Imported Donegal Tweed

Donegal Tweeds, despite their out and out country origin in County Donegal, Ireland, are particularly well suited to the prevailing trend, among well dressed Englishmen, toward modified sportswear for town. Many of these Donegals are tailored in the new British drape three button jacket. The particularly noticeable features of its design being an increased fullness in the back and a smoother, more even chestline than in the first drape. Styling that brings out the best in the colorful tweed fabric and gives the jacket, when worn correctly with the top two buttons buttoned, added smartness and comfort for wear in town.

ARMSTRONG STOPS RIGHTMIRE IN THIRD ROUND

BOXERS ARRIVE FOR TOURNEY OF CHAMPIONS

Fighting Starts In Stadium Monday.

Throngs in the loop today may think they're seeing things, and why not?

That scowling big fellow with the southern drawl may be Lloyd Montgomery, the Nashville heavyweight. And don't start a fight with him. Ninety-six other fellows have done that and 95 of them got licked. The other one is still running.

So Haskell Eric is here with a 17 second knockout to his credit.

Watch Chief Shoulderblade.

Those Indians on State street honestly are not cigar store Indians. They're real live Injuns from the southwestern plains who will not go on the warpath until Monday night.

And if you see another redskin with bow and arrow riding down Michigan boulevard on his pony it more than likely will be Chief Shoulderblade, heavyweight from St. Louis.

Yes, indeed, the loop will be infested with redskins. And Chief Wrinklemeat, the Vincennes, Ind., coach, will be somewhere's about seeing that his boys are not pushed around in the crowds.

Those boys tasting the kraut and the frankfurters at the store on Wacker drive more than likely will be just so many fighters from Milwaukee and Cincinnati comparing our kraut and frankfurters with those at home.

Teams Pour In.

All these strangers who will be in town today are the advance guard of fighters and their followers who for nearly 48 hours have been coming on every train for the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions which opens at the Chicago Stadium on Monday night and continues through Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

The first delegation arrived yesterday from Des Moines. Radio station WHO staged the sectional tournament there and for the first time that city will be represented in the Tournament of Champions.

Two boxers from Memphis, members of the Nashville Tennessean's team, arrived by plane during the afternoon. They will be at the Dearborn station this morning to greet the other members of the team from Dixie when they arrive by train.

Cleveland's powerful team will be another early arrival today and so will the champions from Fort Worth, Grand Rapids, Sioux City, and Omaha.

Boxers Work Out.

From the near by cities of Davenport, Peoria, Springfield, South Bend, Michigan City, Gary, Kenosha, and Milwaukee boxers will arrive tonight and early on Sunday.

Gymnasiums in the loop were thrown open to the visitors yesterday. Many of the boxers worked out during the afternoon. Others will take their final workout today.

The ticket sale for the Tournament of Champions is the heaviest on record. There are still many good seats available, however, in all sections. The scale of prices for tickets for the Tournament of Champions is 40 cent, 66 cents, and $1.10.

KANSAS NAMES DICK CRAYNE TO FOOTBALL STAF

Lawrence, Kas., Feb. 25.—(AP)—The University of Kansas football coaching staf of 1938 was completed today with the appointment of Richard Crayne, 24 years old, former full back at Iowa, as back field coach. Crayne succeeds Glenn Presnell, who resigned recently to accept a similar position at Nebraska.

Crayne was given a one year contract. He played at Iowa from 1933 to 1935 and captained the Hawkeyes in his final year. He was a member of the College All-Americans who opposed the Detroit Lions in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S All-Star game in Chicago in 1936.

For the last two years Crayne has been a member of the Brooklyn pro team. He was an outstanding punter, both in college and pro circles.

GOMEZ ANSWERS WIFE'S CHARGES IN DIVORCE SUIT

New York, Feb. 25.—(AP)—Vernon [Lefty] Gomez, the baseball pitcher for the New York Yankees, answered a separation suit today by charging that his wife, the former actress June O'Dea, once insisted upon a six months' trial separation and then demanded eight more months to make up her mind.

Miss O'Dea, whose name in the prestage days was Helen Frances Schwarz, accuses the pitcher of frequent intoxication and of beating her.

This Gomez denied. He said that he once had to lock her in a stateroom on a trip to France because she was drunk.

CUBS' PENNANT COLLEGE PROFS OPEN CLASSES

Not a Balmy Boy Found Among Freshmen.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., Feb. 25.—Dean Charley Grimm's Pennant college this morning and afternoon veered a bit from the photographic aspects that marked yesterday's matriculation exercises and the professors went to work without camera consciousness. Today, in classes which ran from 10:30 o'clock to 2, the professors eyed their charges with a view of weeding the alert from the slow witted, the nimble from the clumsy.

Aside from studying the potential baseball skill of the Cubs' freshmen, sly psychopathic tests were applied to all the lads. So far not a balmy boy has been discovered, although some are naturally a little windier than the others. For the most part, however, all indications are that this year's crop all are earnest youths eager to make good in baseball. Though some have been around southern California for many weeks not one of the rooks is horse crazy or wants to be a jocky. You have to be out here a spell to realize how remarkable this is.

Hartnett Directs Pitchers.

At the faculty meeting today specialized assignments were emphasized. Prof. Hartnett, who must the while think something about processes to reduce his bay window, has the chair of pitching instruction exclusively. He is not to teach home run hitting or catching and will not even kibitz the sprinting classes by performing as a horrible example.

Prof. Lazzeri, who will play second base in the intraclub games which will start shortly after the regulars get here a week hence, is to teach infielding almost exclusively but on special occasions will lecture on long range slugging. So far Prof. Tony has shown more pepper than any of the youngsters—physical pepper, that is, for the former Yank so far hasn't spoken a word excepting to be genial in faculty meetings. As Tony's American league friends had warned in seeking to prepare the way for Tony in his new career, the vet from San Francisco is not a chatterbox and will have no part in the heckling classes. He may teach a few guttural insults later on, but will not be asked to give any lectures on atta boy hollering or repartee for distance.

Dynamite Gabby Off Couch.

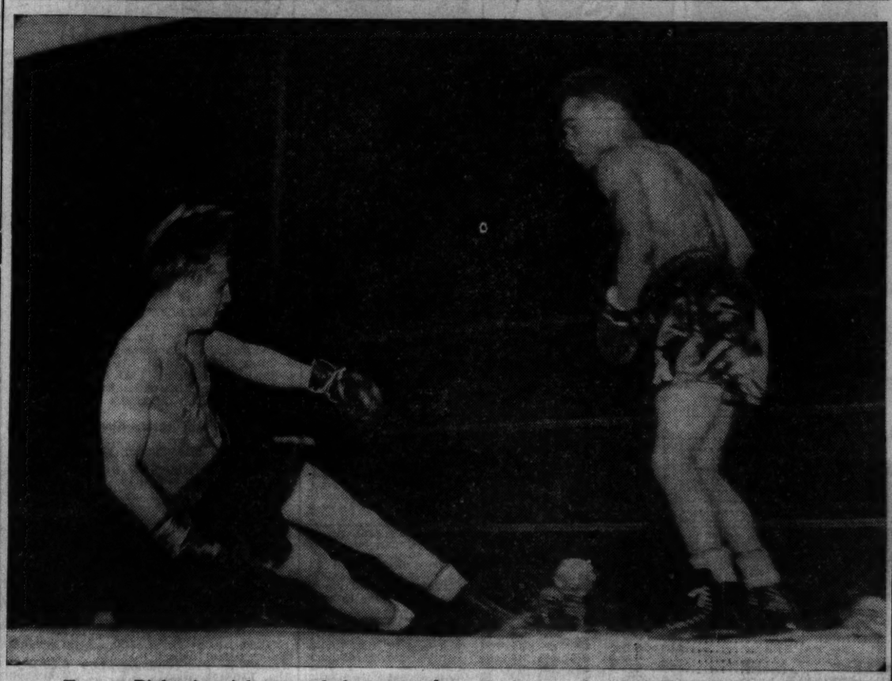

The boys rolled out well in the college's first 7:30 o'clock bugle except that dynamite had to be used to get Prof. Hartnett off his couch at the prescribed time. This is Gabby's seventeenth spring on Catalina and this morning was the first occasion on which the old gentleman has seen the place so near the crack of dawn.

During the two days of practice to date there hasn't been much opportunity for the candidates to show their full lines of baseball wares, but even at this early date Dean Grimm has become convinced that H. Coaker Triplett, who led the Southern association in hitting last year with .356, has a chance to stick in the outfield if he can learn to pick up ground balls. He is even more enthusiastic about Jim Asbell, who was runnerup to Triplett in the Southern association.

Asbell, a stocky gent, hit .352. He is not as fast as Triplett apparently, but he is a better fielder, the Dean thinks. Grimm is thinking about left field for Asbell and center for Triplett, though he has not given up the fact that Augie Galan may return to form and that Carl Reynolds will be able to keep his anatomy assembled long enough to get a good start in the season. Of course, something will happen to Carl before the season gets very old, but until aches and pains beset him he may be very useful.

Two days in camp and we've heard no one mention the name of Joe Marty or George Stainback, but both will be here to try for the outfield next Thursday. Stainback will start running for Prof. Hartnett the first day he reports.

NOTRE DAME FIVE DEFEATS N. Y. U. IN GARDEN, 50-38

New York, Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Notre Dame defeated New York university, 50 to 38, before 17,463 in Madison Square Garden tonight.

New York played better than at any time this season and rallied strongly in the second half to tighten up the game,

Eleven points behind midway in the second half, the Violets chopped that margin down to three before Notre Dame put on the pressure to clinch victory.

When it was clicking Notre Dame looked as great as any quintet ever to play in the Garden. But its attack was sporadic.

Behind, 9 to 0, in the first two minutes, Notre Dame let go with a rally that gave it 14 points in the next five. It never was headed after that, leading 29 to 20 at the intermission.

In the opening game of the doubleheader, Brooklyn college rallied to tie St. Francis at 33 to 33 in the regular game before winning in overtime, 37 to 36.

JOHNNY ALLEN SIGNS TWO YEAR INDIAN CONTRACT

Cleveland, O., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Johnny Allen, who won fifteen consecutive games for the Cleveland Indians last season, will be a member of the Tribe's staf for the next two years. This news was the result of a conference today between Allen and Alva Bradley, president of the club. No definite terms were revealed, but it was understood that the talkative pitcher will receive $20,000 for each of the two years. Allen originally was said to have asked for $25,000 for the 1938 campaign alone, with the club countering with an offer of $19,000.

Brother of Bob Zuppke Killed by Automobile

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 25.—(AP)—Herman Zuppke, 54, of St. Paul, a brother of Bob Zuppke, head football coach at the University of Illinois, was killed tonight when struck by an automobile as he crossed a street intersection. The driver of the car, Clyde Ready, 16, St. Paul, was detained by police for questioning.

Purdue Aims at Big 10 Lead in Game Against Indiana

Only six Big Ten basketball teams will engage in conference competition tonight, but most of these will have an opportunity to better their position in the standings by winning.

Purdue and Indiana will meet in a return game in Bloomington, Ind., in which the Boilermakers can break their first place tie with Northwestern. Purdue defeated the Hoosiers in Lafayette and has won seven of its nine games to Indiana's three out of nine games. Indiana will be without Capt. Joe Platt, who is suffering from influenza.

The Boilermakers have scored only five more points than Indiana, and, in their game at Lafayette, won, 38 to 36, only because of a rally in the final minutes. Purdue's defensive record is considerably better than Indiana's, the Boilermakers having limited their opposition to 306 ponts while Indiana's opponents have piled up 371.

Young Gains on Dehner.

The game may be a scoring contest between Purdue's Jewell Young and Johnny Sines and Indiana's Ernie Anders. Young, Big Ten scoring champion and only seven points behind Pick Dehner of Illinois in this year's competition, has scored 20 points in each of the last two games.

Indiana, now in eighth place, will have an opportunity to tie Wisconson for seventh. The Badgers, idle tonight, have won four of ten games.

Two teams will endeavor to keep winning streaks intact when Minnesota meets Chicago's Maroons in the Midway fieldhouse. Minnesota has won six in a row after having lost its first three contests, but the Maroons, who previous to last Saturday had lost 33 successive conference games, now have built a winning streak of two. They defeated Iowa at Iowa City Saturday night and beat Illinois Monday night.

A Minnesota victory will give the Gophers a tie for second place, behind Northwestern, if Purdue is beaten by Indiana. A Maroon victory will give Chicago a tie for ninth place with idle Illinois, each with three victories in ten games.

Michigan at Iowa.

Michigan meets Iowa in a return game in Iowa City, after having lost to the Hawkeyes, 38 to 30, in Ann Arbor. The Wolverines seemed to have come to life when they beat Wisconsin, 58 to 29, last Monday after having lost successively to Iowa and Minnesota. They have won five of nine games and a victory, if coupled with a defeat for Minnesota, will give them a tie for third place.

Should Iowa beat Michigan, however, the Hawkeyes will jump ahead of both Michigan and Ohio State into fourth place with six games won out of eleven played. Michigan and idle Ohio then will have scored an even break in ten games. Iowa, which dealt Northwestern one of its two defeats, has an even chance to win.

LOSER ILL IN DRESSING ROOM BEFORE FIGHT

Bout Halted After Third Knockdown.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Henry Armstrong, the black rocket of the prize ring's featherweight flock, scored his 33d knockout in 34 bouts last night before a crowd of 8,042 in International amphitheater. Everett Rightmire, Sioux City veteran, was Armstrong's victim.

Rightmire became ill in his dressing room before the bout. It was reported that he fainted.

The end came in the third round. It was sensational in the minds of Armstrong's followers. It was just another chore as far as the slashing, matter of fact Armstrong was concerned. His title was not at stake.

Armstrong Launches Attack.

Rightmire was sluggish when he came out for the third, following a disastrous second session toward the end of which he was rocked by a right to the body and a right and left to the chin. As the third began Armstrong delivered rights and lefts with a rapidity that bewildered Rightmire. Down went the Sioux City boy for a nine count.

After Rightmire had struggled back to his feet Armstrong was after him again. Once more came the fusillade of rights and lefts. A long right to the chin brought Rightmire down, this time on his face. He rolled over. Once more the referee sang out the count of nine before Rightmire was able to get up.

There came another terrific crash. It was Armstrong's right landing on Rightmire's chin once more.

Toss In Towel.

The blow knocked Rightmire half way across the ring. He came down on his back this time. The count started. When it reached nine Rightmire's seconds tossed the towel into the ring, giving Armstrong the fight on a technical knockout.

Here's the tale of Rightmire's sickness. At 9:40 o'clock, ten minutes before Rightmire was scheduled to proceed toward the ring, Joe Triner of the Illinois boxing commission and the commission's physician, Dr. Frank A. Lagorio, were notified by Sam Gorenstein, the commission's gymnasium inspector, that the boxer had become ill in his dressing room.

Both went immediately to the Sioux City fighter's quarters, but before he left his seat at the ringside Triner issued orders for a supporting eight rounder to be put on before the main bout in order that he and Dr. Lagorio would have time to examine Rightmire.

"He's fainted," one of Rightmire's backers shouted as Triner and Dr. Lagorio entered the dressing room.

Rightmire Regains Bearings.

While the commission's physician worked to revive Rightmire, Chairman Triner sent for Charles Jones, manager of Sammy Angott, one of the principals in the semi-windup, and completed arrangements to have Angott substituted for Rightmire if it became necessary.

Meanwhile Rightmire suddenly got his bearings again, his illness vanished. Dr. Lagorio examined him, asked him to do some shadow boxing, then notified Chairman Triner that the Sioux City fighter was in condition to fill his engagement.

The boxer had been in distress for more than twenty minutes. He appeared pale but otherwise all right when he crawled into the ring at 10:30, a half hour after the bout had been scheduled to start.

Customers Seem Satisfied.

Very few of the customers were aware of the dressing room excitement. They had come to see Armstrong score another knockout and after he had done it they filed out of the big stockyards arena apparently satisfied that they got their $18,040 worth.

"All I know is that I became terribly ill," Rightmire said after the fight. "My stomach seemed to be turning over. I'm sure I didn't faint."

Dr. Lagorio blamed the heat in the none too well ventilated dressing room for Rightmire's condition. "He came out of it O. K. and it had no effect on the fight he put up," the physician said.

Chairman Triner indicated that the incident was closed. "Rightmire put up a great fight against a much better opponent," Triner said.

Rightmire Wins Second.

All three officials—Referee Phil Collins and Judges Ed Klein and William A. Battye—scored the first round in Armstrong's favor. There had been but little hard fighting during the session.

Judges Klein and Battye each gave Rightmire the second round. Their cards each read 6 and 4. The referee called it even, scoring 5 points for each. It was late in this round, however, when Armstrong landed the punch which started Rightmire on the way to his downfall.

He seemed to say to his seconds at the end of that round, "I can't stay in there any longer."

Armstrong saw to it that he didn't remain in action for any great additional period of time. At the weighing in ceremonies Armstrong weighed 132¼. Rightmire had scaled 130.

IOWA WINS MILE RELAY TO DEFEAT MAROONS, 46-40

First Places Are Evenly Divided.

Iowa's victory in the mile relay gave the Hawkeyes a 46 to 40 victory over Chicago last night in the Maroon fieldhouse. The ten events were evenly split by the two teams, Chicago winning all three field competitions to offset weakness on the track.

George Halcrow, Big Ten quarter mile champion, and Jack Webster, half miler, the co-captains of the Chicago team, were both handicapped by colds. Halcrow finished third to Carl Teufel and Milton Billig of Iowa in the 440, and lost ground in his lap of the relay. Webster managed to win the 880, but faded so fast that Jim Lyle, Iowan, who previously had won the mile, nearly passed him at the tape. Iowa also was weakened by illness, Jack Graves, its star half miler, being left at home because of a cold.

SEABISCUIT RUNS IN SAN ANTONIO HANDICAP TODAY

Workman to Be Jocky; Faces Fast Field.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 25.—(AP)—Seabiscuit, handicap king of the nation in 1937 will pack top weight of 130 pounds and a strange rider in tomorrow's $7,500 added San Antonio handicap at a mile and one furlong at Santa Anita park.

Sonny Workman will climb aboard Seabiscuit in the last of the big prep races before the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap March 5.

Charles S. Howard, Seabiscuit's owner, selected Workman for the assignment today, but made no mention whether the jocky would get the call to take the horse to the post in the handicap.

Faces Fast Field.

Seabiscuit's work will be cut out for him tomorrow. He will be matched with Maxwell Howard's Sceneshifter, stable mate of the $50,000 Derby winner, Stagehand; Aneroid, Calumet Dick, Today, Top Row, Sahri II., Star Shadow, and Time Supply which represent, with one notable exception, Seabiscuit's foes in the $100,000 race. The exception is Pompoon.

NAME 11 FOR FLAMINGO

Miami, Fla., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Eleven, including the rivals, Lawrin and Lavengro, have been named for the $20,000 Flamingo stakes, Hialeah's leading 3 year old feature which will be decided here tomorrow at a mile and an eighth. With the track drying out nicely from yesterday's mud, and with both the favored ones reported in top condition, interest has gone up sharply in the race.

Twenty thousand persons are expected to see the race, formerly known as the Florida Derby.

There is a strong belief that Pasteurized will defeat both the Norman Church colorbearer from the Pacific coast, and the Woolford farm racer from the middle west.

Xavier went down in the continuing holocaust of favorites today. Heavily backed, Xavier could take only third back of R. S. Clark's Challenge Cup, who returned $19 for $2. This was at a mile. The winner was timed in 1:40 flat. Grandever was second, a length and a half back of the leader and a half length before Xavier.

Aigler Defends Firing of Kipke by Michigan Board

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 25.—(AP)—The dismissal of Harry G. Kipke as football coach at the University of Michigan was upheld today by Prof. Ralph W. Aigler, chairman of the school's board in control of physical education, in a broadcast.

Other highlights of Aigler's remarks were:

1. Kipke was given an opportunity to resign but did not do so.
2. Herbert O. [Fritz] Crisler, Kipke's successor, was the only man offered the position.
3. Failure to win games had nothing to do with the dismissal of Kipke.
4. Investigation of rumors that athletes were being subsidized disclosed little basis for the charges and did not involve Kipke.
5. Dismissal of Kipke had been considered for more than a year before it actually took place.
6. Crisler has been given a three year contract.

Crisler is believed to be the first Michigan coach ever to obtain more than a year's contract. It had been Michigan's policy to hire its coaches only on a year to year basis. Until today rumors had persisted that Crisler had received more than a year's contract but they lacked verification.

YORK, HINSDALE SHARE TITLE IN WEST SUBURBAN

Heavies Finish Schedule Tied for First Place.

The York heavyweight basketball team's 26 to 25 loss to Downers Grove last night coupled with Hinsdale's 40 to 20 triumph over Maine in the concluding games on the West Suburban league schedule left the defeated and victorious quintets co-champions of the league. York and Hinsdale each won ten games while losing two in gaining a share of the title.

Evanston High schools frosh-soph and heavyweight basketball teams, the latter 1937-'38 Suburban league champion, were dealt a double defeat last night by Morton, the heavies losing, 30 to 21, and the frosh-soph quintet, 20 to 15.

The result enabled the Morton frosh-soph quintet, which has played one more game than Evanston, to take over the lead with a record of nine victories and three defeats.

Roosevelt Ties Lane.

Catholic league junior and senior leaders triumphed last night to hold their positions. The Leo seniors turned back Mount Carmel, 44 to 42, for their ninth victory in ten games in the south section, while Loyola, north division senior pace setter, whipped Weber, 30 to 25. Loyola has won seven games and dropped one.

Roosevelt's juniors made good on a chance to tie for the City league's north section title by defeating Lane, the leader, 43 to 40, yesterday. The victory left the two teams sharing first place with eight victories and one defeat each. They will toss a coin to decide the championship.

Fix Playoff Sites, Dates Today.

Schurz gained a deadlock for the top in the north division's senior competition when it whipped Amundsen, 41 to 25. The triumph enabled Schurz to match Von Steuben's record of eight victories and one loss. The Kelvyn Park seniors took second place in the west section with a 55 to 36 triumph over Foreman, but Harper missed a chance for the runnerup spot in the south division senior race by losing to Hirsch, 42 to 22.

The first two teams in each division of the City league qualify for the championship playoffs, dates and sites for which will be decided today.

Bill Swift, Lloyd Waner Sign Contracts

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 25.—(AP)—President W. E. Benswanger, preparing to lead the first squad of Pittsburgh Pirates to camp next Wednesday, announced today Pitcher Bill Swift and Outfielder Lloyd Waner had agreed to terms, leaving only two players still unsigned.

Welch Beats Goodman in Houston Golf

The victor, Bill Welch, deftly chipped in a 25 foot runup shot for a birdie two on the twentieth green after Goodman had rolled up for a conceded par three.

Only a burst of perfect golf on the last nine holes kept John Dawson of Chicago, another favorite, from defeat. Seven fours and two threes on the last nine holes enabled him to defeat David [Spec] Goldman, Dallas, 1934 national amateur finalist, one up.

Ed White Wins.

Former National Intercollegiate Champion Ed White, tournament medalist, beat Hickman Greene, Fort Worth, Tex., two up. In the third round he will meet Don Schumacher, trans-Mississippi champion, who eliminated W. A. Moncrief Sr., Fort Worth, 8 and 6.

New York, Feb. 25.—(AP)—The nation's greatest track and field athletes will go after something besides cups and medals tomorrow night. National titles will be at stake as well when they compete on Madison Square Garden's boards in the A. A. U. indoor championships.

The 600 brings together Jimmy Herbert of New York university, winner of nine of his ten starts this year; Ray Malott, Stanford's National A. A. U. and N. C. A. A. 400 meter champion; Wesley Wallace of Fordham, only man to whip Herbert, and Doug Raymond of Boston university.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

KYSER WILL TAKE GLAMOR SHOW'S PLACE ON THE AIR

WGN Favorite Gets Break; Filmland Losing Out.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Kay Kyser's Kollege of Musical Knowledge is to replace the Warner Brothers' glamor show, Your Hollywood Parade, on Wednesday, March 30, over NBC's coast to coast network. The show will be moved to New York and aired from Radio City studios, from 9 to 10 p. m.

Under the name Kay Kyser's Musical Klass, it has been aired for a month under commercial sponsorship from W-G-N studios over a Mutual network. Prior to that it was broadcast Monday evenings as a sustaining show from the Blackhawk restaurant. It has been a terrific mailpuller from the beginning.

In addition to being a great break for Kay and his entertainers, this shift is significant to listeners. For one thing it is an indication that one more of radio's biggest advertisers is fed up with Hollywood and film star ballyhoo. As pointed out yesterday, a half dozen major sponsors have lately pulled up stakes in the land of glitter and glamor and trekked the long road back east to shows more modest but in sound radio tradition.

Informality, simplicity, and unpretentiousness have characterized the Kyser show. Kay is master of ceremonies, Fran Coughlin writes the material, and a couple of lads round up individuals from the audience for quizzing. The Kyser henchmen provide song, rhythm, and comedy. If it is kept on this basis it is bound to please a greatly expanded audience.

The NBC Symphony series is to be continued under other hands after Toscanini departs on March 5. Carlos Chavez, Mexican conductor, will take over the broadcasts for a fortnight. Then Artur Rodzinski, Cleveland orchestra leader, will follow. Pierre Monteux of the San Francisco orchestra; Sir Adrian Boult of the BBC Symphony, London, and Bernard Molinari, Rome maestro, are to follow in succession.

There is a persistent story going around in radio circles that Charlie McCarthy is to have a little brother or sister. Edgar Bergen, according to gossip from Hollywood, was recently seen in his back yard cutting down a tree.

Quin Ryan's Highlights in Sport is to be aired over W-G-N under commercial sponsorship again starting Monday evening, March 7, at 8:52, immediately following reading of THE TRIBUNE. Joe Louis, Joe Triner, and Brick Owens are scheduled for interviews during the first week.

WIND has sold its baseball broadcasts to the same cereal maker that has been using WBBM for several years. Russ Hodges and Jimmy Dudley will give the play by play reports for the Cubs and White Sox games. Hodges will describe the home teams' plays and Dudley will take over the microphone for half of each inning while the visitors are performing.

SIDNEY MITCHELL, EX-CHICAGOAN, IS DEAD AT 62

New York, Feb. 26 [Saturday].—[Special.]—Sidney Mitchell, 62 years old, an industrialist, died early today at Flower hospital after a brief illness. He had lived at the Union League club and he had offices at 171 Madison avenue.

A native of Chicago, Mr. Mitchell was educated at the Armour Institute of Technology there. He started as a clerk with A. L. Dewar & Co. in 1895. He later became partner in a grain company and in 1907 president of the American Strawboard company, the United Boxboard and Paper company, and the Queen City Paper company. He subsequently was president of the United Paper Board company.

He was a member of the Metropolitan Museum of Art and belonged to the Union League, New York Yacht, Nantucket Yacht, and American Guernsey Cattle clubs.

Mr. Mitchell was unmarried. Surviving him are a brother, Leeds Mitchell, former president of the Chicago Stock exchange, and a sister, Mrs Helen Mitchell Todd, wife of James Todd.

DICE GIRL SUES CAFE AND CLUB UNDER DRAM ACT

Miss Anne Evans, 23 years old, 5011 Dorchester avenue, filed suit yesterday in the Superior court for $25,000 damages under the dramshop act from owners of the Hi-Hat night club, 871 Rush street, and Gibby's Ogden grill, 192 North Clark street.

Miss Evans, the bill stated, met Robert Schulze, 6824 Jeffery avenue, at Gibby's, where she worked as a dice girl. She said that after drinking there Schulze took her to the Hi-Hat for more drinks.

Driving home, Schulze's automobile struck a sand box on the outer drive at 50th street. Miss Evans was injured. Under the dramshop act she asks damages from the two cafés where, she alleges, Schulze became intoxicated.

500 Schoolmates at Rites for Basketball Captain

About 500 of his former schoolmates were among the mourners yesterday at funeral services for David [Dukie] Bernstein, 18 years old, captain of last year's championship basketball team at Manley High school. The youth, who was graduated last June, died in Mount Sinai hospital Wednesday from a heart ailment after an operation to correct a misplaced spinal vertebra. The funeral was in the chapel at 3654 Roosevelt road. Surviving are his parents, William and Mary Bernstein, and two brothers. The family home is at 1510 South Central Park avenue.

A. F. OF L. TO PUSH UNION DRIVE IN PACKING HOUSES

Representatives of fifteen American Federation of Labor unions, whose members are employed in the stockyards, have organized the Stockyards Trades council to wage an intensive unionization campaign in the packing houses, it was learned yesterday.

GERMAN LAWYER ON TRIAL IN THEFT OF NOBEL PRIZE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 25.—Ill and weak, Karl von Ossietzky, pacifist editor and Nobel peace prize winner for 1935, told a Berlin court today how his prize of $40,000 had dwindled to $6,600.

Ossietzky was testifying at the trial of Dr. Kurt Wannow, a lawyer, who is charged with fraud and embezzlement. After forty-five minutes in the witness box, Ossietzky's physician intervened and the hearing was adjourned until Wednesday.

Ossietzky told how he had been released, after three years in a Nazi concentration camp, in November, 1936, and soon afterwards learned that he had been awarded the Nobel peace prize. He gave Wannow power of attorney to obtain the prize money in Oslo, Norway. The money was transferred to Berlin. Last March it was found that only $6,600 remained. Wannow admitted he had made advances of money to friends.

1937 EARNINGS OF RADIO CORP. RISE SHARPLY

Profits Gain 46.6% Over 1936.

The Radio Corporation of America last year had an increase of 46.6 per cent in net profit and 11.3 per cent in gross income over 1936, the annual report issued by James G. Harbord, chairman, and David Sarnoff, president, showed yesterday. The company's earnings were the largest since 1929.

David Sarnoff.

Net profit for 1937 amounted to $9,024,858, equal after preferred dividend requirements to 42 cents a common share, compared with $6,155,937, or 21 cents a common share, in the preceding year. Total gross income last year was $112,639,498, against $101,186,310 in 1936.

December Quarter Earnings.

Indicated profit for the quarter ended Dec. 31, 1937, was $2,425,746, compared with $1,951,726 in the preceding quarter, and $3,308,554 in the fourth quarter of 1936. Indicated gross income in the December quarter totaled $29,192,075, against $30,279,802 in the preceding three months and $31,458,474 in the last three months of 1936.

"The year 1937," the report said, "showed increased profits in all branches of the corporation's business, due to the increase in business enjoyed by the nation in the first three-quarters of the year, and to further economy and efficiency in operations coupled with an effective promotional program."

A rise in the total cost of operations of 8.4 per cent to $97,217,722 reflected "the increased cost resulting from the larger volume of business, as well as higher wage rates paid to labor and increased taxes."

Federal Taxes Increase.

An increase in the provision for federal income taxes, the report said, from $1,137,100 in 1936 to $2,117,300 accounted "almost wholly" for the rise of $1,088,695 in deductions from net income for interest, depreciation, amortization of patents and good will, and federal income taxes. These deductions last year totaled $6,396,918. Total taxes paid or accrued for 1937 were $4,297,500, equal to 31 cents a common share. This did not include federal excise taxes on radio products sold and radio messages sent.

In November, 1937, the corporation paid a dividend of 20 cents a common share on the 13,853,415 shares outstanding—the first common dividend in the company's 18 year existence.

At the end of 1937, current assets amounted to $39,358,710 against current liabilities of $10,719,273, leaving working capital of $28,639,436. The ratio of current assets to current liabilities was increased from 3.3 to 1 at the end of 1936 to 3.7 to 1 at the end of 1937.

Progress in Television.

"Significant advances were made in 1937," the report said, "toward determining the fundamental standards for an American television system to meet the requirements of our nation, with a territory of 3,000,000 square miles and a population of 130,000,000 people. Our experiments with television in the last 18 months improved the system by increasing its capabilities and efficiency, thus enabling it to move closer to the inauguration of a television service for the American home."

The report also disclosed that the RCA Victor division had a 50 per cent increase in the sale of symphonic and operatic phonograph records and the same advance in the sale of combination radio and phonograph instruments during 1937.

The stock of the corporation, according to the report, is held by nearly a quarter of a million stockholders, no one of whom holds as much as ½ of 1 per cent of the outstanding issue. The annual stockholders' meeting will be held in the RCA building, New York, on April 5.

Federal Life Insurance Company Assets Increase

Assets of the Federal Life Insurance company totaled $16,421,076 at the end of 1937, an increase of $670,000 over the preceding year, according to the annual statement issued yesterday. Interest earned on invested assets increased ¾ of 1 per cent over 1936, the company reported.

Stocks Forge Ahead Despite Gloomy News

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 25.—Giving evidence of unsuspected buoyancy, the stock market pushed higher today in the face of an accumulation of unfavorable business developments. After absorbing opening offerings and meeting some opposition on the way up, the list closed the day with gains of fractions to around two points. Transactions totaled 987,970 shares, compared with 719,007 shares for the preceding session.

Among the developments that were said to have bearish implications were Thursday's surprise omission of Chrysler's dividend, the cutting of Anaconda's payment, the announcement of salary reductions by General Motors, the further sharp drop in railroad freight car loadings, and reduced profits reports from several corporations.

Hope for Rail Rate Boost.

Offsetting these items, in the opinion of observers, was the hope that a carrier freight rate increase would be announced shortly and that there might be some truth in the assumption that because the business line had "flattened out" the next curve would be upward, although it may not be indicative of a permanent recovery.

The market eased at the outset, with Chrysler leading the way with an opening break of 2¾ points. Its effect soon wore off, however, and prices moved higher, maintaining the forward trend until mid-afternoon, when some selling developed reputedly on the General Motors salary cut announcement. This was absorbed in fairly good style, however.

Chrysler regained part of its loss as the session progressed and closed at 55⅝ for a net loss of 1⅞ points. After being around 1 point lower, General Motors steadied ⅛ of a point below its previous final quotation. Yellow Truck closed unchanged.

U. S. Steel Makes Gain.

U. S. Steel common pushed into the plus column with a half point gain, closing at 56⅛ after being as low as 55⅛ and as high as 57¼. Other steels, including Bethlehem, Republic, and Youngstown, closed with similar fractional improvements.

Pivotal copper shares also closed fractionally higher, with Anaconda, International Nickel, and Kennecott showing the way.

Pointing higher in the morning, carrier shares picked up momentum until early afternoon, after which they held doggedly to some rather substantial gains.

Public utility issues showed only minor advances on the day. Oils were mostly higher. Aviation issues were mixed. Electric equipments scored minor gains. Carrier equipments attracted more attention.

STANDARD GAS FACTIONS JOIN MODIFIED PLAN

New York, Feb. 25.—[Special.]—After almost two years of wrangling over the reorganiaztion of the $900,000,000 Standard Gas and Electric company, the various protective committees engaged in formulating a plan to remove the utility from jurisdiction of the courts under section 77 B, today joined in concurring in a modified plan, which was presented to the United States District court in Wilmington, Del., by Bernard W. Lynch, president of the company.

Lynch explained that the company had withdrawn an option agreement, under which holders of the utility's 6 per cent notes and debentures aggregating $73,649,500 might accept new 4½ per cent debentures, plus certain stocks of the Philadelphia company, San Diego Consolidated Gas and Electric company, and Pacific Gas and Electric company [all subsidiaries of Standard Gas] in exchange for their present holdings.

The utility will also file with the Securities and Exchange commission as a registered holding company under the public utility holding company act of 1935, as soon as it is released from 77-B, Lynch announced.

RESERVE AREA SHOWS GENERAL DIP IN BUSINESS

Declines in industrial employment, automobile production, and department store business in the seventh reserve district during January as compared with January, 1937, were reported yesterday by the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago.

Industrial pay rolls declined 17½ per cent from the middle of December, bringing the aggregate wage payments at the middle of January 24 per cent below those of the 1937 period. Employment in the middle of January was 12½ per cent below the middle of December and 18 per cent lower than in January, 1937.

The bank said that no improvement was found in the January data on the distribution of new automobiles. Sales of both wholesale and retail distributors continued to decline, running far below the totals for a year ago, the bank said. One favorable development was a substantial increase in the sale of used cars.

Department store sales for January were 9.7 per cent under the total for January, 1937. In Chicago sales showed a decline of 10 per cent.

GOODRICH TIRE COMPANY SHOWS LOSS FOR 1937

Taxes, Inventories Reduce Profits.

The B. F. Goodrich company for the year 1937, yesterday reported net loss of $878,580 after provision for federal income and undistributed profits taxes, and a $5,652,935 write-down on raw materials and other inventories. This compared with net profit of $7,319,507 for 1936. The company manufactures auto tires and tubes, and other rubber products.

The Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation had a net loss of $1,773,591 in the quarter ended Dec. 31, 1937, but earnings in the first three quarters held 1937 profit above that for 1936, the company's annual report showed. The International Business Machines corporation showed a slight increase in profits for 1937 in spite of a drop in fourth quarter earnings.

Profit Larger for Year.

Ward's Automotive Reports, Inc., yesterday estimated that the week's output of automobiles at 56,677 units, against 59,100 last week, and 115,360 in the like week of 1937.

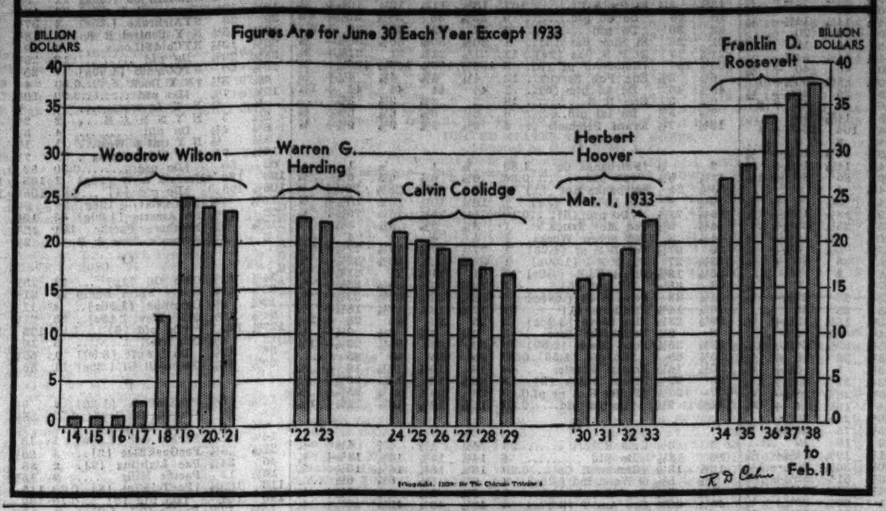

Despite the slightly reduced volume from a week ago Ward's believes that the automobile industry is on the verge of an upward movement of normal proportions. It said that reports of increased sales of both new and used cars are being received from most sections of the country.

Production of General Motors for this week was set at 21,950 units, against 21,637 in the preceding week, and 36,992 in the like 1936 week. Gen. Motors Cuts Salaries 10 to 30 Pct.

General Motors corporation yesterday announced reductions in the compensation of all salaried employés. The cuts amount to 10 per cent on the first $10,000 of salary received. Additional reductions of 20 per cent on salaries between $10,000 and $50,000 and 30 per cent on pay above $50,000 will be made. The reductions are effective March 1 and will reduce the corporation's annual pay roll by an estimated $7,500,000. About 40,000 workers are affected by the adjustments.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr.—cut $30,000 a year.

Because the reductions are based on a graduated scale the cuts will fall heaviest on executives in the top salary brackets. This plan was regarded as an effort to answer critics who have asserted that the wage earner usually bears the brunt of corporation economies.

Labor Earning Less.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of the board, in announcing the adjustments, pointed out that wage earners are now receiving less compensation as a result of the reduction in working hours.

The adjustments were made necessary, Sloan said, by the "drastic reductions in the volume of business now being experienced."

Salary lists made public by the ways and means committee of the house of representatives showed that 315 General Motors executives received compensation of $10,000 or more in 1936. A half dozen top executives were paid in excess of $200,000. The base salaries of these executives, however, are understood to be between $100,000 and $150,000 a year. The cuts will be applied on the base salaries rather than total compensation.

Sloan's Cut Is $30,000.

Under these rules, Sloan's basic salary of $150,000 would be cut $30,000 to $111,000. In 1936 he received an additional $400,000 under the company's bonus plan.

The Tidewater Associated Oil company yesterday announced pay increases of $5 to $10 a month for workers on the company's oil tankers and other vessels operating on the west coast. H. B. Haney, spokesman for the company, said 250 men will benefit from the increases which were made retroactive to Feb. 1.

Unlicensed personnel will receive $5 a month additional and junior officers will get $10 more. All workers will be given a month's vacation with pay.

FEES IN INSULL TRUST SUIT PUT UP TO REFEREE

Attorney Garfield Charles, a former referee in bankruptcy, yesterday was appointed by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson to act as special master in chancery to hear applications for fees and expenses in connection with the recent settlement between eleven Chicago and New York banks and creditors of Insull Utility Investments, Inc., and the Corporation Securities corporation.

Under the settlement the banks turned over to the trustees of the two former Insull investment trusts $4,635,000, which is to be paid note and debenture holders. The fees and expenses are to be deducted from the amount.

Charles is to report to Judge Wilkerson the amount of time spent and the character of work performed by the various attorneys, receivers, trustees, and committees in connection with the litigation and settlement Charles will not recommend the specific amounts to be paid.

SPEEDING OF ACTION ON LONG HAUL BILL PLEASES SHIPPERS

Chicago shippers were pleased by the action taken Thursday by Senator Burton K. Wheeler, chairman of the senate Interstate commerce committee, to expedite the hearing on the Pettengill bill for the repeal of the long and short haul law, James P. Haynes, executive vice president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, said yesterday. Haynes is chairman of the special committee of the National Industrial Traffic league that sponsored the bill.

"We are gratified to learn that Wheeler has indicated he will expedite the hearing," Haynes said, "giving proponents and opponents a reasonable time to be heard. We are glad to learn that he will not tolerate delay by the professional agitators who have lived off their agitation for 30 years. They have been attempting to have the bill killed before the senate has had an opportunity to vote on it. I am sure the senate will pass it by as large a majority as did the house."

Haynes said that repeal of the long and short haul law, which prevents a railroad from reducing rates for long hauls under those of shorter hauls, will benefit not only the middle west but the entire country.

FREIGHT TRAFIC DECLINES; COAL DROPS SHARPLY

Railroad freight car loadings during the week ended Feb. 19 totaled 535,790 cars, according to the report yesterday of the Association of American Railroads. This was a drop of 7,201 cars, or 1.3 per cent, from the preceding week's movement of freight, and also was 175,524 cars, or 24.7 per cent, below loadings in the corresponding week of 1937.

The decline from the week ended Feb. 12 was caused largely by a drop of 5,194 cars in loadings of coal. Miscellaneous freight shipments were off 2,127 cars, but other gains and losses were about evenly distributed. Ore shipments increased 1,024 cars.

Last week's freight movement was 50,697 cars, or 8.6 per cent, below the same week of 1936.

SHORT LINE RAILS ASK REPEAL OF LONG HAUL LAW

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—(AP)—J. M. Hood, spokesman for short line railroads, told a senate committee today that repeal of the "long and short haul" rate provision of the interstate commerce commission act would help preserve short line railroad service.

Hood said 323 short and independently operated railroads favored enactment of the Pettengill bill which would permit railroads to charge a lesser rate for long hauls than shorter hauls over the same routes.

Hood said the bill, which has twice passed the house, would increase revenues for all the short lines now operating 10,405 miles of main line serving some 12,000 communities.

Grain Board Violates Law, Says Cargill

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—(AP)—The commodity exchange administration disclosed today that Cargill, Inc., a Minneapolis grain company, had filed a complaint accusing the Chicago Board of Trade with violating the commodity exchange act.

The complaint grew out of actions taken by the board's business conduct committee in dealing with an alleged attempt to "corner" the corn market in September, 1937. An investigating committee of the board attributed the alleged attempt to three officials of the Cargill Grain company of Illinois, subsidiary of Cargill, Inc.

Price Manipulation Charged.

The commodity exchange administration said the grain company charged that the board "manipulated" prices of corn futures downward in violation of the commodity exchange act.

The Cargill company also charged that the board of trade violated the commodity exchange act in its regulation of trading in 1936 September grain futures contracts.

A hearing on the Cargill complaint is scheduled before the commodity exchange commission—composed of Secretary Wallace, Secretary Roper and Attorney General Cummings—April 18.

The Chicago board's complaint against the Cargill company officers, accusing them of violating the Chicago grain market regulations, will be heard in detail by the board's directors March 10.

REFUSE TO COMMENT.

Officials of the Board of Trade said last night that they would withhold comment on the complaint filed against the exchange by Cargill, Inc., until more details of the action were known. They expressed the opinion that the filing of the complaint would not interfere with the Board of Trade's hearing of charges against the Cargill interests scheduled to begin March 1.

MANUFACTURERS STATE PROGRAM FOR RECOVERY

Reduction of taxes, impartial labor legislation, and elimination of governmental attacks on business were set forth as "prime essentials" to economic recovery by representatives of the Midwest Manufacturers' associations, Inc., in a meeting at the Palmer house yesterday. The organization is composed of representatives of manufacturers' associations in Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Ohio, Indiana, Missouri, Iowa, Oklahoma, Nebraska, and Kansas.

"There is a widespread impression among manufacturing industries—large, medium, and small," the statement said, "that a hostile, punitive, and unsympathetic attitude is entertained by our federal administration toward private enterprise. Obviously, business cannot go forward with assurances and provide jobs under such conditions."

ARMOUR DELAYS DIVIDEND ACTION ON ALL STOCKS

Caused by Business Uncertainties.

Directors of Armour & Co. of Illinois yesterday decided to postpone indefinitly dividend action on the company's two classes of preferred stock and on the common stock because of unfavorable earnings and uncertainties in the outlook for business.

R. H. Cabell explains deferring of dividend.

Payments deferred were the $1.50 dividend on the $6 cumulative convertible no par prior preferred due April 1 and the $1.75 dividend also due April 1 on the 7 per cent $100 par cumulative preferred stock. A 15 cent dividend was paid on the common Dec. 15, 1937, and peyments of 20 cents a share were made in the two preceding quarters.

Vote Delaware Dividend.

Directors voted a regular dividend of $1.75 a share on the 7 per cent $100 par guaranteed preferred stock of Armour & Co. of Delaware. The payment will be made April 1 to stockholders of record March 10.

Robert H. Cabell, president of Armour of Illinois, said that directors believed "it is the part of prudence and wisdom" to defer dividend action on the Illinois company issues as a means of conserving the assets while business uncertainties prevail.

"The directors were necessarily influenced by the unprofitable operations during the first quarter of the fiscal year which began Nov. 1," he said. "Throughout this period commodity markets consistently declined and the business situation has been and continues to be uncertain."

Cabell Issued Warning.

A warning was given by Cabell Jan. 28, when he told stockholders at their annual meeting that declines in inventory at the close of the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, 1937, had extended into the first quarter of the present year.

At the same meeting F. H. Prince, chairman of the board, warned that the outlook for the present year "will require us to be conservative."

New York, Feb. 25.—[Special.]—Officers of Interstate Hosiery Mills, Inc., traded in the stock of the company to the extent of $1,084,486 during the period the company's books showed fictitious profits, Ambrose V. McCall, assistant attorney general in charge of the bureau of securities, disclosed today.

Robert R. Wilson, statistician of the bureau, said that brokerage accounts of company officers or their families showed that 17,853 shares were sold for $564,970 and 17,050 were purchased for $519,515, principally during December, 1935, and January, 1936.

McCall questioned Ivan Selig, president of the mills, and Harold Greenwald, treasurer, both of whom identified the several accounts they held in the names of their wives and children, admitting that they gave the buying and selling orders. Raymond Marien, the accountant accused of juggling the books, pleaded not guilty to a charge of forgery.

ALLEGHENY CORP. MAY LOSE RULE OF RAIL SYSTEM

Plan for Missouri Pacific Raises Conflict.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 25.—(AP)—The prospect that Alleghany corporation railroads now in reorganization might permanently slip from control of the group headed by Robert R. Young was brought into the open today by a conflict over the Missouri Pacific railroad.

William Wyer works for reorganization.

The Missouri Pacific is the last of the eight large carriers welded into the late Van Sweringen brothers' 30,000 mile rail network. Since 1933 it has been in reorganization under section 77 of the federal bankruptcy laws. Also, under the federal district courts' control are the Erie and the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroads.

For three years a Van Sweringen group, headed by William Wyer, secretary-treasurer of the Missouri Pacific, has been working on a reorganization plan.

Plan Submitted to Commission.

The plan has been submitted to the interstate commerce commission. If approved soon it would make the Missouri Pacific the first to come out of section 77.

Then Guy Thompson, trustee, refused to meet current expenses of the Cleveland group — which is pushing the reorganization plan, Wyer said today—and an appeal was sent to stockholders asking that they raise the money, estimated at about $25,000 a year. The appeal asked they contribute "not less than six cents per preferred share and two cents per common share."

"The reorganization plan does not mean that the Alleghany corporation would return to control," Wyer contended, and pointed to the brief, which says: "The indisputable fact is the plan will not vest any power of control in Alleghany. While the plan gives Alleghany a voice in selection of the operating management, its exercise of that voice is subject at all times to the absolute control of creditors"

Wheeler Attacks Plan.

Chairman Wheeler of the senate interstate commerce committee has attacked the reorganization proposal, contending it would continue the Alleghany corporation in control.

Railroad observers held that Chesapeake and Ohio's control of the C. & E. I. would be decreased on emergence from section 77 if recent recommendation of an I. C. C. examiner is carried out. C. & O. is controled by Alleghany, and is the biggest money maker of the Alleghany roads.

Were the recommendation followed, C. & O.'s holdings of $13,126,000 of C. & E. I.'s common stock would be erased and C. & O.'s holdings of $6,-[illegible],000 preferred would be replaced by an equal amount of common stock.

Business Bits

Harry Hollingshead, president of the Chicago Automobile Trade association, yesterday announced the appointment of Frank Shapiro as executive secretary of the association. Shapiro, who for a few years has managed an association of Ford dealers, will assume his new duties next Tuesday. He will fill the office made vacant a few weeks ago by the death of C. Faeh in an automobile collision with a street car. Faeh also was manager of the annual Chicago automobile show. Hollingshead said that another man for this job will be named soon by the directors of the trade association.

Robert Ebbitts, Chicago district trafic manager of Eastern Airlines, has been elected president of the Chicago Airlines Ticket Office, Inc., operators of the joint air line ticket offices at the Chicago airport, it was announced yesterday. He succeeds John C. Graves, regional trafic manager of Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., who has headed the organization for the last year.

Dr. Glenn Frank, editor of Rural Progress magazine and former president of the University of Wisconsin, will speak at the 90th birthday dinner of the Chicago Board of Trade on April 3.

R. O. Cromwell, Chicago crop statistician, will discuss the Argentine grain situation at a meeting next Tuesday of the Grain Market Analysts' club. He will illustrate his address with motion pictures made during his recent two months' visit to Argentina.

James L. Donnelly, executive vice president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, will speak before the Junior Association of Commerce following a luncheon next Monday noon at the Hotel Sherman.

All officers of the Illinois Dairy Products association were reëlected yesterday at the fifth annual convention in Springfield. They are A. R. Buehring, De Kalb, president; Charles H. Snow, Bloomington, executive secretary, and M. G. Van Buskirk, treasurer.

Richard D. Nugent, 28 years old, was elected president of the Round Oak company, Dowagiac, Mich., at a meeting of the board of directors yesterday. Nugent succeeded Harry Howard of Grand Rapids, Mich., who was named chairman of the board. The company makes stoves, warm air furnaces, and oil burners.

RAILWAY HOLDING COMPANY TO SELL C. & O. PREFERRED

Considers Purchase of More Common.

New York, Feb. 25.—(AP)—Directors of the Chesapeake corporation, intermediate holding company in the old Van Sweringen railroad system, have authorized the sale of 60,490 shares of Chesapeake and Ohio railway preferred stock, series A, which the corporation received in 1936 as a dividend, it was learned today.

The sale of this stock will be arranged privately and will probably be offered to eastern institutions. It was expected that the sale would bring $5,000,000 to $6,000,000. Chesapeake directors, it was reported, are considering investing the proceeds in Chesapeake and Ohio common stock at the present market levels.

May Eliminate Surplus.

As a move apparently designed to facilitate the absorption of Chesapeake corporation, by Alleghany corporation, the top holding company in the system, Chesapeake directors were believed in financial quarters to be considering the elimination of the corporation's earned surplus, now around $7,000,000. If carried out, this would probably be done with a dividend in C. & O. common stock.

At present market prices this would require about 200,000 common shares of C. & O., paid out on the basis of 1-9 of a share of railway common for each share of Chesapeake corporation.

Alleghany Owns 70 Per Cent.

With Alleghany corporation owning more than 70 per cent of Chesapeake corporation, comparatively little C. & O. stock would be lost to minority stockholders by such a disbursement, it was pointed out.

The elimination of the earned surplus would simplify the capital structure of Chesapeake corporation, either for its eventual dissolution or merger with Alleghany, Wall street interests said.

BUTTER FUTURES RALLY FROM LOW MARK SINCE 1934

Butter futures, after falling ⅛ to ⅝ cent a pound yesterday to new low prices since 1934, rallied under dealer buying to close unchanged from Thursday's closing quotations. At the day's lows, March contracts were down 1⅞ cents from the week's high, and 6⅛ cents below the season's best mark, and February contracts were similarly lower. February closed at 26⅝ cents, March at 26⅛, and November at 28½.

Agents of the Federal Surplus Commodity corporation bought an additional 72,400 pounds of "extras" in the cash butter market yesterday. All of it was purchased at 29½ cents, except for 3,100 pounds offered and bought at 29¼ cents.

Egg futures also rallied after early losses ranging up to ½ cent a dozen, and finished unchanged to ⅛ cent lower. October refrigerators and February fresh graded firsts were off ⅛ cent at 20⅜ and 16¾, respectively, and March was unchanged at 18⅞ cents. Cash prices, however, dropped ⅛ to ¾ cent a dozen.

Value of Dollar Declines; Europeans Shift Capital

The American dollar declined in value on exchange transactions yesterday, reversing the trend of the preceding day and indicating a continued outflow of short term capital from this country. The British pound rose ⅝ cent to $5.02¼, and the French franc closed 0.01625 cent higher at 3.27 cents.

Grumann Aircraft Makes Only Bid on Plane Contract

Dayton, O., Feb. 25.—[Special.]—The Grumann Aircraft corporation was the sole bidder at Wright field on short-range amphibian airplanes bidding—with government engines furnished—$152,245 for a single plane and $55,940 each for lots of 50 planes. The bid was forwarded to Washington for final consideration.

Everyday Economics

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

Grain Standardization.

With development of the futures trade came the necessity for grain standardization. No longer was it always possible for the trader to go to the wagons or boat and sample grain, then make his offer; in futures trading he often purchased grain long before it reached the market. Naturally he demanded to know just what kind of grain he was buying.

But old habits are hard to break. For almost six years after organization of the Board of Trade in 1848 its members clung to the old system of buying and selling grain only by the measured bushel, despite the tedious labor involved in such measurement. Continuation of such a system became impossible, however, as trades jumped from hundreds to thousands and tens of thousands of bushels.

In 1854 the board abandoned the old method and adopted a new system of trading in grain by weight. Member traders agreed that sixty pounds of wheat should constitute a bushel, as should thirty-two pounds of oats. For years the question of whether the standard bushel of corn should weigh fifty-six or sixty pounds was a cause of dispute.

Board officials created a weighing department in 1857 whose inspectors were commissioned to grade all grain in conformity with prepared standards. Five grades of wheat were established at the time. Two years later the state legislature conferred a new charter upon the Board of Trade, empowering it "to appoint inspectors, weighers, measurers, and gaugers whose brands or certificates should be evidences between buyers and sellers employing them or assenting to their employment, as to the quality or quantity of the grain so inspected, weighed and measured."

But even yet veteran traders like to test grain by an old time method —biting the grain—the same as the farmer does.

Tomorrow: Federal Trade Commission.

WHEAT FIRMER ON REVIVAL OF EXPORT DEMAND

Part of Sharp Early Rise Is Canceled Later.

CHICAGO GRAIN FUTURES

Closing prices on the May delivery of principal grains on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday:

	Yesterday.	Thursday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$0.94½	$0.93¾	$1.31½
Corn	.59⅝	.59⅝	1.07⅛
Oats	.31⅝	.31⅝	.46⅝
Rye	.75⅝	.75⅝	1.05⅝
Soy beans	1.05	1.05¼	1.52

Reports of a marked revival in the European demand for American cash wheat, with sales estimated as high as 1,000,000 bushels, and relative strength in the Liverpool market resulted in a rush to buy futures during the early trading yesterday. Prices were lifted about 1½ cents a bushel over Thursday's close, the May delivery touching 95¼ cents, a new high since Feb. 10.

Activity, however, was short lived and profit taking caused a reaction of about 1 cent from the best prices. Closing trades were at net gains of ¼ to ½ cent a bushel.

Early Activity Subsides.

A large part of yesterday's business in wheat futures occurred during the first hour of trading, and from then on the market was a small affair. The Liverpool market closed ⅝ to ⅞ cent a bushel higher, with a better milling demand having considerable influence. The large purchases of Australian and other cash wheat for shipment to Vladivostock and Spain, however, failed to have much effect on sentiment.

Further moisture was received yesterday in the Texas panhandle, but there was no precipitation of consequence in other sections of the winter wheat belt.

A department of agriculture report said the condition of winter wheat in Illinois is above average for this time of the year.

Export sales of corn estimated at 600,000 bushels failed to have any lasting effect on that market, prices holding within narrow limits and closing unchanged to ⅛ cent higher. Private reports estimating the exportable surplus from the new Argentine crop at 95,000,000 bushels, the smallest in a number of years, were ignored as a market influence. Little change was shown in prices of oats, rye, or soy bean futures.

TRUCKS HAUL 48% OF LIVE STOCK TO MAIN MARKETS

Carry 33 Million Head During 1937.

More than 33,000,000 head of live stock, or more than 48 per cent of the cattle, hogs, and sheep marketed in this country during 1937 were transported from farms to markets by motor trucks, the Corn Belt Farm Dailies said yesterday. Had the railroads handled this business they would have used 643,000 stock cars to carry the nearly 6,000,000 tons of live stock, the papers said.

"The hauls are not confined to short distances," the report said. "The highways of more than one state may be traversed with some shipments, and runs up to 800 miles are made occasionally. The average length of hauls approximates 135 miles. An estimated 2,250,000 truck loads arrived at the markets during the year, some markets receiving over 2,000 trucks in a twenty-four hour period."

Figures for Five Years.

Live stock truck receipts at sixty-nine markets and the percentage of total receipts handled by trucks over a five year period follow:

	Head trucked.	Pct. of total receipts
1937	33,767,400	48.2
1936	36,046,791	48.9
1935	29,823,679	44.6
1934	36,014,507	41.0
1933	36,359,491	42.5

Live stock trucked to markets on which figures are available comprise only a part of the total conveyed by trucks. At interior packing plants practically all receipts are trucked in and no record of these is available, nor of the number transported from farm to rail-siding. The bulk of all live stock slaughtered rides all or part of the way by truck.

Trucked from Ranges.

"Movement of young or thin stock from the range countries and surplus producing areas to corn belt farms for further fattening and to replenish feeding lots is usually made by truck," the article said. "The terminal markets also provide millions of head of feeder stock that go back to farm feed lots in trucks.

"Convenience, economy, and speed of motor truck, coupled with good roads and the opportunity to take advantage of favorable price swings at the markets, contribute to the popular use of truck transportation. Present day marketing is in sharp contrast with that earlier period when overland droves of stock on the hoof took weeks to reach market."

Investors' Guide: A large part of my income last year was money paid to me by an insurance company on a health insurance policy I hold. Must I pay income tax on this money?—H. J.

Answer: Amounts received through accident or health insurance are not included in gross income for income tax purposes.

Argentine 5½s of '62.

Investors' Guide: I hold an Argentine government external 5½ per cent bond due Aug. 1, 1962. When I tried to collect interest recently I was told that the bond had been redeemed. Is this true? If so, where can I get my money?—L. T.

Answer: The Argentine external 5½s of 1962 were called for redemption Aug. 1, 1937, at 100 plus the Aug. 1 coupon. You may collect on your bond at the Chase National bank or the City Bank Farmers' Trust company, both of New York. Probably your local bank will collect for you.

National Dairy 3¾s of '51.

Investors' Guide: I understand that the National Dairy Products corporation has redeemed part of its 3¾ per cent debentures due May 1, 1951. I still have my bond and I was never told whether my bond was one of those called. How can I find out?—J. F.

Answer: The National Dairy Products corporation called for redemption on Nov. 1, 1937, $938,000 of its 3¾ per cent debentures due May 1, 1951. The call price was 100¼ plus the Nov. 1, 1937, coupon. Payment was made at Goldman, Sachs & Co., New York. If you care to send us the number of your bond we shall be glad to find out whether your bond was called.

FCC REPORT ON AM. TELEPHONE TO BE WITHHELD

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—(AP)—Chairman Frank R. McNinch of the federal communications commission said today that Commissioner Paul A. Walker had completed drafting his report in the American Telephone and Telegraph company investigation and had submitted it to the full commission.

McNinch said he had not yet read the report. Walker declined to comment on its contents. McNinch asserted there was "not a chance" of the report being made public in the immediate future, explaining that the commission now is devoting its full time to hearing an application by the major telegraph companies for a 15 per cent rate increase.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Few price changes occurred in the markets for cattle and lambs yesterday, but hogs were cut mostly 10 cents after a steady opening when weakness was reported in fresh pork.

Offerings of hogs were light, but packers are encountering more resistance in wholesale pork channels to recently advanced quotations, and there was little demand for the small supply of hogs available. The average was down 10 cents to $8.65.

Slaughter lambs sold actively at the recent advances, with top loads to packers at $8.60. Most cattle also showed the week's full upturn. Steers comprised a larger share than usual of the Friday receipts, but sold quickly at prices fully steady with Thursday. The best load on the market brought $9.25.

[All prices are in dollars per 100 pounds.]
